Adlai Calls Draft Waste Of Manpower

Says Era Of Shaky Peace "Based On A Balance Of Terror"

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Oct. 18 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson tonight called the present draft system "an incredible waste" of manpower and money.

He said a better way must be found to preserve the nation's military strength in what he called an era of shaky peace "based on a balance of terror."

In the prepared windup speech of a two-day whistle stop tour of Michigan and Ohio, the Democratic presidential nominee also declared the Republicans "twist and distort" any new idea for strengthening the country.

"They seem to despise new ideas," Stevenson said, elaborating on a theme he developed all across Ohio in company with Gov. Frank J. Lausche who is trying to unseat Republican George Bender, and Mike DiSalle the Democratic candidate for governor.

Follows Other Speeches

Stevenson's Youngstown speech followed briefer addresses along the way in which he:

1. Said in Elyria, Ohio, that "greedy and frightened" Republicans of advanced age are willing t "cripple the younger generation to cut taxes." He blamed the GOP—which had blamed the Democrats—for the failure of Congress to approve federal aid to schools.

2. Contended at Toledo, speaking in front of a statue of William McKinley, that the Republicans are trying to set the block back to the beginning-of-the-century era of McKinley. He said the opposition party is bogged down in "creeping complacency."

Stevenson took sharp issue with President Eisenhower and other Republicans who have opposed his suggestions that a way should be sought to end the draft in the not too distant future and that efforts should be made to stop hydrogen bomb tests through international agreement.

Denying Republican claims that his draft proposal would weaken the nation's military strength, he said, "It is a proposal for strengthening our armed forces." And he went on to say, "We need more and more today a type of military personnel—experienced and professional—which our present draft system does not give us. The draft means a tremendous turnover in our military personnel and a resultant high proportion of inexperienced personnel. And there is ample evidence that this inexperienced personnel is not meeting today's needs."

Establishes Turnover

Stevenson said that the testimony of top military leaders including Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force chief of staff, establishes that the present turnover in military personnel is harmful to armed forces efficiency and that incentive must be provided to keep men in the service on a volunteer basis.

He proposed one such incentive: "university scholarships which will provide specialized training in conjunction with a liberal education to applicants otherwise qualified who will agree to spend a specific period in the armed forces."

Blast Levels Five Houses, 13 Injured

HERRIN, Ill., Oct. 18 (AP)—Thirteen persons were reported injured here late today in an explosion at a bottled gas depot which flattened five nearby homes.

No deaths were reported.

"I heard about five distinct explosions," Mayor Dave H. Miller said. "Anyone of them would have been enough to blow up a house. It threw gas all over those houses."

The injured, taken to Herrin Hospital, all were reported in serious or critical condition.

Herrin Fire Chief Carl Mayers said an employe of the depot was filling bottled gas tanks at the depot when, apparently, a leak developed. The explosion followed.

Mayor Miller said there were "five or six" tanks at the depot "and I don't think there's anything left of it."

He said a woman and three children were found lying on the ground where their home had been "blown over them."

The explosion occurred in the western part of this southern Illinois town of 10,000 residents.

Miller said flames from the explosion were brought under control by fire departments from surrounding towns.

A doctor at Herrin Hospital, one of many called to care for the injured, said the situation in emergency rooms was "horrible."

"There are a lot of them we won't be able to do anything for," he said.

The hospital said it was treating 13 persons for serious burns and other critical injuries. Hospital officials released the names of the injured, but did not give their ages or otherwise identify them. The names:

Fred Kerley, Elizabeth Kerley, Carl Kerley, Sharon Jarvis, Susan Jarvis, Charlotte Jarvis, Robert Lee Keller, Imajean Keller, Gladys McGee, Oscar Williams, Violette Williams, Randy Williams, Gladys Williams.

State police were rushing blood plasma and glucose to the Herrin Hospital from St. Louis and neighboring towns.

Probe Election Gifts To GOP

Contributions Hike After Big Contract Is Awarded Concern

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Democratic House investigators said today the officials of a construction company, after getting a big government contract, boosted their 1954 contributions to the Republican party approximately 1,000 per cent over previous years.

This figure was presented to a Government Operations subcommittee on the basis of records of the clerk of the House and affidavits submitted by seven officials of the Frederick Snare Corp.

The construction firm on July, 27, 1954, was awarded, along with Merritt-Chapman & Scott, a 43-million-dollar contract for expansion of the government's nickel plant at Nicaro, Cuba. Each company received $500,000 under the cost-plus-fee contract.

Testifies Of "Pressure"

The data on the political contributions went into the subcommittee hearing record after Randall Cremer, a former Snare vice president, told of what he called "terrible" political pressure in the scramble for the nickel contract. He said the political activity included Democrats as well as Republicans.

In discussing the stepped-up campaign gifts, Cremer said it was not felt that they were a "condition" of the award.

He said he could remember no feeling of obligation on the part of company officials to make the contributions, although he said he personally felt "morally committed" as the result of talks with Leonard Hall, Republican National Committee chairman.

House records showed the seven officials contributed a total of $7,500 to the Republican congressional committee in 1954. Their contributions in the previous seven general elections averaged $636 a year, according to the records.

Cremer said the increase was simply due to "the fact that it did look important to all of us to elect a Republican Congress to back up the President and they seemed to need funds."

But, referring to the nickel award, he said, "There was more politics in this affair than anything I want to see again."

Hall Was Outspoken

Six members of the Senate Appropriations Committee including three Democrats, Cremer said, were responsible for Merritt-Chapman getting half the contract. He said Snare should have had it all.

Cremer told the subcommittee that in the final weeks of negotiations Hall was "outspoken" in favor of awarding the whole contract to Snare and against splitting between Snare and Merritt-Chapman as was finally done.

Asked if he was saying that the final award was made contrary to Hall's wishes, Cremer replied, "I believe that is the case."

In two previous contracts that Snare got for Nicaro plant work, during Democratic administrations, Cremer said, there was no political pressure.

"No one asked whether we were Republicans or Democrats," he said.

Cremer said he himself was a lifelong Republican.

Cremer's sworn testimony got under way amid cries of "politics" by both Democrats and Republicans.

The three Republican members of the eight-man subcommittee did not show up. They telegraphed Chairman Jack Brooks (D-Tex) that it smacked of politics to reopen the inquiry—first started last January—so close to election day.

Brooks said the delay stemmed from the Justice Department's "withholding" of documents from Cremer's private files for nine months despite committee requests to have them.

Poland Wants Independence From Soviet

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 18 (AP)—Poland's Communist Central Committee was reported today to be preparing a demand that this country's relations with the Soviet Union be placed on a basis of full independence.

The United Workers—Communist—party Central Committee, meets in Warsaw tomorrow. The decisions it takes could have historic meaning for the future of the whole East European Communist bloc.

There are widespread reports that the Soviet and the Chinese Communist parties, sending the Polish committee letters of "fraternal greeting," are urging the Poles not to go too far in seeking "new ways to socialism." Some influential members of the Polish party committee are believed opposing a move toward a position like that of President Tito's Yugoslav party, but no one here expects their views to prevail.

The reins at the moment seem to be in the hands of those who favor a Polish position like Tito's with regard to Moscow—good relations but independence of action.

Anti-Russian feeling in Poland and an obvious need for a gigantic rescue operation to save this country's sagging economy seem to dictate the line the Central Committee will take. Thus, responsible sources say, a resolution will be drawn up closely following the line of the Belgrade declaration in which the Soviet and Yugoslav parties renewed contacts on the basis of independence.

One of the first items on the committee's agenda is the restoration to the Politburo of Wladislaw Gomulka, who spent several years in jail as a Titoist during the Stalin regime. His election the post of party secretary—party boss—now held by Edward Ochab, probably will await a full party Congress next March.

Another important item will be consideration of a new farm policy which likely will reverse the process of Soviet-style collectivization.

Goering Cars Will Be Sold

ABERDEEN, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Two of Herman Goering's wartime cars, including a convertible with a bullet-resistant top, will be sold to the highest bidder Oct. 25.

The German - made Mercedes Benz automobiles of the late Nazi official will be sold along with a covey of other vehicles captured or purchased by the army and now ruled obsolete.

In addition to trucks, cars, motorcycles and other items, you can get, should you be in the market, "three trunnion axles for 60 ton trailer T-63."

But the ex-Luftwaffe chief's former personal cars are expected to attract the most interest, along with a German Mercedes Benz military staff car.

Goering's ex-touring car, a massive, 7-passenger bullet-resistant job with 1¼-inch thick window glass was "liberated" in 1945 by a squad of American GI's in Germany.

It was shipped to the army's proving ground here for engineering appraisals and tests, along with his other car, a sports model.

The touring car was sent to the United States from the Butzbach Ordnance Depot in Germany and for a time toured the Savings Bond rally circuit.

Secret Service Agent Robbed

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 18 (AP)—Two members of President Eisenhower's campaign tour party, including a Secret Service agent, were victims of a hotel prowler here last night.

Floyd Boriod, the Secret Service agent, told police a thief apparently entered his hotel room while he was taking a shower and stole his billfold with $380 in it.

M. Sgt. Phillip Tarbell, a member of the Army Signal Corps attached to the White House, reported the loss of a watch and $48.

Street Renamed

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 18 (AP)—A street in the Hungarian town of Gomba, bearing the name of the recently ousted Hungarian Communist party boss, Matyas Rakosi, has been renamed for one of his victims, Laszlo Rajk, executed in 1949, the newspaper Nepszava reported today.

Firm Accused In Stock Swindle

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—A New York-Colorado firm was ousted as a security dealer in New York today for allegedly swindling investors of more than $2,300,000 in the sale of uranium stocks.

State Atty. Gen Jacob J. Javits said he has turned his information over to authorities for possible criminal prosecution of the Texas Adams Oil Co. of New York and Denver.

East German Factories Hit By Slowdowns

BERLIN, Oct. 18 (AP)—Communist East Germany's secret police have been ordered to quell slowdown strikes that are gripping key factories, Western sources reported today.

The League of Free Jurists—a West Berlin anti-Communist organization with numerous contacts in the East—said the secret police have been sent into factories in Magdeburg, a tense center of labor unrest. Der Tag, an independent West Berlin newspaper, said 2,000 police have been rushed into Magdeburg from East Berlin.

The newspaper said the strikes have spread to factories in Erfurt and Karl Marx City—formerly Chemnitz. The newspaper and the Free Jurists said the strikes resulted from long-standing grievances about low pay and high work quotas. These were the same issues which sparked the East German workers rebellion of June 17, 1953.

The Communists themselves have acknowledged that Magdeburg has labor unrest, but have denied strikes are taking place.

The acknowledgement was made Tuesday, in the official labor newspaper Tribuene. It said workers at four Magdeburg factories were angry about low pay and excessive work quotas. A Communist party spokesman in Magdeburg—reached by telephone today—denied the strike reports. He termed them a "dirty lie."

The East German radio also denied the strike reports.

"They were invented from A to Z," a broadcast said, insisting that production is normal.

The Free Jurists said five big Magdeburg factories have been affected by the strikes. Two were formerly owned by the giant Krupp firm. One of the ex-Krupp plants—now called the Thaelmann works, after an East German Communist leader—has been solidly ringed by police, the Free Jurists reported.

"The Thaelmann works has been completely cut off from the outside world," the Free Jurists said. "Production is at a virtual standstill. In the other big factories the picture is not uniform. In Karl Marx factory, for example, there are still individual divisions that are working."

However, the Free Jurists said, secret police have been sent into all the factories, and Communist functionaires are trying to negotiate agreements with the workers.

"It is generally expected," the Free Jurists said, "that the crisis will come to a head during the weekend."

Named Secretary

LONDON, Friday, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Foreign Office announced today the appointment of Sir Frederick Hoyer Millar, present ambassador to West Germany, as permanent undersecretary of state and head of the Foreign Office.

Millar will be succeeded at Bonn by Sir Christopher Steel, now permanent representative to the North Atlantic Council.

Man Bewildered As House Gets New Paint Coat

BOSTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Patrick Walsh is bewildered but not complaining.

Somebody's painting his house for free.

Walsh told police: Yesterday eight men appeared and began painting the outside of his house.

Walsh protested, but the men said they had their instructions.

Today nine men showed up, saying they had to complete the job today, that they had a contract and payment was in a Boston bank, waiting for the job to be finished.

Police said there was nothing they could do.

Plane Crash Kills Three

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Navy reported today that three men were killed and five were injured in the crash of one of seven planes flying to the antarctic from New Zealand.

Six other planes carrying advance units to McMurdo Sound for a scientific operation landed safely, the Navy said. The seventh crashed on the antarctic ice shelf.

A dispatch from New Zealand reported that a white-out blizzard, one of the antarctic's worst features, led to indefinite postponement of a third flight of planes over the 2,250-mile route.

Rear Adm. George Dufek, commander of Operation Deepfreeze, flew to McMurdo Sound yesterday. He sent back this message today: "Visibility zero. Total white-out blizzard covering runway and walking area. Do not send any planes until further word."

Reports from New Zealand said six of the planes in today's flight barely reached the airstrip before communications almost blanked out.

The Navy aircraft now operating in the antarctic area were attached to Air Development Suadron 6, based at Quonset Point, R. I.

The seven aircraft making the first flight from New Zealand to Antarctica are among a total of 38 planes deployed for the expedition.

Mitchell Critical Of Stevenson

QUINCY, Mass., Oct. 18 (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell described Adlai Stevenson tonight as "a professorial ex-governor who has never once in his life been called upon to make a decision of profound international importance."

Mitchell, in a speech prepared for a Norfolk County Republican dinner, sharply criticized the Democratic presidential candidate for his proposals to end H-bomb tests.

French Say Rebel Arms From Egypt

ORAN, Algeria, Oct. 18 (AP)—French authorities fighting the nationalist rebels charged today that two million dollars worth of arms they captured on the yacht Athos was loaded at Alexandria by Egyptian army volunteers.

One official said the seizure showed clearly the support Egypt is giving the rebels.

The mysterious 400-ton vessel was taken by a French sloop off Oran. The French began unloading 70 tons of arms, including 1,000 rifles—some of them, they said, made in Britain—plus new British Bren guns, 500 late model Italian machine pistols, 50 Canadian mortars and 1,000 cases of grenades and ammunition. There are also some German light machine guns, and Dutch and Belgian weapons, the French said.

According to the French, the Athos was built in Britain as a pleasure yacht, gaily painted white and yellow, and formerly known as the "Saint-Briavels." It was commanded, they said, by an Italian armed with both Greek and Costa Rican passports. There were Moslems among the crew.

In Paris, Robert Lacoste, French minister in charge of Algeria, told the National Assembly today violence in the North African territory is declining after nearly two years of revolt against the French.

French headquarters at Algiers today reported 10 rebels killed in eastern Algeria, 11 arrested in the capital, a rebel ambush in the Kabylie region just to the east.

Ike Cracks At Stand Of Stevenson

Road To Surrender Paved With Good Intentions He Says

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower, cracking hard again at Adlai Stevenson's stand on the military draft and the hydrogen bomb, said tonight, "The road to surrender is paved with good intentions."

As is his custom, Eisenhower again refrained from mentioning his Democratic foe by name.

But in his speech prepared for delivery at the Civic Auditorium—and on ABC radio and television nationwide—the President left no doubt about whom he was talking.

"I have not promised you—nor do I ever intend to—that the way to defend peace or freedom is to abandon simultaneously our military draft and our testing of our most advanced military weapons," Eisenhower said.

Candidates Differ

"For I know—and I believe all Americans know — that, without strength in this world of today, the road to surrender is paved with good intentions."

It is on both these issues that Stevenson has differed considerably from the administration's stand.

Stevenson has said thought should be given to ending the military draft "in the foreseeable future." And he has said that he thinks the testing of the H-bombs should be halted.

Eisenhower's statement tonight was his first mention of the H-bomb issue since his decision yesterday to have a full history of the superbomb drawn up to answer Stevenson's charges.

The President made two speeches in the Civic Auditorium here today, and in some ways the one he made off the cuff, to a cheering crowd of 4,700 this afternoon, had more fire and brimstone in it than the speech over which he had labored.

Plugs GOP Victory

For this afternoon he plugged hard for a GOP victory, telling the workers that "the choice is one between hard sense and experience versus pie - in - the - sky promises and wishful thinking."

Tonight, after discussing the Stevenson draft-bomb ideas he turned to a subject dear to the great Northwest—conservation.

And he had a two-word description for Democratic charges that the GOP administration has had a "giveaway" program on natural resources.

A "frivolous charge" the President said.

Eisenhower then listed three areas in which he thinks his administration has made great progress:

Conservation and reclamation, national parks and wildlife, and water resources.

Sales Earnings Up

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Net sales and earnings of the General Foods Corp. for the six months ended Sept. 30 were the best ever, the company reported today.

Sales were $468,593,496 during the period, compared with $440,555,441 a year earlier, while earnings were $23,429,942, equal to $1.99 a share. In the 1955 period, earnings were $20,817,591, or $1.76 a common share.

German, 2 U. S. Doctors Get Nobel Medicine Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 18 (AP)—A German doctor who probed his own heart will share this year's Nobel prize for medicine with two U.S. doctors who developed his idea into a new method of diagnosing heart diseases. The award was announced today.

The German is 52-year-old Dr. Werner Forssmann. In 1929 he introduced a catheter, a slender plastic tubular probe, into his left forearm, and passed its 26-inch length through a blood vessel until it had entered the right side of his heart.

The U. S. doctors are French-born Andre F. Cournand, 61, and Dickinson W. Richards Jr., 60, both of Columbia University, New York.

They were recognized for their part in developing the technique of "heart catheterization" to measure pressure and flow in various parts of the heart and blood vessels, and to inject contrasting chemicals to see heart defects on an X-ray screen.

The three doctors share a $38,633 prize provided in the will of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite. The 47th prize in medicine was voted by 39 professors of Stockholm's Caroline Institute.

The awards will be presented here Dec. 10, along with a literary prize and prizes in physics and chemistry to be announced later.

The award in medicine was made in a year when diseases of the heart have come to public attention with perhaps greater force than ever before. The basic knowledge gained by the pioneering of the three doctors greatly helped to advance the fight against these diseases.

It was shortly after Forssmann had taken his doctor's degree in Berlin and when he was only 25 that he made his first dramatic test in Eberswalde Hospital.

In the bold experiment he introduced a urethral catheter into the vein of his arm until it reached into his heart. He then walked upstairs from the operating theater to the X-ray room where he checked the position of the catheter with the aid of a mirror. He made an X-ray photograph to document his test.

Russian Surgeon Performs Delicate Heart Operation

MOSCOW, Oct. 18 (AP)—A delicate heart operation in which two major arteries were joined without stitches was performed today by a noted Russian surgeon while a group of doctors from California watched.

A ring made of tantalum metal with a diameter about the size of a cigarette was substituted for the usual sutures to bind a small graft from the artery bank, joining the arteries. Dr. Alexander Vishnevsky, a Red army surgeon who introduced the ring idea, performed the surgery. He said it is quicker and more efficient than sutures.

As far as is known here, this procedure is the first stitchless surgery on major blood vessels, where blood pressure always presents a leakage problem.

In this case, Dr. Vishnevsky, operating at the Moscow Institute of Surgery, joined the pulmonary artery with the subclavian artery at a site very close to the heart. The pulmonary was slit and the flaps of the incision turned inside out for a little way. Then a slit was made in the subclavian and it also was turned inside out.

The two inside surfaces were brought together and covered with a small graft from the artery bank which served as a sleeve covering the joint. Tantalum rings over each end of the graft closed the joint tightly and also kept the inside of the artery wide open to facilitate the blood flow and reduce the chances of clotting and other possible complications.

Canal Users To Appoint Danish Head

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Suez Canal Users' Assn. tonight was reported about to appoint a Danish consular official to head its drive for international control of the canal.

The Danish state radio said E. Bartell, Denmark's consul general in New York, is the possible choice.

Four of five countries of the 15-nation SCUA council now meeting in London still must approve the appointment.

Previously several Scandinavian and Dutch maritime experts declined the post.

The SCUA council, diplomatic informants said, soon will consider plans for a major squeeze on Egypt's wobbly economy. They said the United States informally has advised London and Paris it is ready to ask American ships to withhold Suez tolls from Egypt and pay them instead to SCUA—but only when British and French ships begin to do so.

The U.S. administration is anxious to avoid giving Egypt any chance to discriminate against American ships, it is understood here.

Informants said the United States also has undertaken to persuade American shipping firms whose vessels are registered under foreign flags to pay their tolls to SCUA. The government reportedly has reason to believe here that the bigger companies, especially big oil firms, are ready to do so.

Joint action has been held up by France. The Paris government is under strong pressure to order French ships to continue paying their tolls to the old Suez Canal Co.

British officials said, however, that almost all the 15 countries in SCUA have indicated informally they intend—as soon as they can make the necessary arrangements—to withhold their Suez dues from Egypt and pay them instead to SCUA, pending final settlement with Egypt.

The aim of the countries supporting SCUA is to squeeze Egypt into effective cooperation with the organization, and eventually, into some agreement that will put the canal under militarization control.

Truman Hits Ike Policy In Mediterranean

GARY, Ind., Oct. 18 (AP)—Former President Truman tonight charged President Eisenhower had allowed the Russians to get a foothold in the eastern Mediterranean.

And he said Eisenhower could have prevented it.

In a prepared speech, Truman said the Republicans "have made a mess of things at home and a worse mess of things abroad. . ."

"They have allowed the Russians to get a foothold in the vital and strategic eastern Mediterranean. This is something the Russians have been trying to do for 300 years, since the time of Peter the Great. The Western nations have long tried to prevent this because they knew it would jeopardize the security not only of all Europe but of America as well. . . .

"This did not have to happen. It could have been prevented by the President of the United States. I prevented it when I was president—that's what the doctrine of aid to Greece and Turkey was all about. But you can't prevent things like that if the president leaves his foreign policy up to a secretary of state who flits about all over the world with his foot in his mouth."

In his "give 'em hell" style, Truman said the Republicans are "asking us to vote for a part-time President."

He added he was not talking about the President's health.

"He was a part-time President even before he got sick," Truman declared.

The former President said he knew the demands of the office and "it is five or six jobs, rolled into one and each is time-consuming, and critical and essential to the conduct of the government.

"There is only one way to do all these jobs and that is to keep everlastingly at them. I worked at them 16 hours a day.

"So this is not a part-time job. It can't be run from a golf course or handled by a part-time farmer. The people are thinking about this and they are worried. . ."

Prisoner Draws Plans For Chapel At Reformatory

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — A prisoner who says he has never been in a church has drawn detailed plans for a $192,000 chapel at Washington's Reformatory at Lorton, Va.

The prisoner, Farmer C. Thomas, 30, serving 17 years for counterfeiting, learned architecture in a correspondence course while serving a previous term in San Quentin Prison, California.

His plans for the chapel, designed to serve several denominations, have been approved by the Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, Catholic archbishop of Washington, and the Federation of Churches.

Motor Plant Gas Explosion Injures 15

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 18 (AP)—A natural gas explosion and a fire in the engine testing department of the American Motors Corp. automobile assembly plant today resulted in injury to 15 workers.

Six of the workers were hospitalized with severe burns but none was in critical condition. Nine others were treated for minor burns and released.

The mishap necessitated a shutdown of the assembly line engaged in the production of Nash, Hudson and Rambler automobiles but officials said normal operation would be resumed tomorrow morning. Between 2,000 and 3,000 employes were sent home at 11 a.m., but other departments continued operations.

The blast, attributed by fire and plant engineer personnel to a broken natural gas pipe and fire in an electrical switch, originated in a pit running the length of one of the motor testing lines. Flames and smoke shot out of metal manhole covers, enveloping workers standing near the line.

The pit contained gas and compressed air pipes. Natural gas and compressed air are used instead of gasoline to operate the engines before they are placed in new automobiles.

William Templing, 42, one of those burned, told newsmen that a starter box caught fire when a switch was thrown. He called a repairman. The repairman and a foreman came over with a fire extinguisher, he said.

"As they bent over with the extinguisher to put out the fire, the natural gas line exploded," Templing said.

Louis Serpe, foreman of an adjoining department, walked into the testing department at the instant of the explosion.

"It was like a clap of thunder," Serpe said. "The smoke and flames shot up and people started running in from other departments. I held them back for fear of a secondary explosion."

Some farm experts say that corn is 25 per cent more nutrious when turned into silage than when fed to animals as grain and fodder.

Soviet Report Said 'Hogwash'

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 18 (AP) — The head of the U. S. Naval Academy today described as "hogwash" a Soviet article which said Naval Academy midshipmen are being politically brainwashed.

"That's a word I don't normally use," said Rear Adm. William R. Smedberg III, "but I can't think of a more descriptive term for a statement so completely ridiculous."

The newspaper Soviet Fleet published in Moscow said midshipmen have to study political geography aimed at "substantiation of United States claims to world supremacy" and said the course is based on "the writings of imperialist geopoliticians."

It called the Academy's foreign policy lectures a "hash of slanderous fabrications" about the Soviet Union and other Communist countries.

The newspaper also said graduates of the U.S. Naval Academy are "a privileged class which stands apart from both the naval enlisted men and the whole of the American people."

Adm. Smedberg said he didn't care to "dignify" the article by making a point-by-point rebuttal but took particular exception to the reference to a "privileged class".

He said the charge "falls apart" when it is considered that every year many enlisted men get appointments to the Academy from the United States fleet.

Woman, Held For Grand Jury On Call-Girl Charges

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—A red-haired beauty was held for grand jury action today on charges of operating an internationally flavored call-girl racket with "fantastic" revenues.

She was identified as Nelda Bogacki, alias Nella Bogart, 32, a Polish displaced person who came here in 1951.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John A. Keefe tabbed her as "the heir apparent to Polly Adler"—the well-known madam of the 1920s who later wrote a book about the operation of her plush houses of prostitution.

Keefe said Miss Bogacki employed alien girls from Haiti, Cuba and Italy to entertain customers at fees of $25 to $125 in three New York apartments and "the best hotels."

He said the operation was uncovered by immigration and FBI men investigating alien girls who had overstayed visitors' visas.

Miss Bogacki was arrested in a swanky Manhattan apartment last night with an 18-year-old girl, one of 10 young women allegedly working for her at present.

She was formally charged with violating the federal Mann Act by transporting Arianne Yvonne Chenet, also known as Lillian Scott, from New Jersey to New York for the purpose of prostitution.

Keefe asserted that Miss Bogacki "was meticulous in her fashion and yearly sent out fancy embossed, engraved Christmas cards to subscribers," he added: "The yearly proceeds from her racket were fantastic and are simply impossible to estimate at this time."

Keefe said she operated between New York and Chicago, but did not give details. She launched her racket shortly after reaching the United States, he said.

Miss Bogacki, fashionably attired in a blue dress and with a knitted gray and black mantilla over her shoulders, made no comment and kept her eyes on the floor as she was arraigned today. Bail was set at $3,000.

Keefe said she could receive a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine if convicted, and also could be deported even though she has taken out her first papers toward citizenship.

Carbide Company Reports Earnings

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Union Carbide & Carbon Corp. today reported record sales and earnings for the first nine months of 1956.

Net income for the nine months was $102,247,624, or $3.50 a share. This compared with $101,436,489 or $3.48 a share in the first nine months of 1955—a gain of about one-tenth of one per cent.

Sales rose 9 per cent, totaling $937,129,856 vs. $857,123,236 in the year-age period.

Union Carbide said failure of income to keep pace with sales was due primarily to the July steel strike which reduced profit margins in the third quarter.

Four Trainmen Die In Crash

PINEOLA, Fla., Oct. 18 (AP)—Two freight trains crashed head-on today, killing four trainmen and injuring four others.

Burning oil from the derailed Atlantic Coast Line diesel engines spewed over adjoining wooden cars and a raging fire broke out. Two of the dead were pulled from the smouldering wreckage.

A railroad official at the scene, who declined use of his name said, there was a "mixup in train orders."

Twenty-four cars tumbled from the tracks in this tiny wooded community 60 miles north of Tampa. The northbound engine was pulling 43 cars and southbound 39.

This main line stretch of the railroad is double-tracked. It probably will take two days to clear the wreckage, some of which was piled four cars high.

The dead, all from Florida, were B. T. Martin, engineer of High Springs and the Democratic nominee for Alachua County commissioner; fireman E. W. Vaughn, High Springs; brakeman J. L. Phillips, Lakeland; and brakeman W. E. Snyder, Lakeland.

Church Gets Rich On Stock Market

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP) — The Church of England found itself today with an embarrassment of riches.

It made almost a half a million dollars in the kind of stock market coup most investors can only dream of.

Sir Malcolm Eve, chairman of the Church Properties and Finance Commission, said it bought stock last summer in Trinidad Oil, expecting a yield of little more than three per cent.

Then the Texas Co. bought out Trinidad, nearly doubling qthe stock's value. The church's profit was 160,000 pounds—$448,000.

Rain On Coast Eases Out To Sea But Wind Remains

[By The Associated Press]

Rain that soaked the Eastern seaboard Thursday eased out to sea off the New Jersey coast. However, winds of 30-40 m.p.h. remained.

A patch of light rain and drizzle wetted the mountains of the Carolinas and dampened Tennessee and northern Alabama.

It was wet on the West Coast, too, where a thunderstorm brought hail to Tatoosh Island, Wash., and dumped 1.1 inches of rain in a six-hour period. A high-pressure area cleared skies from central California to the mountains of Montana.

A broad area of shower and thunderstorms was reported in the Southern Plains. Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas were included in the pattern with showers reaching Kansas later in the day.

Rivers in southern Texas were reported rising as the result of considerable rainfall.

Because of its cell structure, wood absorbs and deaden sounds.

Pretty Bride Has Cancer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 18 (AP)—A pretty 17-year-old girl, who was married in her hospital bed to her sweetheart yesterday, was told today she must lose her right leg because of a malignant cancer.

At first, Cherrie Lee Thompson laughed and told the doctor he was kidding her. She didn't understand what malignancy meant.

After the doctor explained, she turned to her groom of a day, Laroy Jay, 21, and said, "Now see what kind of a girl you married," and began to cry.

However, Jay who is a soldier stationed at Ft. Jackson, S.C., already knew. He came here on ar emergency leave to as:: Cherrie to hurry up their marriage.

Tomorrow, she will undergo surgery to have her leg removed in an effort to stop the cancer.

Desegregation Endorsement Is Rejected By Lutherans

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 18 (AP)—The United Lutheran Church here condemned enforced racial segregation, but rejected an outright endorsement of the Supreme Court decision outlawing it in the public schools.

In a hectic closing session, the church's biennial convention voted down a proposed declaration that the court ruling is "in harmony with Christian convictions."

That portion was stricken from a statement urging church congregations to take the lead in demonstrating "the possibility of integration."

A "weak and ineffective statement," declared the Rev. Paul L. Roth, of Kenosha, Wis.

But the Rev. Frank Efird, of Salisbury, N.C., called it "courageous, Christian and consistent"—and one that won't "divide our people."

Pleading for the convention to give specific backing to the Supreme Court's action, the Rev. Harold C. Letts, of New York, said:

"If we leave out any indication that this decision was in accord with Christian principles, we will cast doubt on the whole process of integration going on in our nation."

Many of the nation's major Protestant churches have hailed the court ruling.

The convention here, representing America's largest Lutheran body, voted 340 to 159 for an amendment by the Rev. Wynne C. Boliek, of Greenville, S.C., eliminating the approving reference to the 1954 court action.

"Many of our Christian brothers, especially in the South, have deep-seated feelings about the Supreme Court ruling," the Rev. Mr. Boliek said.

After the ballot, the church president, Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, announced he wanted his own vote recorded in opposition to the delegation. Several delegates rose to request the same thing.

Several others said the church had no business appraising specific government actions, but should confine itself to enunciating Christian principles and winning adherence to them.

Soviet Ready To Ban Test Of H-Bomb

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 18 (AP)—Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev said that the Soviet Union is ready to agree with the United States and Britain on an immediate, unconditional halt to test explosions of nuclear weapons.

Sobolev made the statement to a reporter in answer to a question on Russia's current stand on the question of test explosions.

He said nothing about the political controversy between Adlai Stevenson, Democratic Presidential nominee who has proposed negotiating a halt on H-bomb tests, and President Eisenhower, Republican nominee who has rejected Stevenson's ideas.

The U.S. position in U.N. disarmament talks is that any ban on test blasts must be part of a comprehensive disarmament plan with adequate controls and safeguards.

"The Soviet Union is ready to enter now into an agreement with the other powers for an immediate halt to the test explosions of nuclear weapons without conditions," Sobolev said. "We believe this might be the first step toward a system of disarmament and eventual prohibition of the nuclear weapons."

Stevenson has mentioned only the hydrogen bomb in his speeches calling for a halt to test explosions. But Sobolev said the Russian position applies to all nuclear weapons.

Stevenson has made the point that: "The testing of an H-bomb anywhere can be quickly detected. You can't hide the explosion any more than you can hide an earthquake. . . if another power conducts further—H-bomb—tests we would know it and. . . would have no choice but to resume such tests ourselves." He also called H-bomb fall-out "the most dreadful poison in the world."

Sobolev said the Soviet Union at first proposed that the ban on test explosions should be a part of a disarmament agreement but that in the last two years the Soviet Union has eliminated its suggestion of any condition.

Aid To Victims Of Aggression Doesn't Include Jordan

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP NEWS ANALYST

Secretary Dulles, under news conference prodding about the Arab-Israeli situation, has reiterated the American policy of aiding any victim of aggression.

You can bet your bottom dollar that doesn't mean Jordan.

In the first place, when reiterating last April something that has been a part of American policy ever since 1948, President Eisenhower was careful to wrap his phraseology around the words "within constitutional limits." At that time it meant he still was not committing the nation without regard to the will of Congress, something to which he has referred many times.

Now, against the Middle Eastern background, it could mean almost anything.

The present situation is this:

The Jordan government, involved with domestic economic difficulties and faced with a conflict for power among the Arab states themselves, asked Iraq to lend them some troops to insure control during forthcoming elections. Iraq agreed to send 3,000. The West didn't mind, considering it some insurance against the machinations of Egypt's Nasser.

But Israel got excited and started throwing threats.

Israel and Jordan are in the midst of a new crisis over border incidents. Israel staged a big retaliatory raid and fears counteraction from Jordan.

Israel has displayed a desire to straighten out border disputes with Jordan and the other Arab neighbors, by force if necessary, but has refrained from taking territory in violation of United Nations agreements.

If Iraq put troops into Jordan, however, an excuse for Israeli action would be provided. There are many historical precedents for action by one country when the troops of a third party enter the territory of an immediate neighbor. It wouldn't necessarily be classified as aggression.

That undoubtedly is behind the second thoughts which Jordan and Iraq are giving their original plan.

As for the United States, there are several fundamental factors in her position which will deter her from any direct action or major support for fighting in the Middle East now.

Number one is the broad attitude of the Eisenhower administration, heightened by the approaching election, toward fighting or condonement of fighting.

Then there is the political fact that the United States will not take strong action against Israel because of the power of the Zionists in this country and because of the American role in the establishment of Israel as a national state.

The American refusal to supply Israel with arms during the crisis over Russia's sale of arms to Egypt still stands as a warning to her that Washington wants no breach of the peace.

The reiteration of the policy of aid for the victims of aggression stands, therefore, primarily as a warning to Jordan and the Arab states.

And the whole incident may be judged against the fact that the secretary's remarks were produced by questioning as to whether the previously stated policy still stands, and were not a voluntary reaction to the current situation.

New Missile Is 'Deadly'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—A new air missile—said to be as swift and deadly as the "sidewinder" or desert rattlesnake for which it was named—is with the Navy's Mediterranean and Far East fleets.

The Navy, in taking the wraps off the hitherto secret weapon today, said it has been proven effective against airplanes flying at supersonic speeds.

It is in the hands of Attack Squadron 6, flying from the carrier Randolph of the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean and Fighter Squadron 211 operating from the carrier Bon Homme Richard with the 7th Fleet in the Western Pacific.

Pencil-slim and about eight feet long, the Sidewinder, the Navy said, can knock down enemy aircraft at altitudes ranging from sea level to more than 50,000 feet.

Its performance data was not revealed. But, it is known to have greater range and speed than the Navy's air-to-air missile Sparrow. The Sparrow, in use for several years, has a speed of about 2,000 miles an hour and a five-mile range.

Soroptimists To Celebrate Birthday, Charter Night

Plans for Founders Week and the fifth anniversary of the Soroptimist International of Cumberland were formulated at a meeting of the Program and Hospitality committees, which was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Faye Stillwagon, Greene Street.

Mrs. Mary Wimmer, Baltimore, will be the guest speaker at the Charter Night and fifth anniversary celebration of the local club, which will be a dinner November 10 at Clary Club. Founders Week will be observed November 4-10.

It was decided to use gold colored coins in keeping with the club's practice of raising funds for service, and the club colors of blue and gold in the decorations.

Reservations are to be made by October 30 with Mrs. Maxine Doak, PA 2-7930.

The local Soroptimist Club was represented at the fall conference of the South Atlantic Region in Ocean City, by Miss Olive Hurlburt, president; and Miss Jeannette Bonig, delegate. The report will be given at the business meeting at 7 p. m. October 24 at the YMCA. The International Goodwill committee will present a program in conjunction with UN Day at this meeting.

A $10 contribution was made to the Community Chest at the last meeting at Sheehe's Restaurant.

Mrs. Minnie Arnold, Bowling Green, is improving in Sacred Heart Hospital, where she is a medical patient.

ABL Rec Club To Hold Halloween Party

A Halloween dance will be held at Clary Club tonight by the ABL Rec Club. It will be a masquerade, with unmasking to be held at 10 o'clock.

Prizes will be awarded for the prettiest costume, the ugliest, the funniest, the most original, and the most original couple. Music will be by Art Shaffer's Orchestra from 9 until midnight.

Miss Helen Hayden is chairman of arrangements.

Lutherans Elect D. C. Woman

New by-laws were adopted and officers were elected at the closing session of the two-day 74th annual convention of the United Lutheran Church Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Maryland, held yesterday in St. John's church here.

Mrs. Dwight Wauhaus, Baltimore, was named president for the three-year term succeeding Mrs. Donald Brake, formerly of here. Mrs. J. Forrest Milleson, city, were re-elected Statistical secretary; and Mrs. Jack Treiber, city, was elected chairman of the newly-formed Offerings committee.

The next annual meeting will be held in St. John's Lutheran Church, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Mrs. Allard Stallknecht, Washington, had charge of the devotionals for the five sessions, using as her theme "Unity in Christ." Rev. J. Frank Fife, D. D., Baltimore, president of the Maryland Synod, brought greetings.

Miss Isolde Eland, social mission worker at Ellis Island, N. Y., was the principal speaker. Using "Migration and Its Problems" as her topic, she told of her 15 years' work there, and said 280,000 immigrants come to the United States each year.

Agent Will Visit Club

Miss Mary Wise will meet with the Spring Gap Homemakers Club November 8, to discuss any dress problems of members. The annonuncement was made at the meeting recently. Mrs. John Wheeler presided. The club fair October 13 was discussed.

The meeting opened with the group singing, "Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life." Roll call was answered with "Experiences with New Fabrics." Mrs. John W. Davis gave a report on fire prevention and members were reminded of the County Achievement Day at Clarysville Inn, November 1. Routine reports were given. The meeting closed with the group singing the "Missouri Waltz."

Eleven members attended and refreshments were served.

MYF Sponsors Skating Party

Club Hears Advantages Of Federation Members

Announcements of a "Wedding Gown Parade," and a C and O Canal film showing, and a talk by Mrs. William A. Douglas, president of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, featured the open house meeting of the Woman's Civic Club yesterday in the new club house.

Mrs. Albert D. Heacox extended a welcome to guests and greetings to members. She also introduced the three guests, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. F. V. Cozad, president of the LaVale Century Club; and Mrs. Bruce Douglas, president of the Junior Woman's Civic Club. The club collect and pledge to the flag were led by Mrs. Robert W. Young. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Albert Paye and Mrs. Edgar Kendall.

The Garden Club is bringing a film to Cumberland November 12, Mrs. George Henderson announced. It is a picture of the C and O Canal from end to end, and will be shown at Allegany High Schol at 7:30. The public is invited to attend.

A "Wedding Gown Parade" was announced by Mrs. Edward W. Dove, Ways and Means chairman. It will be presented by her committee November 28 at 8 p. m. at the club house. The public is invited.

New members introduced by Mrs. Young were Mrs. Donald Grove, Mrs. Thomas Finan, Mrs. Irving Millenson, Mrs. Donald Sharps and Mrs. Fuller Whitworth.

Mrs. Fred Borden spoke for the Animal Welfare League and explained the functions of the society, making a plea for assistance and membership.

Mrs. James M. Pitkethley, Program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Douglas, whose subject was "The Federation and You."

Mrs. Douglas explained what it means to belong to the federation, which has four divisions, the General Federation, Maryland Federation, First Division and Cumberland Woman's Civic Club. She brought out the fact that it is a nonprofit, bipartisan organization with members urged to be definite about their political views; that it is an organization to unite clubs throughout the world for their mutual benefit and to promote common interests in education, philanthropies, public welfare, moral values, civic affairs and fine arts.

The general federation, she said, helps each individual club in setting up departments of work in many fields. Each program is planned with suggestions for club participation, which may be obtained from headquarters in Washington.

Mrs. Douglas reminded her audience of the advantages of good fellowship and pleasure from working together; knowledge from well thought-out programs, in which matters of national and international importance are presented and information is given in arts, crafts, education; confidence and leadership training from participation in club activities and programs; and a chance to help others in community service.

Mrs. Joyce Zornig, soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Beck, was introduced by Mrs. C. A. List, Music chairman. She sang "Duna" by Joseph B. McGill; "Calm as the Night" Bohm; and "Romance," Walter Donaldson.

Concluding the program the group was invited to tour the club house, then a tea was held with the Hospitality committee in charge. Mrs. William H. Ryan, Mrs. John R. Wilkinson and Mrs. Edward J. Ryan were assisted by Mrs. F. W. Eiler, Mrs. Kenton Farrell, Mrs. Paul Fletcher, Mrs. Roy Lottig, Mrs. John McClure, Mrs. Lloyd Meyers, Mrs. Joseph Naughton, Mrs. Louis Spoerl, Mrs. Harry Teter, Miss Louise Wilson and Mrs. Raymond Lapp Jr., and Mrs. F. Perry Simth Jr., of the junior club. The house was decorated with fall flowers, with chrysanthemums predominating. Over 100 members attended.

Group Plans Yule Box

The WSCS of Trinity Methodist Church voted to send a Christmas box to Eva Logue, missionary to India, at the regular meeting Tuesday evening at the church. Routine reports were given and a letter was read from Gladys Oberlein, missionary to South America.

Mrs. Glenn Diehl conducted the devotionals. Her topic was "The Islands of Southeast Asia." Mrs. Madelyn Yantz, Spiritual Life chairman, announced the Week of Prayer service program will be presented October 21 at 7:30. Mrs. Wade Arnold will be the speaker and Mrs. Eleanor Mosser is to be soloist.

Twenty-one members attended.

Luther League To Hold Fall Rally Sunday

Officers of Mountain District Luther League will be elected and installed at the fall rally at 7 p. m. Sunday in St. John's Lutheran Church. Rev. Russell E. Fink will be in charge of the ceremony and the host league will conduct devotionals.

Recreation during the social hour will be under the direction of Judy Ritchey of St. Paul's church. Refreshments will be served by the leagues of St. Luke's church and St. Paul's Frostburg.

Mrs. M. Monroe MacKenzie, counselor, asked that all district youth attend.

Chorus To Present Program At Dedication

The Allegany County Homemakers Chorus will present a sacred concert at the dedication of the parish house of Hyndman Reformed Church tonight. It will be at 7:30.

Solo numbers will be by Mrs. Paul Gilford, Mrs. Charles Long, Mrs. Wilbert Brinkman and Vernon Higgs. Mrs. Richard Trevaskis Sr., is director and Mrs. Irma Burkett, accompanist.

The program includes "The Spacious Firmament on High," "Hymn of Love," "Be Still My Soul," "Bless This House," "Dream Song," "Fairest Lord Jesus," and the hymn of the United Nations.

Wassail is the name for the ancient form of "toasting," the term being applied later to the Christmas feasting and revelries and particularly to the bowl of spiced ale or wine which was a feature of the medieval Christmas.

Brainwashing Seen Cure For Stomach Ulcer

By RENNIE TAYLOR

LENINGRAD, Saturday, Oct. 18 (AP)—An experiment which suggests it may be possible to heal stomach ulcers with a beneficial form of brainwashing was described by a Russian physiologist here today.

An ulcer patient is hooked up to an array of instruments which record pulse rate, respiration, perspiration—which is an index of pain—and brain waves.

These instruments are connected in an irregular but important way to a dial which the patient can see. The dial, numbered from 1 to 10, is rigged so the signals from all recording instruments are combined in a single signal upon it. The operator has separate recording devices for each instrument, which the patient cannot see.

When the operator detects, from his instruments, an oncoming ulcer attack, he allows the needle on the visible dial to creep up to 5—signaling a full attack. The attack—or spasm—is fluttery activity of the stomach which aggravates the ulcer, producing pain and tissue disturbance which prevents natural healing.

Ordinary ulcers heal if given a sufficiently long period of quiet, but the human stomach is an active organ, moving variably with a person's mental state. So the operator lets the needle run up to 5 a few times until the patient is conditioned to the realization that that reading on the dial means an attack is coming.

Then the operator begins some trickery, hooking up a patient when his stomach is quiet, but permitting the 5 reading on the dial anyway. The patient suffers all the symptoms of an attack. Later, when all the symptoms are present, the operator holds the needle back and the patient experiences no pain.

The experiments, conducted at Pavlov Institute, were described to a group of visiting California doctors by Prof. Erwand Scharmirowitsch Airapetianz. The institute is named for Russian physiologist Anton Pavlov, who demonstrated—in a famous experiment with dogs — that reflexes could be trained to respond to outside stimuli.

Prof. Airapetianz said that in the ulcer experiments patients who see a low reading on their dial have experienced no spasm even though the instruments he cannot see indicate a full-fledged spasm is in progress.

"With this method," he said, "we have kept patients with known ulcers free from pain and spasm for as long as five days. We believe some healing took place during these periods. We think also the method can be used to keep stomach ulcers quiet sufficiently long to permit full healing."

NACA Medals Awarded For Rescue

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics here gave distinguished service medals to two employes who removed the unconscious pilot from the X-1A last year after that experimental plane was wrecked by an explosion.

The medals for "outstanding bravery beyond the call of duty" were awarded to John W. Moise and Charles W. Littleton of the NACA High Speed Flight Station, Edwards, Calif.

Moise and Littleton were in a B29 "mother plane" which took the X-1A to 31,000 feet on Aug. 8 1955 and was preparing to loose it for a test flight. Seventy seconds before the scheduled drop there was an explosion in the X-1A. This wrecked the oxygen supply for the X-1A's pilot, Joseph A. Walker, and he quickly became unconscious.

Moise and Littleton went through the bomb bay of the B29 into the X-1A and removed Walker.

NACA gave an "exceptional service award" to Walker, who, after he was removed to the B29 and recovered consciousness, returned to the X-1A and sought unsuccessfully to dump fuel which it feared might explode momentarily."

Exceptional service awards also were made to Stanley P. Butchart, pilot of the B29, and Richard E. Payne, crew chief of the X-1A.

The address of all these is Edwards, Calif.

The B29 finally had to jettison the X-1A which crashed in the desert.

Poll Says Most People Aren't Talking Politics

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18 (AP)—Only 44.7 per cent of the 102 million Americans old enough to vote are talking about politics today, a survey discloses.

Sindlinger & Co. Ridley Park, Pa., analysts who took the poll, uncovered these other nonpartisan observations:

1. More people "talk about politics" in the West, the least in the East.

2. Men talk more about it than women.

3. Of the 46 million discussing the political situation—regardless of party—the bulk of them, nearly 41 millions, are talking about the presidential election.

Albert E. Sindlinger, head of the polling organization, said, "It is startling to see how more and more millions start talking politics as the election gets closer."

His firm started taking the political pulse 10 weeks ago and he reports that only 5,350,000 persons, or 5.2 per cent of those 21 years old and over, talked politics then.

The August high was 17 millions during the Democratic convention and the people talking politics during the first two weeks of September dropped to less than 10 million.

But by the end of September political talkers increased to 38½ millions, with an additional five million between the ages of 12 and 21.

Sindlinger said his figures represent a "projection of nationwide daily interviewing among a scientific cross-section of the public."

Sindlinger said his staff of 186 interview more than 1,000 persons each day and during the past 10 weeks—while they conducted their business surveys to determine what movies people saw, what television programs they preferred — they asked about 75,000 whether they talked politics.

More Southern men talked politics than males in any other section, while in the South women showed the least interest.

Experts Probe Plane Crash

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18 (AP) — Experts today began investigating a "technically impossible" breakdown of two engines that led to the ditching of a Pan-American Stratocruiser in the Pacific Ocean.

Meanwhile, a rescue ship steamed toward San Francisco with the plane's 31 passengers and crew members. All were rescued without mishap shortly after the ditching 1,000 miles southwest of San Francisco.

The Coast Guard cutter Pontchartrain was due at 7:30 a.m. Friday with the 20 men, 8 women, and 3 children who were aboard Pan-American's "Sovereign of the Skies."

"With the help of God, we knew we were going to get through all right," said Mrs. Jane Gordon of Silver Spring, Md., in a radiocast from the Pontchartrain.

Only five persons were hurt in the emergency landing and their injuries were minor.

Capt. Richard Ogg and hishplane crew were praised for the way they handled the tricky situation.

It happened six hours after the plane left Honolulu on the 2,400-mile flight to San Francisco.

Two engines went out almost simultaneously, a development so rare James E. Conner, Pan-American's Pacific-Alaska division maintenance manager, said it has been considered "technically impossible."

Conner said all four engines on the plane were closely inspected at Honlulu Monday night as a routine precaution, and all were found to be shipshape.

Llama Rustlers

LA QUIACA, Argentine, Oct. 18 (AP) — Border troops surprised a band trying to rustle a strange cargo into Bolivia. The rustlers got away but they left behind their wooly contraband — 119 llamas, the South American version of the camel.

New Swedish Way to Get Slim

LARSON'S SWEDISH MILK DIET

WHAT IT IS:

Larson's S.M.D. is a special diet which was invented in Sweden, the country with the healthy way of living. If you are overweight because you eat too much and if you want to reduce easy, quick and safe, without being hungry, then you should get a package and see for yourself that you don't have to be so fat.

HEALTHY—NOT DANGEROUS:

Larson's Swedish Milk Diet takes off the excess fat in a natural way without using drugs, slimming ingredients or exercising. Invented in Sweden, Larson's S.M.D. is now being introduced here in America. Because it is so limited in supply it sells out fast so you should ask for it today.

IMPROVE YOUR HEALTH:

Larson's S.M.D., a granular preparation, combines with milk to form bulk to help keep your intestinal tract regular. Larson's S.M.D. supplies healthy bulk and encourages normal habit time. You will feel more fit in body and clearer of mind. And you also should be more energetic.

HOW TO USE:

Just a teaspoonful of S.M.D. granules with a glass of milk four times a day, only 3 days a week! Monday, Wednesday, Friday you diet the Swedish Milk Diet Way. Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday you eat your normal meals!

NO UNDERFEEDING:

The Larson's S.M.D. Swedish Milk Diet contains full daily requirements of minerals, necessary vitamins, calcium, protein, carbohydrates, iron, phosphorus, energy elements. And the Swedish Milk Diet gives you the necessary variation between diet days and days with normal meals when you eat like you do now. You only use Larson's S.M.D. 3 days a week: The other 4 days of the week, Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and on Saturday you don't diet at all but eat just like you do now!

RESULTS ARE GUARANTEED:

If you follow the diet faithfully you should lose pounds and inches the first week, or you return the package and get a refund.

"Bleeding" into the fine lines around the mouth is one of the most common offenses to good grooming and beauty. Proper application of lipstick is essential, and the best job is done with a lip brush.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Flawless Lips

More than 90 per cent of American women of 16 and older use lipstick. Annually these same women purchase from two to four lipsticks each. Roughly, we can say that the national expenditure on this one item totals $70,000,000.

Lipstick, in one form or another, has been considered an important beauty aid since 3500 B. C. But how many women have actually learned the complete art of applying it? Since your mouth is your most flexible feature, it is literally true that it is as attractive as you make it.

One of the most unappealing sights is when the lipstick "bleeds." No one can have lip lure when this happens. Cracked lines around the lips are about as attractive as chipped china.

To prevent this "bleeding," blend your base smoothly and evenly across the face and cover the upper lip from the nostrils down. Carry the foundation down over the red part of the lipline. Be especially careful of working the foundation in any small crevices, running upward from the mouth, or the corners of the mouth. It is when these tiny lines are left uncolored, that they become doubly noticeable. It is into these small crevices that lipstick is apt to "bleed."

If you want to do a perfect job and take all precautions, study your mouth with a magnifying mirror. You probably will find many fine ridges of color occurring where you lifted your finger from the skin. For it is these invisible ridges that pick up powder and dust during the day and darken into lines or streaks.

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?"—Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! Complete information on handling lines to best advantage. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 3c (in coin) and a stamped self-addressed return envelope.

Tomorrow—Soap and water addicts.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (INS) — People . . . Places . . . Books.

If you're interested in how wars ever manage to get reported, or talked about on radio, you'd best dip your bill into Col. Barney Oldfield's "Never A Shot In Anger," the story of one of the top public relations officers of World War II and his soft and hard times with the press. It's just out, published by Duell, Sloan and Pearce.

Barney, named for the pioneer racing driver, was a movie press agent before being wed to uniform some years before a war which was to be almost tailor made for his industry, imagination, willingness to travel and ability to get along with some of the most wildly divergent characters of our time.

Barney came closest to being killed in his active war life when he reached for a handkerchief in his hip pocket one day, in the presence of Stalin's trigger-happy secret police. It's in effect a book of scrapes, sometimes hilarious, and how they were solved.

To establish Berlin's famed Press Club, for example, Barney camouflaged the mansion (with its beautiful grounds, tennis courts, etc.), turned on the plumbing to imitated leaks, broke all windows facing the street, took out the good furniture and replaced it with burned and battered stuff — and discouraged 18 successive high ranking generals from commandeering the place as their headquarters.

To get the club's bar started he officiated at the forging of the names of President Harry S. Truman and Chief of Staff George C. Marshall. This sprang the leftover liquor stocks of the Potsdam conference. It was a delightful place. Occasionally, Baron von Cramm would come by and give a tennis lesson. The great saying was, "you never had it better."

Barney was the first Lewsman to go paratrooping. He reunited Marlene Dietrich, tirelessly beautiful USO girl at the time, with her mother in Berlin. He got love-sick correspondents married, did such things as arrange for a Rabbi Chaplain to celebrate the first Passover after V-E Day at the home of Josef Goebbels.

Good lively informative book—just like Barney.

On a loftier plane, so to speak, is "Vision," by Harold Mansfield, for the same publisher. It's the story of Boeing's incredible 40 years in the flying business, a span which, in human terms, reaches from Neanderthal man to Elvis Presley.

Here is related the birth pangs of the all-metal plane, the fretful birth of the strategic bomber with Billy Mitchell as the gynecologist, the first specifications for the B-17 flying fortress, the conquest of ocean and weather, the B-29 which was built to fight Japan from far off, the birth of the brilliant B-47, the "Tankers", the B-52 the Jet transport to come, missile and nuclear weapons and power. The aviation buff won't want to miss any of this.

The book reveals that the B-52 the 8-jet bomber capable of delivering an H-bomb anywhere in the world, was almost cancelled several times during the eight years it took to design and make it. It started out back in 1945, on the boards, as a propellor-driven plane, finished up with eight J-57 developing perhaps 160,000 horsepower at altitude. The first two cost $53,000,000. The production model runs $15,000,000.

And it you're curious about what the atom holds in store for you read, "And What Of Tomorrow" by George O. Robinson, former Washington correspondent of the Memphis Commercial Appeal who worked through the war, and since, for the Manhattan A-Bomb project and now is with AEC.

You're hitched to a star, a star that no man has ever seen — an atom, and you have been since man first dreamed of cracking that star. Giddy-yap!

Man Questioned In Truck Use

William Warner Wilson, about 35, of near Westernport, was questioned this week in the State's Attorney's office in connection with alleged unlawful use of a tractor-trailer and tractor owned by an area trucking firm on October 6.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, said Wilson was the companion of Edward Ray Martin, 19, driver of the vehicles belonging to the Moran Trucking Company, located on State Route 36 between McCoole and Westernport.

On Tuesday, October 9, Martin was given a hearing before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason and was sentenced to two one-year terms in the Maryland House of Correction for the unlawful use of the vehicles.

Wilson, who is lodged in Allegany County Jail, is expected to be questioned further by Lilya.

The two men, police said, took a tractor-trailer with 16 ton of paper from the trucking firm's lot. Martin drove it until it went out of control and ran off the highway, when he ditched it about a mile below the lot.

They returned to the lot and drove away another rig which was ditched near McCoole, said police. Both men were taken into custody by Tfc. Milton Hart of the Maryland State Police.

By CLARK SAMUEL
Editor
The Foxboro Mass., Reporter

BOSTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—A group of weary New England newsmen, their minds filled with conflicting pictures of life in the Deep South, arrived here at Logan airport in a special plane after a flight from Biloxi, Mississippi.

These were the editors and publishers of weekly papers who departed from Boston last Sunday and spent a week in Mississippi as guests of its State Soverignty Commission created by Gov. J. P. Coleman to primarily interpret the state's official point of view in the segregation issue.

By bus and riverboat steamer, the newsmen were exposed to Mississippi's way of life. They talked to white and Negro leaders.

Traditional Southern hospitality was showered upon the visitors throughout the trip. Yet this writer must reluctantly report that in his opinion, this hospitality was abused by some of the members of the group who evidently had closed minds from the start on Mississippi's social and economic problems. Some acted and talked like northern ambassadors rather than students and observers.

However, in the group of 18, the majority were sincere in their efforts to learn, and as the day progressed they assembled a mass of factural material which they obtained by interviewing people of both colors in every walk of life—in the cotton fields and on the city streets.

I cannot see integregation happening in the state of Mississippi in my time. I believe I am in the minority among my colleagues in saying this. There are too many complex problems, and the people of both races I have talked to do not seem to look forward to a mingling of Negroes and whites in the forseeable future.

On our trip we saw many new educational facilities for both white and Negro; we saw new industries obtained through "Southern" ingenuity such as tax concessions, choice locations, with ample water and transportation facilities and a compatible labor supply.

We were served in hotels and restaurants by cheerful Negroes who seemed as proud of the South and their way of life as we are of ours. They were not "Uncle Toms." They were merely people going about their daily work.

On the other hand, we talked with Negroes harvesting a bumper cotton crop whose ignorance was appalling and who appeared bewildered by our presence and our questions. Yet in their sorry plight they did not appear to be abused or underfed nor was there a Simon Legree lurking in the background.

In the cities—such as Natchez and Vicksburg — where Negro school facilities appeared to be superior, we found the homes of whites and blacks side by side on the same streets.

We can honestly report that we saw no signs of racial tension such as we have often observed in cities like Baltimore, Washington, New York and Boston. One evening we walked alone down several streets in a Negro section of a Mississippi city — something we would not dare to do as a white man in New York's Harlem. No one molested us, several said "good evnin'."

The problem as Southerners we talked to recognize it, is the continued expansion of the educational program so that both white and Negroes may be better equipped to take their places in society.

We talked to some highly intellectual and attractive Negro teachers at their new vocational school which was, incidentally, built before the Supreme Court decision. These teachers do not appear bitter nor unhappy. They are smartly dressed and speak with a sophistication and sense of humor which is refreshing in this troubled land. Their apartments are as well if not better furnished than our own little Cape Cod house and their libraries reveal a love of literature for its own sake.

If a comparable visit were made by a group of Southern newsmen to New England, we are confident they would find much to criticize and much to praise just as we did in the South.

The Negro in such large numbers, inconceivable to us in the North, is the exclusive problem of the Deep South in our opinion. It would be hypocritical and foolhardy for any writer who has spent but a few days there to presume to tell these people how they ought to run their affairs and how to change their ways overnight.

One businessman told us that integration would increase rather than decrease their racial problem because it would completely change their entire way of living.

Ultimately I would like to see Negroes taking an active part in town, county and state government just as they now do in our federal government. Then you would have segregation with representation—just as our forefathers fought for their rights to be represented in government.

And with Mississippi's surging progress in education as well as economy, better times for both white and black are sure to come.

It will take time, patience and goodwill on four sides—Southern and Northern Negroes, Southern and Northern whites.

The Negro must be taught to accept his responsibilities as a citizen of the United States just as the white must be taught that the Negro has the right to full citizenship.

Radio Jamming Ban Is Asked

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 18 (AP) — Radio Warsaw said that a Polish parliamentary committee has asked the Polish government to stop jamming broadcasts from foreign countries.

The committee also advised the government to use the 83 million zlotys—about 20 million dollars—spent yearly on jamming broadcasts for improvement of Poland's own radio stations and programs, Radio Warsaw said.

Flavorful Foreign Recipes Use Lamb In Many Ways

Lamb is a favorite meat of the peoples of foreign lands. In France, leg of lamb with garlic is a popular dinner choice. A clove of garlic is inserted in the meat near the bone and whether the leg is spit-roasted in front of an open fire, or baked in an oven, it is brushed before and during cooking with lard or butter.

Spanish cooks oven-brown lamb leg or breast in butter with a bay leaf, salt, and pepper in an earthenware casserole. The meat is simmered in a little white wine and towards the end of the cooking period, fried pimentos, minced garlic, and chopped parsley are added.

"Boiled" lamb with dill sauce is a popular meat choice in Sweden, and corned lamb, similar to our corned beef, is considered delicious eating in Norway.

All the peoples of Asia Minor—Syrians, Armenians, Turks—enjoy skewered meats, and most of them use lamb chunks for their meals-on-a-stick. Sometimes bits of onion, tomato, and green pepper are broiled with the lamb, but often the meat is cooked without the addition of vegetables, such as in this recipe for Armenian Shish Kebabs.

Armenian Shish Kebabs

5 to 6 pounds leg of lamb
2 large onions, sliced
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon oregano
½ cup dry red wine or sherry
¼ cup salad oil

Bone and cut lamb into 1 inch cubes. In a large bowl, alternate layers of meat and onion. Combine seasonings, wine and salad oil and pour over meat and onions. Refrigerate at least 1 hour (or overnight), turning occasionally. Thread meat on skewers and broil until crisp and brown on all sides. 6 to 8 servings.

The Greeks add lamb or mutton to many of their pilafs. In Arabia and Persia lamb is used in a variety of dishes, too. One of the most famous Arab dishes, known as Mechoui, is roast whole young lamb. In South America, whole lamb is roasted over a slow fire, and is known as Assado criollo.

Lamb is the meat most often used in Assyrian dishes. Lula chabab, is the Assyrian name for charcoal broiled ground lamb molded on long skewers. Dolma is a delicious combination of cooked lamb, rice, onions, parsley and basil used as a stuffing for tomatoes, green peppers, and cucumbers. Lobya, actually Assyrian lamb stew, is a flavorful blending of lamb with tomato sauce, green pepper, mushrooms and green beans. Prepare the stew as follows:

Assyrian Lamb Stew

8 pounds lamb shoulder, cut in 1½ inch cubes
4 large onions, sliced
1 tablespoon salt
¼ tablespoon pepper
1 tablespoon paprika
2 cups water
2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce
1 pound green snap beans or 2 packages frozen green beans
1 green pepper, chopped
2 cups fresh mushrooms, sliced
Hot cooked rice

Place meat, onions, salt, pepper, paprika, and water in a large heavy pan. Cover and cook slowly until meat is almost tender, about 1½ hours. Add tomato sauce; fresh beans, cut into short lengths; green pepper; and mushrooms. (If frozen beans are used, thaw and add to meat mixture the last 5 to 8 minutes of cooking.) Cover and cook 10 to 15 minutes longer or until beans and meat are tender. Spoon over hot rice to serve. 8 servings.

Woman's Party Head Confident Of Amendment

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Miss Alice Paul, founder of the National Woman's party, said that she is confident Congress will pass next session a proposed constitutional amendment for equal rights for women.

She said opposition to the amendment seems to have "melted away."

Miss Paul spoke in a statement issued in advance of a scheduled report next Sunday to the 1956 conference of the Women's Joint Legislative Committee for Equal Rights. The meeting is to be attended by leaders of 30 national women's clubs whose membership totals several millions.

The proposed amendment says "equality of right under law shall not be abridged . . . on account of sex."

Extension Of Areas Urged By Jury

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Oct. 18 (AP)—A Prince Georges County grand jury today urged extension of the areas served by the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission.

Such extension, it said, is necessary because of the county's growing population.

Apple Harvest Salad

1 package apple-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
¾ cup cold water
1 cup coarsely cut tomatoes
2 tablespoons diced green pepper
1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Combine tomato, green pepper, onion, Worcestershire sauce, vinegar, salt and pepper and marinate mixture thoroughly. Fold into slightly thickened gelatin. Pour into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens. Serve with mayonnaise, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Trio Dairy Corporations Charged With Monopolies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The government today charged three of the country's biggest dairy corporations with violating the monopoly laws by acquiring a combined total of 251 dairy companies since 1951.

The three Federal Trade Commission complaints named the National Dairy Products Corp., New York City, largest in the industry; The Borden Co., New York City; and Beatrice Foods Co., Chicago.

The commission described the first as "essentially holding and operating corporations with scores of subsidiaries." It said each has practiced a "constant and systematic elimination of actual and potential competitors."

The firms, having combined sales of nearly 2½ billion dollars last year, were each charged with violating the Clayton anti-trust law and the FTC law which prohibits unfair methods of competition.

The effect of their merger and acquisition program, the complaints said, has been to increase financial concentration in the dairy, ice cream, cheese and canned milk industries, and to eliminate independent firms.

Because of their great size and financial resources, FTC said, the three companies now are able to offer benefits to customers and potential customers which smaller companies cannot give. These, it said, include interest free loans; selling equipment at below-market prices; making "substantial payments in the form of gifts"; and giving discriminatory prices to favored customers and prospective customers.

On his first voyage of discovery, Christopher Columbus was accompanied by 120 men in three ships.

Baltimore Man Struck By Car

STEVENSVILLE, Md., Oct. 18 (AP)—Shepherd Barber, 60, of Baltimore, was reported in serious condition tonight in an Easton hospital from injuries suffered when he apparently was struck by a car near here.

Joseph Bailey, 49-year-old Stevensville oyster shucker, was arrested on hit-and-run and reckless driving charges in connection with Barber's injuries. He was freed in $1,000 bail for a hearing Oct. 25.

Barber was found lying alongside Maryland 33, about one-half mile south of U.S. 50, about 8 p.m. last night. He suffered a fractured right hip and possibly a fractured skull.

10,000 More Are Eligible To Vote

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 18 (AP)—About 10,000 more Anne Arundel County residents are eligible to vote in the Nov. 6 general election than were registered for the 1952 presidential election.

County election officials said today that 6,021 names have been added to the registration lists since the May primary when 50,797 voters were eligible.

But during the same time about 400 names were struck from the books because of transfers from the county and deaths, leaving a net gain of about 5,600 voters. The final official figure will not be available until later.

State Auto Deaths Rise

[By The Associated Press]

Maryland's 1956 highway death toll climbed to 411—16 ahead of last year—with the death of two motorists and a pedestrian.

A Maryland youth who had just received his drivers license was killed Wednesday night near Princess Anne when he and a cousin where thrown from a car and engulfed in flaming gasoline.

The car collided with a truck on U.S. 13. Killed was Alfred Francis Smith, 19-year-old Negro from Princess Anne.

Taken to Peninsula General Hospital in serious condition was Smith's companion, Braxton Lee Smith, 18, of RFD 3, Pocomoke, and Leland J. Wolfe, 53, of Baltimore, a passenger in the truck.

Also taken to the hospital was William Randolph Brown, 55, of Salisbury, who State Police said was driving the truck. Police said it was not immediately determined who was driving the car.

Officers said the auto apparently skidded and hit the truck.

Charles William Campbell, 44, of Joppa was killed Wednesday when, police said, a car hit the rear of his highway sweeper. Jesse Long, struck by a motorcycle Sept. 30 on the Washington Boulevard, died Wednesday night at South Baltimore General Hospital.

Gen. Paul Becomes Gettysburg Prexy

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Oct. 18 (AP)—Gen. Willard S. Paul, Gen. Eisenhower's chief of personnel during World War II, will become the ninth president of Gettysburg College at inauguration ceremonies tomorrow.

He succeeds Dr. Walter C. Langsam, who resigned in August, 1955, to become president of the University of Cincinnati. A four-man administrative committee has handled the presidential affairs since then.

The ceremonies will be held at 2 p.m. at Christ Chapel.

Although daylight saving time was not adopted until World War 1, Benjamin Franklin in 1784 urged a similar proposal on the French people.

Washington Climate Rated Among Best

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Some residents and visitors here might not agree—especially on one of those July days when the humidity reaches 99 per cent — but one weatherman rates this city's climate "with the best in the world."

Thomas R. Brooks, 65, has just completed 35 years' service with the Weather Bureau. During recent years he has been assistant chief of the forecasts and synoptic reports division. Therefore, he says, he has seen and studied a lot of weather.

"Except for a few days around Christime time, it is very pleasant here," he said. In fact, he has concluded that Washington's climate rates with the best in the world."

He concedes, however, that he might be slightly prejudiced. He was born here.

USDA Reports Farm Payments

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today it made payments totaling $68,501,532 to farmers in 41 states through Oct. 12 for retiring land from production this year under the new soil bank program.

This amount compared with $18,087,212 which had been paid out through Sept. 28. Payments started going to farmers late in the summer.

The Agriculture Department had estimated that farmers would earn about 261 million dollars if all carried out their land retirement agreements. However, some later withdrew.

The payments by states included:

Delaware, $176,760.
Maryland, $103,047.
Tennessee, $886,975.
Virginia, $138,252.
West Virginia, $4,167.

The three great generals in history who were never defeated were Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar and the Duke of Wellington.

State Begins Probe Of Bribe To Contractor

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (AP) — The State's attorney today began a full investigation of a contractor's statement that he was offered $15,000 by another contractor to file a phoney bid for a city contract.

Joseph F. Hughes, president of Joseph F. Hughes & Co., yesterday told the City Board of Estimates that Victor Frenkil, president of Baltimore Contractors Inc., made the offer. Frenkil's attorney immediately denied the charge.

State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro said he wanted to study the case as "thoroughly and expeditiously as possible" before saying whether Hughes' assertion would be turned over to the grand jury.

Hughes told the board that Frenkil had offered him the money to make a high bid on major alterations to Baltimore City Hospitals.

Three bids were received for the contract. Hughes' bid was $3,117,324; Piracci Construction Co. $2,997,000; Baltimore Contractors, Inc. $2,970,000.

Hughes' bid was thrown out because it was not accompanied by a certified check. The city refused the other two bids because they were too high.

The construction at the hospital involves a new infirmary wing and improvements to another wing.

Hughes then wrote a letter saying the bids were "arrived at by collusion." The board asked him to submit the evidence to back up his charges.

Hughes brought to the meeting a tape recording which he said was the recording of a telephone conversation with Frenkil describing the alleged transaction.

The board, however, would not permit him to play it on grounds that it constituted an illegal wiretap.

Max Sokol, representing Frenkil at the hearing, called Hughes' statements "a figment of the imagination" and the action of a disgruntled bidder.

Cops May Use Jeeps In Canada

MONTREAL, Oct. 18 (AP)—Montreal's motorcycle traffic police soon may switch to jeeps or small sports cars. City officials are studying both because they want to provide maximum comfort for traffic cops, said Pierre Desmairais, chairman of the Civic Executive Committee.

Harvest Blighted

MEDELLIN, Colombia, Oct. 18 (AP) — A blight is decimating Colombia's coffee plantations and may seriously reduce the national harvest this year.

Heading For Mission

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP) — Adm. Olavo Araujo is heading a Brazilian naval mission in Britain investigating possible purchase of surplus battleships from the Royal Navy.

1,323 Vehicles

TOKYO, Oct. 18 (AP) — Japan exported 1,323 motor vehicles in the first six months of 1956, the Auto Industry Assn. announced. Most were trucks and buses sent to Southeast Asia, the Middle East and South America.

Scientists Urge Study To Determine Effect Of H-Bomb Tests on Mankind

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18 (AP)—Twenty-four Washington University scientists, describing the outlook as alarming, today urged studies to determine what effect continued hydrogen bomb tests might have on mankind.

The scientists issued a statement saying the most important decisions on the nation's atomic policy during the past 14 years have been made "in a vaccum of public information."

They called for both parties to clearly state their positions on the issues raised by the proposal of Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, that America take the lead in trying to obtain an East-West agreement on halting further H-bomb tests.

The scientists, who said they were speaking as individuals, said "The tests already have burdened the upper atmosphere with radioactive materials which continue to fall on the earth, contaminate our food and become incorporated into human organs."

"There are at present insufficient data to permit an absolute conclusion on the danger in continued accumulation of such radioactivity to ourselves and to future generations," the statement said.

"The outlook is, however, alarming. The situation calls for intensive scientific study and public discussion."

The scientists said a technically valuable test of a superbomb could not escape detection by seismic or radiological monitoring. Thus the problem of universal inspection, on which atomic disarmament negotiations have stalled, they said "could be safely circumvented in the case of superweapons."

The Eisenhower administration has taken the position any ban on the tests must be a part of a comprehensive disarmament plan with adequate controls and safeguards.

Top administration officials have been directed by President Eisenhower to draft a new reply to Stevenson's comments on the possibility of ending H-bomb tests. The President believes, his press secretary said yesterday, Stevenson has made "incorrect statements" on the subject.

Dr. Condon, subject of charges and countercharges since 1948, is credited by some fellow scientists with shortening development of the H-bomb by one year.

Social Security Number Assigned To Cumberland

Cumberland's newest number is S-69-0520091, that being the identification number which has been assigned the city by the Social Security Administration.

Mayor Roy W. Eves received the information in a letter yesterday from Paul H. Fales, chief of the board of trustees, Employes Retirement System, Division of Social Security.

Fales' letter explained that he had been informed of the approval of the Mayor and Council for Social Security coverage by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The city, he said, has been designated as a coverage group and assigned the identifying number.

Mayor Eves stated that the city's next step will be to file wage receipts for the retroactive quarters of 1956, this being required under Social Security Administration regulations. The retroactive reports must be filed on or before December 10, the mayor said.

Due to the retroactive coverage, Mayor Eves pointed out the city must include in its first two reports those Health Department employes who formerly worked for the city but who have since been transferred to Allegany County.

A copy of the letter was sent to Gorman E. Getty Jr., attorney for the Board of Commissioners of Allegany County.

Accompanying the mayor's letter were forms for the reports for which the Social Security receipts are due, and a letter of instruction for complete and correct reporting.

OH, MY ACHING BACK

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with overexertion or stress and strain — you want relief — want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink — often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

For quick relief get Doan's Pills. They work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 2. by their soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by their mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Find out how quickly this 3-way medicine goes to work. Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. Ask for new, large size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

WM Railway Plagued By Car Shortage

The coal car shortage in the eastern railroads has hit the Western Maryland Railway again, it was learned yesterday.

The situation developed after the company was able to give the mines 100 per cent service the first three days of this week.

But only 50 per cent of the demand was on hand yesterday and as a result two big mines, the Ida Mae and Williams mines near Fairmont served by the Western Maryland, had to shut down the 7 a. m.-3 p. m. shift yesterday.

Joseph M. Miller, superintendent of the Elkins Division, said the mines were expected to go back to work on the second shift yesterday when cars were delivered.

Railroad officials feel that the car shortage will continue until cold weather when the Great Lakes shipping stops and when the strip mines are not able to work. The Great Lakes trade demands many hoppers for ore and coal.

The railroads of this section of the country are enjoying a big movement of coal traffic as the industry revives.

The Western Maryland Railway has enough coal cars to serve its trading area, but many get on other railroads and are held by those carriers instead of being returned.

Cumberland Thruway Deed Is Filed InCourt

The first deed for property needed for the Cumberland Thruway was filed for record last week in the land records office of the Clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The transaction by the State Roads Commission included the purchase of eight lots, two houses, a garage and a warehouse on Central Avenue, Marion and Monroe streets.

The parcel was purchased from the Hout Construction Company and stamps affixed to the deed indicated the transaction was completed for approximately $14,500.

The Thruway will start on Baltimore Pike and enter Cumberland on a location parallel to Central Avenue.

Green Associates, Baltimore engineering firm, has staked out the center line of the thruway through the heart of Cumberland.

The final design is being completed in the Baltimore offices of the engineering firm.

The Green Associates has the contract to design the Thruway from Baltimore pike to Johnson Street. This will include an overhead bridge over the southern part of the downtown business section.

The thruway will run from Baltimore Pike over Braddock Mountain to Route 40 near the Six Mile House.

GAR Dissolved By Court Order

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Grand Army of the Republic (GAR), formed by Union veterans of the Civil War, was dissolved here by Mississippi-born Judge Burnita S. Matthews.

Judge Matthews wrote the official end to the once-proud GAR by signing an order in Federal District Court.

She acted on a petition for dissolution presented by GAR attorneys, who noted the last member of the organization—Albert Woolson—died in August at the age of 109 in Duluth, Minn.

At its height the GAR numbered nearly a half million members.

The remaining property of the GAR—two flags, a quantity of badges and a gavel made from wood taken from Abraham Lincoln's home—is to be given to the Smithsonian Institution.

Wine Production Down In Germany

STUTGART, Germany, Oct. 18 (AP)—West Germany's wine production this year will be the worst in half a century, agricultural officials report. Bad weather has hit the wine industry in much of Europe. Germany expects nearly to double wine imports to meet demand.

Spanish Course Now Under Way

Central YMCA's So-Ed program got underway last week with the Spanish class meeting under leadership of A. Gonzales and L. R. Dehn, program secretary.

A $10 deposit is required for the class which meets Thursdays at 7:30 p. m. in Room 4 at the YMCA. There are eight vacancies in the class, it was pointed out. Those desiring to enroll should contact Dehn.

Enrolled are Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Schiller of Westernport; Mrs. J. G. Steele of Lonaconing; Miss Louise Wilson, Mrs. Thomas Beals, Miss Gertrude Clancey, Miss Dorothy Sand, Miss Ruth Hirsch, Kenneth Hopwood and Maurice Milberg, city.

Red Cross Blood Program Illustrated In Pamphlet

"BLOOD—A Community Responsibility" is the title of a statistics-packed booklet which is published by the American Red Cross and is being distributed throughout Cumberland and Allegany County as part of the RC educational program.

Mrs. George W. Legge, executive secretary of the county chapter of the Red Cross, said yesterday that the small booklets are being mailed to local doctors and dentists as well as lodges.

They also will be placed in the hands of public and parochial school children, as a number of them will be sent to the local institutions.

Also getting the booklet will be hospitals and the local public library. A number of them will be sent to Lonaconing and Westernport for distribution, according to Mrs. Legge.

Every minute, every day, over eight bottles of blood are used in this county to treat the ill and injured. This represents over four million bottles a year.

Other pertinent data in the booklet includes the story of the two million bottles of blood provided through the RC Blood Program, a nation-wide organization with a headquarters, four area offices and 49 regional blood centers licensed by the National Institute of Health.

Mrs. Legge said yesterday it is hoped that everyone will get a chance to read the little booklet and contact the local office at the Post Office to indicate they would like to give blood the next time the Bloodmobile Unit from Johnstown, Pa., comes to Cumberland.

The date is November 5—the place, the Eagles Home on North Mechanic Street—the time from noon until 6 p. m. and the quota, 150 pints.

5 Area Firemen To Attend Session

Five representatives of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association plan to attend the executive board meeting of the Maryland State Firemen's Association Sunday at 10 a. m. in Walkersville, near Frederick.

This is first such meeting since the convention during June. Representing the two-county association will be William A. Wilson, Midland, state treasurer; John Prichard, Frostburg, a member of the board of trustees; David Kirk of Barton, member of the executive board; Joseph Stuckey, Corriganville, chairman of the topics and statistical committee; and Cromwell Zembower, LaVale, past state president.

RETURNS TO DUTY — Airman 2C William M. Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Weber, LaVale, left for St. Albans, Vt., Wednesday for a new assignment after spending a 10-day furlough with his parents. A graduate of Allegany High School, he attended the University of Maryland for three years and after entering the service completed an electronics course at Keesler AFB, Miss. He received basic training at Sampson AFB, N. Y.

Eight Area Men Enlist In Army

Eight area men enlisted this week in the United States Army, according to M/Sgt. Virgil Smith.

Luther K. Reed, New Creek; Brady E. Stonestreet, Keyser; Otis C. Apple, Little Orleans; Charles Edward Nield, Grand Avenue, and James W. Wigger, 716 North Centre Street, enlisted for three years in the Regular Army, unassigned.

John Thomas Chambers, Mt. Savage, a graduate of Mt. Savage High School and a former student at Frostburg State Teachers College, enlisted for three years in the Army's electronic school. He will train at Fort Jackson and then will be sent to Fort Bliss.

Robert Brokey, Bedford Road, and Ernest E. Keplinger, Keyser, each enlisted for three years in the Army Signal Corps.

Style Show And Card Party To Be Held Nov. 9

A Halloween party for the student body and a public card party and style show were planned by the Ursuline Academy Auxiliary at the meeting Wednesday evening. Mrs. Van Parsons presided and asked for help in wrapping packages for the fish pond, and decorating the booth for the children's bazar October 29.

The Halloween party will be in the form of a square dance October 24 in the parish hall.

Proceeds from the style show, by the Jack and Jill Shop, and the card party, sponsored by the auxiliary, will be used for the senior class. Mrs. James Wheeler is chairman of the affair, which will be held November 9 in the parish hall.

Concluding the meeting, refreshments were served by the senior class mothers.

Deaths And Funerals

MRS. ELIZABETH HOCKMAN

GRANTSVILLE — Mrs. Elizabeth Hockman, 82, died suddenly Wednesday at her home here.

Lutherans Drop Rigid Rule Against Second Marriages

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 17 (AP)—The United Lutheran Church has now abolished its long standing rigid rule against second marriages and adopted a more flexible approach hinged on spiritual reform.

As for divorce, whatever the circumstances, the church bluntly called it sinful and a violation of "God's order."

But the denomination's convention, representing America's largest Lutheran body, declared that persons should get another chance at marriage if their heart is right.

Acting after long—and sometimes deeply theological — argument, delegates overwhelmingly voted out the old rule approving remarriage only for the "innocent party" to divorce granted for adultery or desertion.

The new policy sets detailed requirements for remarriage including innerreform, repentance for the guilt of the past divorce, meeting obligations to the ex-partner, and a Christian attitude toward the new marriage.

The statement, adopted "for guidance" of pastors and congregations, also approves birth control and the planning of the size of families in accordance with ability to provide.

The convention earlier ground out a great boost in the church budget—a 100 per cent jump in one year.

It provides for a special 15-million-dollar outlay in 1958, double the preceding year's budget. Other features proposed would keep the figure up to 10 million for 1959.

It will cost each adult member, said. Dr. Chauncey Bly, a Prairie Village, Kan., physician, only 8 cents a day—"none of it is ours," he said. "All we have belongs to the Lord. We are only tenant farmers."

In charting the big budget rise, widespread fields of church growth and needs were cited—a new missionary school, soaring enrollments in 13 church colleges, two new hospitals going up, 100 congregations going for two years without church buildings.

THOMAS RALEY

GRANTSVILLE — Thomas Raley, 69, of Addison, Pa., died Monday in University Hospital, Pittsburgh, after a long illness.

Mr. Raley, a veteran of World War I and a farmer, was born in Garrett County February 6, 1887, a son of the late Edward and Drucilla (Hutzel) Raley.

Survivors include five sons, Robert and Everett Raley, of Baltimore; Cecil Raley, with the Army in Germany; Thomas Raley, of Cresaptown, and Melvin Raley, with the Navy in Italy; two daughters, Mrs. Patsy Young, Baltimore, and Mrs. Vivian Snowberger, of Waynesboro, Pa., and four brothers, Milton Raley, of Finzel; Ezra Raley, of Cresaptown; William Raley, of Rawlings, and Charles Raley, of Pocohontas, Pa., and six grandchildren.

He was also a member of New Germany Methodist Church. The body is at the Newman Funeral Home here where services will be conducted today at 2:30 p. m. with the Rev. Edgar Suite, pastor of the New Germany Church, officiating.

Farrady Post, American Legion, Frostburg, will conduct military services at the grave in the church cemetery.

Late Rally Led By Steels Helps Stock Market Rise

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—A late rally led by steels, coppers and some rails gave the stock market its first rise of the week today.

Advances running to around 2 points or so were made by key stocks.

The Associated Press Average of 60 stocks rose 90 cents to $179.49 with the industrials up $1.40, the rails up $1.50 and the utilities unchanged.

Of 1,096 issues traded, advances outnumbered declines by 447 to 370. There were 31 new lows for the year against 10 new highs.

Volume totaled 1,640,000 shares, about the same as yesterday.

The most active stock was Georgia-Pacific Corp., for the second straight day, closing off ½ at 31½ on 31,200 shares. Second was General Motors, unchanged at 47¼ on 25,700 shares. Third was Columbia Gas, unchanged at 17 on 25,400.

Next came Monterey Oil, off ⅜ at 32¼ and United Dye and Chemical, up ⅛ at 9.

Eight of the 15 most active stocks advanced.

Bethlehem Steel, which reports on its third quarter earnings a week from today, was once again the object of stock split rumors. Heavily traded, it rose a point to 168.

U.S. Steel also enjoyed active turnover and gained 1¼. Republic Steel and Youngstown each picked up ½.

Rumors of increased dividends and yearend extras were bruited about on a number of rails. New York Central gained 1⅛, Chesapeake & Ohio 1, Southern Railway and Baltimore & Ohio ⅞ apiece.

Among gainers were Johns-Manville 1⅝, U.S. Gypsum 1¾, Goodyear ¾, United Aircraft 1¾, America Telephone ½ and American Airlines ¾.

Losses were taken by Gulf Oil, Ford, Sears Roebuck, Alcoa, International Nickel, Texaco and Schenley.

The American Stock Exchange was irregular on volume of 550,000 shares compared with 620,000 yesterday. Losers included Catalin, Hazeltine and Kaiser Industries. Gainers included Standard Oil of Kentucky, Barium Steel and New Jersey Zinc

Palo Alto Evangelical Church Plans Homecoming

Palo Alto Evangelical United Brethren Church, located between Ellerslie and Hyndman, will observe Homecoming Day Sunday, October 28, according to Rev. Harvey L. Williams, pastor.

The date was established by the Church Council, the pastor explained, so that members and friends can view extensive improvements and redecoration of the church interior which have only recently been completed. The homecoming service will feature the dedication of new pews, Rev. Williams said.

Services scheduled for that day will be held at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 and 7:30 p. m., while Sunday School will be held at 9:30 a. m.

Chairmen selected for the program include Mrs. Goldie Emerick, music committee; Mrs. Mae Cook, historical committee, and Mrs. Harry Cook, invitations.

Palo Alto Church was begin in 1872 with services being held in the home of Rev. Jacob Fichtner. The services were continued in his home until 1880 when the present church was built on a plot of ground donated by the Lowery family. Cost of construction was $700, church records reveal.

Rev. L. I. Baumgardner was the first pastor of the newly-constructed church and others since then have been Rev. W. P. Saylor, Rev. F. Bone, Rev. J. A. Smith, Rev. Jacob Smith, Rev. W. A. Rininger, Rev. W. F. Shannon, Rev. F. W. Bartlett, Rev. A. B. Day, Rev. W. Houpt and Rev. D. S. Poling. The church is part of the Hyndman EUB Circuit

Independent Voter Still As Imponderable As Ever

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP NEWS ANALYST

In a political campaign which is stirring a little excitement, some political prognosticators are beginning to wonder if the perennial imponderables, the independents and the new voters, may not be more imponderable than ever.

For one thing, a great new force of voters became independent, at least for the moment, in 1952, being pulled away from the Democratic party by Eisenhower. How many of them will settle back into the Democratic groove this year, or later?

Is there a tendency, as some have professed to perceive in recent years, for new and younger voters to ignore traditional family voting lines more frequently than their fathers did?

Are these younger voters more jealous of their political prerogatives, more inclined to make up their minds and go to the polls, thus creating a new force to replace their elders as the latter become apathetic?

Fifteen and 20 years ago there was a strong trend of younger voters to the Democratic party. For one thing, the depression administrations of Franklin Roosevelt had placed great emphasis on aid to youth, in the made-work projects, the CCC camps and in the cultural pursuits. Young teachers were assigned to educational research projects, and then went on to teach. The idea that the Democratic party was the party for liberal youth snowballed.

Then, with long tenure, conservative forces began to be more and more prominent in the Democratic party. Younger and more liberal leaders began to attract attention in the Republican party.

Whether this, coupled with the Eisenhower popularity, has had any lasting effect on voting habits is a question which not even next month's voting will answer fully. If no fundamental change has taken place, some evidence may be shown in better Democratic totals, but if there has been a change, voting for new reasons will be so mixed up with the Eisenhower popularity vote that no dependable conclusions can be drawn.

There is no telling whether this year there is a broad cross-section of apathy, or whether there is less interest among certain classes of eligible voters. The apathy about which everyone is talking actually, at this point, is a feeling rather than a fact, since registration figures as compared with population increases are by no means complete.

If low registration is produced by pro-Eisenhower forces who feel he can coast in, he is in trouble. The danger of this may be responsible for his constantly increasing campaign activity.

If it is produced by fatalism among Democrats, then no general trends in American voting habits will be discernible for four more years.

It does seem, however, that political slogans and tricky, synthetic issues are losing some of their old-time appeal. And it does seem natural that, as the left-right distances between the two parties become less distinguishible, there should be more voters crossing back and forth on the basis of the candidates and issues of specific years.

Police Are Tired Of Getting Bumped

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (AP)—Police tired of having the rear ends of their cruisers stove in by unwary motorists, ordered:

1. Flashing red lights for cruiser roofs.

2. The word "police" in 5-inch high reflectorized letters for the rear of patrol cars.

Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron noted there has been an "unusual number" of accidents in which private vehicles rammed stopped police cars.

Operation Survival

BRAZZAVILLE, French Equatorial Africa, Oct. 18 (AP)—Eleven French parachute troopers began "operation survival" in the wilds of Gabon jungle Tuesday.

For 12 days they must subsist on jungle fruit and whatever they can catch by hunting and fishing.

Episcopal Rector Quits To Fight Reds

By HERMAN R. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — With a shoestring high on his list of total assets, the Rev. Charles Wesley Lowry resigned a well-to-do Episcopal parish three years ago to make battle against communism.

At first the Foundation for Religious Action in the Social and Civil Order (Frasco) which he founded with the Rev. Edward L. R. Elson, President Eisenhower's Presbyterian pastor, as co-chairman, confined itself to a high-level approach.

Top businessmen, labor leaders, educators, churchmen of all major faiths — Catholic, Protestant, Jewish and Eastern Orthodox — were invited to conferences to discuss how religious faith and principles could be set against communism, which Lowry sees as most dangerous in its appeal as a gospel and creed.

But this fall Frasco, by now firmly established, turned to the target which it realizes it must bull's-eye if it is to succeed in any real way—the nation's students.

On Sept. 7, with the endorsement of President Eisenhower, Frasco announced a plan for a Committee on American Education and Communism. William Yandell Elliott, director of Harvard University summer school, was named chairman of an organizing committee to be expanded into a national committee of 50 or 60.

The committee's aim is to get courses about communism—what it is, how it compared with Western principles — installed in high schools, colleges and adult education programs.

Already assurances of support have come from many organizations.

Eisenhower, in a telegram to Lowry at the committee's organizing meeting, noted: "The competition for men's minds begins when they are students. This is when they must be taught to . . . discriminate between the American form of government and the Soviet Form. When they have all the facts, I am confident they will make the correct choice."

Specifically the committee proposes:

1. A survey of instruction on communism in high schools, colleges and adult programs.

2. Preparation of educational material on communism at these levels and for teachers' workshops.

3. Pilot programs in selected schools and colleges.

4. Pilot workshops for high school social science teachers.

Another Approach To Mental Illness

Do you "see red" when you're "mad"? Do you think any "red-blooded" man would react the same way? Perhaps you don't know how right you are.

A scientist has stumbled on a blood test for madness. (Madness in its proper sense of mental illness, that is.) And the redder the blood is when it's tested, the madder the person being tested is.

The scientist is 26-year-old Dr. Stig Akerfeldt, biochemist working on enzymes in Stockholm. He found that if a certain reagent is added to the blood serum of a mentally ill person, the straw-colored serum turns red within six minutes. If the patient's mental illness is mild, it turns a mild red; if the illness is severe, it turns a darker shade of red. If he's no madder than the average person outside mental institutions, it doesn't turn red at all.

Here is one more indication that the field of enzymes is enormously promising for medical and physiological research. Enzymes formerly were defined as mysterious substances in the blood whose presence triggered certain beneficial or harmful chemical reactions without being changed themselves.

Today it is known that an enzyme actually is changed—it undergoes a whole cycle of reactions, and the reason it seems unchanged is that at the end of the cycle it returns to its original molecular form. Vitamins and hormones offer examples.

It had been known for quite a while that persons who are mentally ill have an imbalance of enzymes in the blood serum — too much of some, too little or none of others. Whatever the ultimate cause of mental illness—and that cause doesn't seem to be purely material—it causes or is caused by or is associated with chemical changes in the body. When more is learned about what those changes are, it may be possible to cure or treat or even prevent mental illness by chemical means.

The present discovery, if Dr. Akerfeldt's results stand up, can be used in diagnosis but its greatest potential value is in treatment. Today only subjective methods are available to tell whether patient X has improved or gotten worse in the last month.

Japan's Population

The population of the world is increasing by leaps and bounds despite wars, famines, droughts, epidemics and the insane politics of so-called statesmen. Apparently the moon is bright and boys meet girls despite the misfortunes of our times. Japan, which is only 20 per cent arable, has announced that it now has a population of more than 90,000,000 and has reached a density of 243 persons per square kilometer, which is the third densest in all this world. This constantly increasing population in a land which is short of foodstuffs and raw materials raises a serious political problem for Asia and for the world.

In the 1920s, when Japan's population was in the 60,000,000s, the hope of the Japanese was that they could either expand on to the mainland of Asia, preferably in Manchuria, or settle in what then were called the South Sea Islands. It was principally the United States that kept Japan from conquering China only to open the way for Soviet Russia to take every part of Asia that Japan coveted.

In her effort to solve this population problem and to find readier accesses to food and raw materials, Japan, by 1931, became involved in a series of wars with China and expansionist efforts in Asia which ended in disastrous defeat and the reduction of Japan from the primary nation of Asia to an unfortunate ward of General Douglas MacArthur and now is uncertain as to the course to follow.

Nevertheless, the population of Japan increases and the Japanese have no place to go. It is now assumed that by 1970, the Japanese population will reach 100,000,000. Realistically, Japan is committing suicide by having a population beyond its capacity to feed them or to produce raw materials for her industries. If Japan cannot export manufactured goods, Japan cannot import foodstuffs. If Japan has inadequate food supplies, there will be food riots and possibly a revolution.

Other countries have faced this problem. Italy has, in recent years, been able to export population to the United States, the Argentine, North Africa and Southern France, as Germany did in the earlier years of the 19th Century to the United States. The Japanese have encountered resistance in the United States and in most Latin American countries on racial grounds. Such resistance produced the California Land Laws and the incarceration of American-born citizens of Japanese descent in concentration camps during World War II —as disgraceful an act as this country has ever been guilty of. There is no indication that such racial resistance has lessened in recent years sufficiently to make large scale emigration possible.

The real danger in this situation is that the Japanese will be forced by historic and geographical logic to join the Soviet bloc of Asiatic countries. In this way, Korea, Manchuria and Mongolia will again be opened to the Japanese who will not only have easy access to foodstuffs and raw materials, but also to under-populated areas to which to send their surplus people as well as their manufactured goods. Manchuria produces wheat and soy beans which the Japanese require.

While such a relationship could relieve the immediate population pressure, it would undoubtedly change Japan's social system and ultimately imperil Japan's independence. For obviously, in time, much of the Japanese population, on the mainland, would be absorbed by the Chinese who set up no racial resistances except as regards Europeans and even that form of resistance has been weakening over the years because it was more political than emotional. The Chinese Communists have made marked advances toward the Japanese and when a Russo-Japanese treaty is signed, such advances will become sharper and more profitable to Japan.

Just Leaning, Not Running

Oil Billionaires Battle Millionaires Over California Oil Conservation

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES—Here in California is being waged the battle of the titans. It's the millionaires against the billionaires. And it has aroused almost as much attention as the battle between Ike and Adlai.

It's a statewide vote on Point 4 to adopt a new oil conservation plan to keep California's vast, but fast dwindling oil reserves from being further squandered. Though it's a state battle, it has national repercussions: first, because other oil states face the same conservation problem but even more important because it continues the same pattern used by the oil and gas companies to get what they want—namely, to buy up the Legislature, the Congress or the electorate.

In the case of the Natural Gas Bill in Washington last winter, the gas-oil mogus tried to buy up the Congress.

In California for years they have bought up the Legislature. And right now they're trying to buy up the California electorate. Never in the history of California have newsmen seen the state deluged with so many handouts, billboards, TV plugs, blasts and counterblasts all aimed at influencing the voting public.

A total of $985,000 is officially listed by the billionaires, the big oil companies, as spent to put across their conservation plan. How much has been spent beyond the official listing is of course not known.

A total of $575,000 is listed by the millionaires, the independent oil companies, to block the conservation plan of the billionaires.

Unquestionably California needs oil conservation. Ten years ago it produced all the oil it needed. Today it produces 70 per cent of what it needs. If oil isn't conserved, California will be forced to buy more and more from Arabia.

But the big question is: Should California have a conservation law rammed down its throat by the greatest propaganda machine ever seen in the state; and if the law passes can it ever be changed? The power of oil-company millions is such that change is difficult.

In the present battle of the billionaires vs. the millionaires the people of California are at least able to watch two groups of oil companies battle it out. They are fortunate enough to be on the sidelines, acting as referee.

The reason they are able to act as referee, however, is in itself a sad commentary on present legislative methods. For the California Legislature is so tightly controlled by the independent oil companies—the millionaires—that no oil-conservation law could pass. That's why the big companies—the billionaires—went to the people with a referendum.

The California Legislature is controlled by Harold Morton, attorney for Howard Keck and Superior Oil. Morton is one of the most astute lawyers in California, with his son-in-law, Joe Shell, vice chairman of the Assembly Oil Committee and perhaps the next speaker of the California Assembly.

H. B. Keck is the same tycoon whose representatives offered $2,500 to Senator Case of South Dakota during the natural-gas debate. He is also the same Keck who gave $5,000 to President Eisenhower's dinner committee during the gas debate. Senator Case returned the $2,500, but Eisenhower forces did not return the $5,000. Superior Oil has since been indicted by Brownell's Justice Department, though Keck, who put up the money for both Case and the Ike committee, was permitted by Brownell to go unscathed.

His Superior Oil Company is now leading the drive against California's Point 4 Plan, the common name for conservation. With Keck are 170 independents, including Signal Oil, Universal Consolidated, and one major, Union Oil. Union is the company formerly run by Herbert Hoover Jr., now undersecretary of state. Union is largely owned by Gulf which imports much of its oil from Saudi Arabia and the Gulf of Persia, which may account for Hoover's consistent stand against Israel and for the Arab nations during State Department policy meetings.

On the side of the billionaires are eight big majors—Standard Oil of California, Richfield Oil, Shell, Tidewater Associated, General Petroleum, Ohio Oil, Continental Oil and The Texas Co.

Of vital interest to the American public outside of California is the way these oil companies throw money around from the privileged position of their 27½ per cent oil-depletion allowance.

No industry in America is so favored by the tax laws, thanks to the generosity of Speaker Sam Rayburn and the potent Texans who dominate the key committees of Congress. And no industry has been more wanton in bribing legislatures, trying to bribe Congress and trying to influence public opinion—all with money allowed them as a result of this privileged tax position.

Here is some of the money being thrown right and left through advertising firms and public relations experts to influence the people of California regarding Point 4.

Standard Oil of California has spent $279,120 through the public relations firm of Whitaker and Baxter. This is a Rockefeller-dominated company and when Ralph Davies, on loan to the War Petroleum Board, tried to return to his old job, the Rockefellers barred him. The Rockefeller family contributed $150,000 to Eisenhower in 1952.

Shell Oil has spent $187,414 with Whitaker and Baxter. This company also spent $138,000 for a so-called "educational fund" to get Congress to pass the Natural Gas Act, and then deducted this as a business expense. Shell also paid for a huge triumphal arch in Cairo hailing Colonel Nasser as the hero of Egypt, despite Nasser's current hostility to the west.

Other contributions by the billionaires are Richfield, $202,095; General Petroleum, $109,000; Texas Co., $85,981; Tidewater Associated, $87,570; Continental Oil, $26,190; Ohio Oil, $8,100.

What the battle in California points to is a thorough investigation of all the oil companies and the manner in which they are using their privileged tax position to buy up legislatures and warp public opinion. More on the oil lobby and its far-reaching influence on the U. S. A. will follow shortly.

Joe Clark Is Democratic Hope In Pennsylvania

By Joseph Alsop

PHILADELPHIA

If the Democrats carry Pennsylvania for Adlai Stevenson, which is now their central hope, the very least they can do is to erect a grateful, commemorative statue of Joseph S. Clark Jr. in one of this city's pleasant, shady squares.

With a professionally trained companion, John Kraft, this reporter has just finished an arduous round of door to door polling in the old 25th Ward. The experience was rich and interesting in many ways. But the overwhelming single impression that it left behind was an impression of the far-reaching character of the political revolution that Joe Clark has affected here with the help of his successor in the Philadelphia mayor's office, Richardson Dilworth.

Joe Clark Democrat

Back in 1951, decades after most other big cities had gone over to the Democrats, Clark finally drove out Philadelphia's ancient, squalid and deeply entrenched Republican machine. He then began the job — as one simple Negro woman described it — "of pulling this here city right up out of the dumps."

One result of Clark's success is a political phenomenon wholly novel in this reporter's experience. Everyone who has attempted door-to-door polling is familiar with the Franklin Roosevelt Democrats — the people who tell you, "we were always Republicans until FDR came along, but we've been good Democrats ever since." But in the 25th Ward we actually found considerable numbers of Joe Clark Democrats — people who had changed their party allegiance only five or six years ago because of Clark.

Without these Joe Clark Democrats, Adlai Stevenson could not have carried Philadelphia by 160,000 votes four years ago; and he would have little hope today of carrying Philadelphia by a sufficient majority to put all of Pennsylvania in the Democratic column. Judging by the 25th Ward, however, Stevenson now has that hope. At any rate, the Pennsylvania race looks like being pretty close.

Yet Clark may not need a bronze image to betoken the gratitude of his party, either. The responses of the 25th Ward voters also indicate that Clark's own Philadelphia majority ought to elect him to the Senate seat he is now seeking. He is running far ahead of Adlai Stevenson in this city, and therefore he is really snowing under his Republican opponent, Sen. James Duff.

Indeed, there is a strong spirit of picking and choosing in the 25th Ward nowadays, which was perhaps best symbolized, in an extreme form, by Morris Stein. Stein who runs a corner drugstore at 2824 Frankford Avenue, was positively vitriolic about President Eisenhower, who he blamed for the current hard plight of small businessmen like himself. He was equally vitriolic about Adlai Stevenson, whose campaigning had "disgusted" him.

"I'll not vote for either of the damn thieves," Stein snorted. "But I'll go to the polls just to vote for Joe Clark, the best mayor this city ever had."

But besides this strong sentiment for Joe Clark, we got other interesting results in the 25th Ward, which is a solid, stolid, shabby but somehow homely working class district bordering on the Reading Railroad yards. In the endless, gray streets of small, old houses many people own their own homes, and a fair number are still Republicans despite Joe Clark. The 25th Ward gave Eisenhower 6,892 votes against 10,493 for Adlai Stevenson four years ago. This was a good Republican showing in such a district.

Today, several pulls are visibly at work on the 25th Ward voters as they approach their choice for the presidency. Other small merchants are angry with the President as Morris Stein, but the others we talked to were now ready to vote for Stevenson. A significant percentage of working class families who chose Eisenhower last time are also thinking like Mrs. Wanda Mishak, of 2008 Hartlane Street.

"Bothered" By Nixon

"My husband and I are back and forth about it, but I guess we're going to vote Democratic, even though we're not sorry we picked Ike four years ago," Mrs. Mishak said. "Ike's a good man, but there's Nixon; he bothers us. And then we think the Democratic party's more on the side of folks like us."

Yet there are other 25th Ward people like Walter Daniels, a young bakery-worker of 2959 Memphis Street. He voted Democratic in 1952 but now thinks "things are going too good to change presidents."

Over-all, therefore, our poll of 128 persons in the ward indicated that Stevenson was doing only a hair better than holding his own so far — although there were others beside Morris Stein who did not like Stevenson's campaigning.

The Democrats allege that if Stevenson does well in Philadelphia, he will carry Pennsylvania by a small margin. But that theory also depends on what happens in the rest of the state.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Nothing in this campaign approximates the glorious capers of the Hank Wallace period. Period.

In a land flowing with milk and honey Hank promised to plug the leaks.

But it turned out that Hank's plenty meant plenty of Hank.

Lot of voters were embezzled by the smile you get by sleeping with a glove-stretcher in your mouth.

His theory of leading us out of the wilderness was to chop down all the trees. Every time you got a steak you lost a cow on the crossing.

Fortunately the voter knows you cannot get more out of a barrel than you put into it.

But Hank was sufficient to the day thereof and quit the 1947 tournament after a nesting Texan chucked an egg at him.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

THE HAGUE—There is a very apparent shortage of glamour girls in this part of Holland. I haven't seen a smart looker yet. I always check on the beauty of the feminine population of a newly visited city. This, of course, is in the interest of any of our bachelor subscribers who may visit the city referred to. However, this is not the final report. I will check the shopping section this afternoon, the racetrack tomorrow and later in the week the dance halls and night clubs.

SIDELIGHTS

Housing shortage is so acute in Rotterdam that thousands of people live on houseboats docked at the side of canals . . . A Hollander never leaves his house without his raincoat. Showers come up suddenly and without much warning. The Dutch don't care to be bothered with umbrellas . . . The trolley cars in Rotterdam and The Hague have both motormen and conductors, but the buses are one-man operated. And always packed.

ASIDES

There are flowers everywhere you go here. A flower stand on practically every corner. For 25 cents you can get all the flowers you can carry . . . In one of the parks in The Hague the deer run wild. That is, they are not fenced in . . . The money unit in Holland is the guilder. It is worth 26 cents in United States currency. The Dutch money is easy to understand. In my opinion, the most complicated of foreign money is the British currency.

PLEASE NOTE

Desiderius Erasmus was born in Rotterdam. The oldest public high school in the United States, Erasmus Hall High School of Brooklyn, is named in his honor. Incidentally, more graduates of Erasmus Hall High School have become film stars than those of any other high school in the United States Hollywood High School is not excepted.

CIGARS

The Hollanders are great cigar smokers. The Dutch cigars are made of Sumatra tobacco. I have tried a few. I have not been able to cultivate a taste for them. I always try the cigars of every country I visit. I even made a valiant effort to smoke Italian cigars. Not only that, I gave French cigars a trial. I am very courageous that way.

ASIDES

No gifts are exchanged in Holland on Christmas Day. The occasion for exchanging gifts by the Dutch is on St. Nicholas Day, December fifth . . . There are no Sunday newspapers in Holland. It is against the law to print a newspaper on the Sabbath. Monday newspapers can't start printing until after midnight Sunday.

DRINKS

The favorite drinks of the Dutch are beer and gin. Or perhaps I should have said gin and beer. The Hollanders really go for that Dutch type gin. They drink it by the jug. They handle it very well. After consuming a jug of gin a Hollander is not inebriated. Only a little gay.

HEALTH

The Netherlands are a very healthy country. It has the lowest mortality rate in Europe. It is claimed this is because of the climate. I think it is due to the exercise the Hollanders get riding bicycles. I am going to rent a bicycle tomorrow and ride out to Scheveningen. I was quite a bike rider in my youth. I used to ride one from our home in Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, to high school in the Bedford section of the beautiful borough across the bridge. Also was a regular rider on the bicycle path from Prospect Park to Coney Island.

TRAFFIC

The traffic adheres to the right in Holland just as in the United States. The race horses also run the same way as in the U. S. A. I just put that last sentence in for the benefit of that blonde who once exclaimed at a cocktail party: "No matter what subject you discuss Ed Durling will get a horse into it."

Doctors Doubtful Of Genetic Origin Of Obesity

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Why do some people have such a good appetite? This is a moot question, to which numerous theoretical answers have been given. These theories have followed various types of research. For example when a certain part of the brain of animals is destroyed they develop enormous appetites and terrific weight gains. These experiments led some scientists to believe that the brain has an appetite control center.

Heredity enters the picture in obesity but most of the convincing evidence comes from the laboratory rather than from humans. There is a strain of mice that follows the genetic laws to the letter.

Several years ago a report appeared on research done with human beings. It said that when both parents were fat, 80 per cent of the offspring followed suit. When one parent was overweight, 40 percent of the progeny were chubby. To my knowledge no similar study has been done on adopted children.

Such research might solve the hereditary angle, but as of now, physicians are doubtful about the genetic origin of obesity. They believe the children of the stout gain weight because they are exposed to the good eating habits of their parents.

The psychological aspects of appetite also enter the picture and psychiatrists have made many studies along this line. They find that some chunky men and women are overly dependent upon their mother or overeat because of a basic anxiety about bodily security. A few instances of portliness have been traced to surgery during puberty. The mother attempts to keep the youngster inactive during his recuperative period by bribing him with ice cream and other goodies.

The low caloric diet continues to be the best remedy for overweight. Drugs that discourage eating are useful provided they do not affect health. Dexedrine, the most popular appetite depressant, is recommended for the phlegmatic, lazy, or sluggish but not the jittery or apprehensive person. Occasionally the product backfires by increasing appetite, especially when it enhances the feeling of well-being.

Exercise helps but it takes a lot to do any good. A 2½-mile walk would be needed to work off the number of calories contained in one slice of bread. The best strategy is to set a goal such as a 20-pound reduction, and remain on the diet until this figure is reached.

TOMORROW: Poisoners on the loose.

MIDDLE-AGED DEAFNESS

C. T. writes: What is the most common cause of deafness? I'm only 37 and can't hear conversation or TV when it is low.

REPLY

At your age, otosclerosis is the most common cause of loss of hearing. This is a progressive type of deafness for which a hearing aid or the fenestration or mobilization operation is advised.

COFFEE AND SLEEP

M. C. W. writes: Does a lot of coffee during the day make restless sleep at night?

REPLY

The effect of coffee is an individual problem but most of us will develop insomnia if we consume too much.

DEVIATED SEPTUM

T. F. writes: What are the symptoms of a deviated septum?

REPLY

There may be none, but marked deviation usually encroaches upon and leads to narrowing of the nasal passageways on one side.

GENERAL EXERCISES

M. W. writes: Are there any special exercises that are helpful in constipation?

REPLY

No specific exercises, although constipation often is relieved by improving the tone of the abdominal muscles through swimming, calisthenics, and the daily dozen.

LID FLUTTERING

C. P. writes: What causes the eyelids to flutter several times a day?

REPLY

Barring flirtatiousness, irritability of the muscles is the most common origin of lid fluttering. Irritability may result from too much coffee, tea, or tobacco, or infection in a neighboring sinus or tooth. Occasionally hysteria is responsible.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

It was bound to happen sooner or later. Jimmy Durante met a girl whose nose was even bigger than his. "It's meant a fortune to me," said Jimmy, "but I imagine it's a cause of some embarrassment to you. Why don't you get it fixed?"

The girl wailed, "You don't understand, Mr. Durante. I've already had it fixed."

In a Welsh hotel, Publisher Norton once noticed the words "TAM HTAB" inscribed on a mat. "An old Welsh expression meaning 'welcome'?" he asked the bellboy. "Not quite," was the reply. "That's 'bath mat' upside down."

The fifth grade at Town School was taken to hear its first orchestra concert. On the way home the teacher asked one scholar, "Did you prefer the strings or the brasses?" The scholar answered, "The one I liked best was the harpoonist."

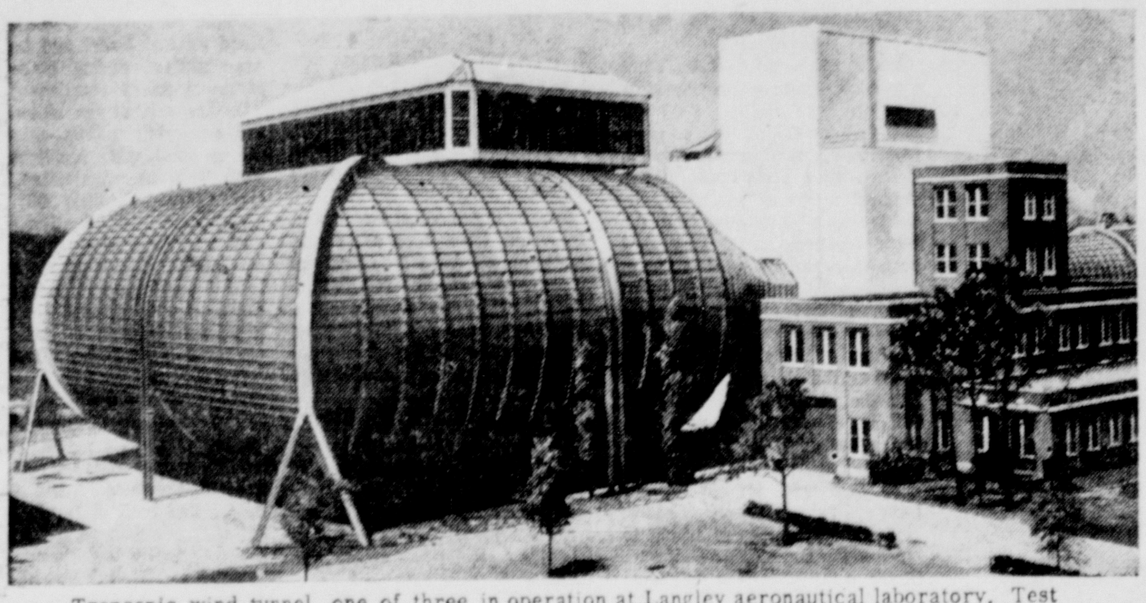
U.S. AVIATION'S FRONT LINE



Transonic wind tunnel, one of three in operation at Langley aeronautical laboratory. Test section is located in white structure. Front brick building houses offices and shops.

The Langley Laboratory of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, located on the historic Virginia Peninsula, near Newport News, has been in the forefront of aviation's march toward maturity for the past four decades.

The first and largest NACA laboratory, spread over some 700 acres, houses some of the most modern facilities in the world, including 40 major wind tunnels and laboratories and a dozen large shops and other service structures representing a total investment of 100 million dollars.

The research center is named for Samuel Pierpont Langley, aviation pioneer, physicist and inventor, who flew the first plane off an "aircraft carrier," a houseboat in the Potomac, in 1903. Even though it quickly dropped in the water, the Navy years later named the first combat carrier after him.

At the center, a staff of 3,200 scientists, engineers, modelmakers and other personnel conduct aeronautical research in all speed ranges, with considerable attention presently being given to such subjects as aerodynamic heating, stability, and other problems associated with the development of high-speed aircraft and intercontinental missiles.

The NACA does not design or build airplanes. The end product of all the vast testing and experimental effort is information which is published by the NACA in technical reports and distributed to airplane designers, manufacturers, the military services and others having a legitimate interest. As an indication of the progress made on speed in the past 40 years, Langley scientists are now writing reports, most of them confidential, on aerodynamic investigations ranging from low speed to more than ten times the speed of sound — 7,600 miles an hour at sea level.

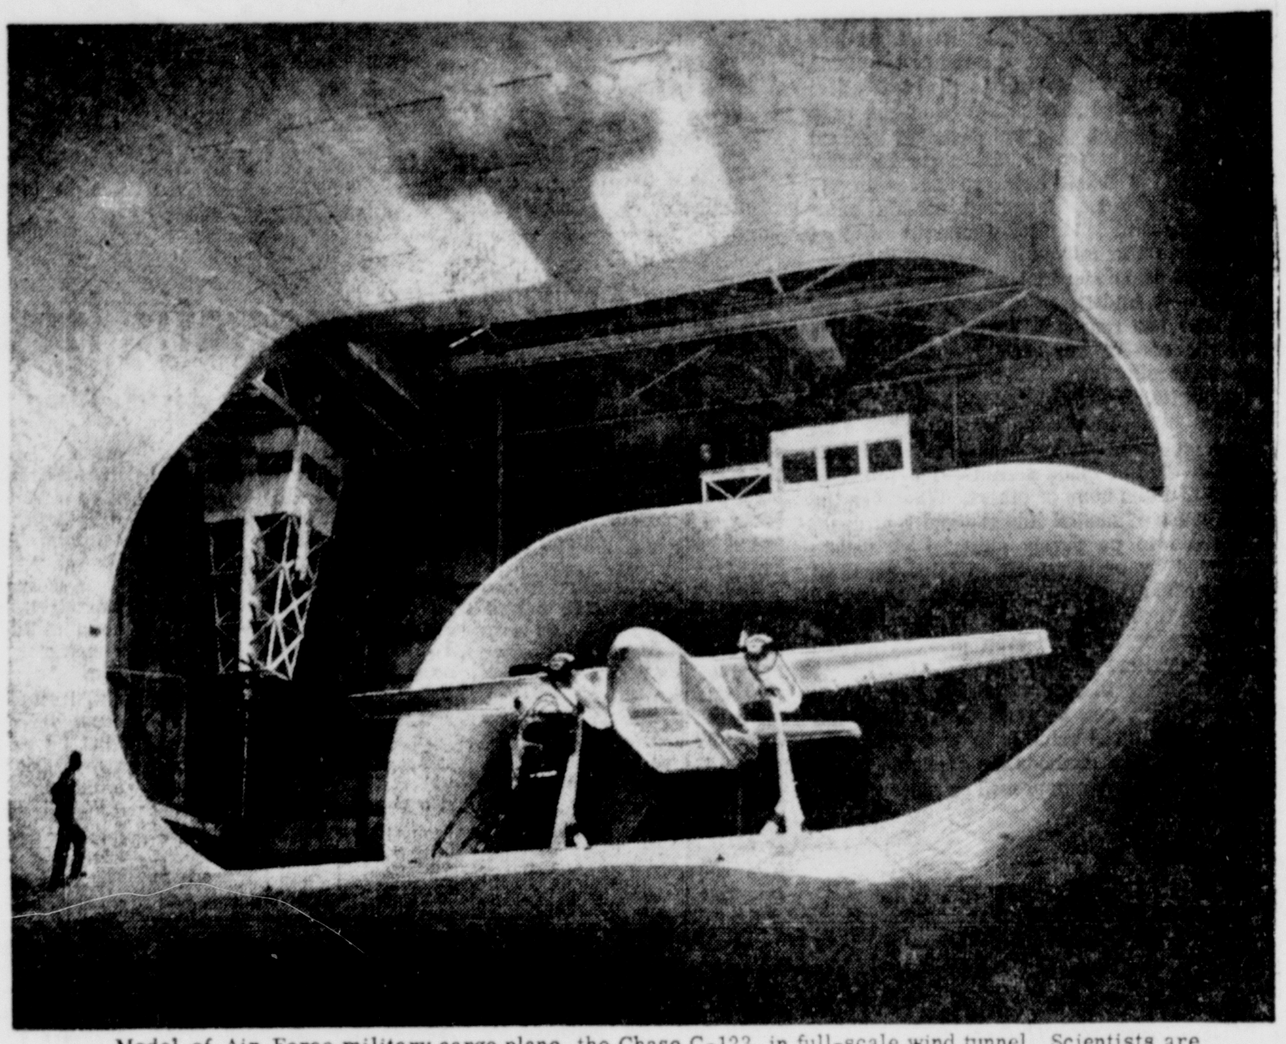
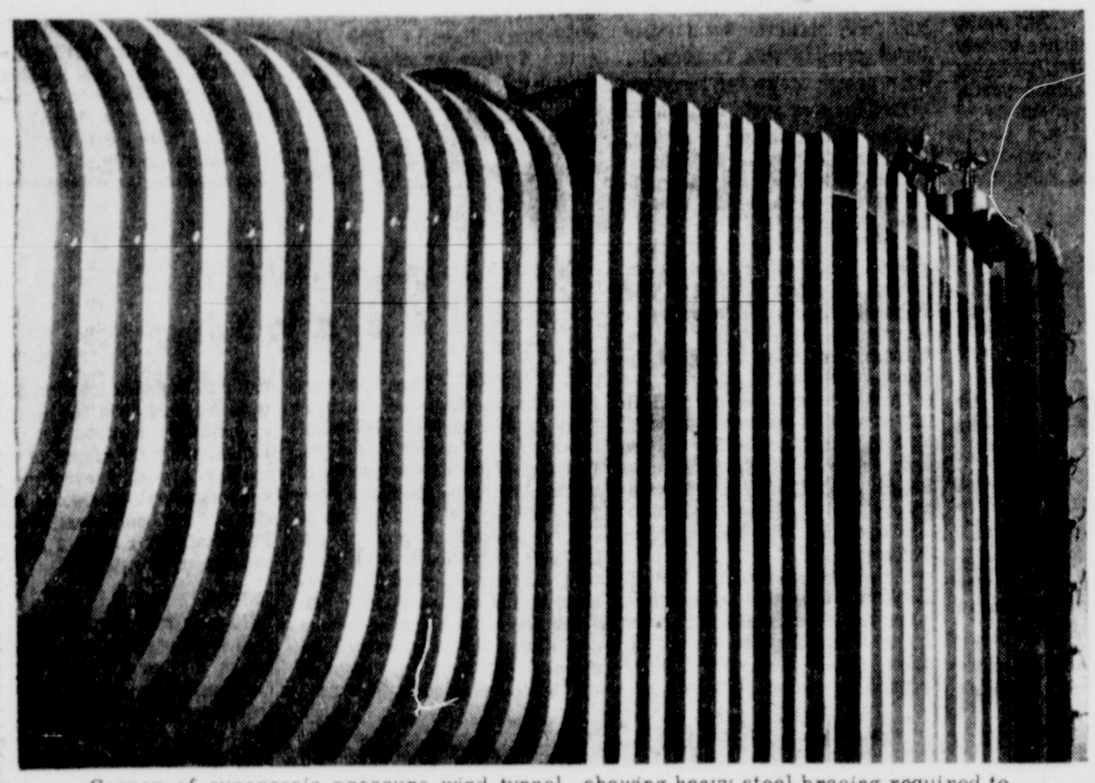
Modelmaker attaches wing to scale model of the X-5 research airplane for testing in Langley's spin and free-flight tunnels. Model is made of reinforced plastic.



Model of Air Force military cargo plane, the Chase C-123, in full-scale wind tunnel. Scientists are studying plane's aerodynamic characteristics — its stability, control and maximum lift at low speeds.



Corner of supersonic pressure wind tunnel, showing heavy steel bracing required to cut down vibration and noise. Vertical black pipes carry water to radiator inside tunnel.

Helicopter test tower where rotor blades are spun at various speeds and pitches to improve design.

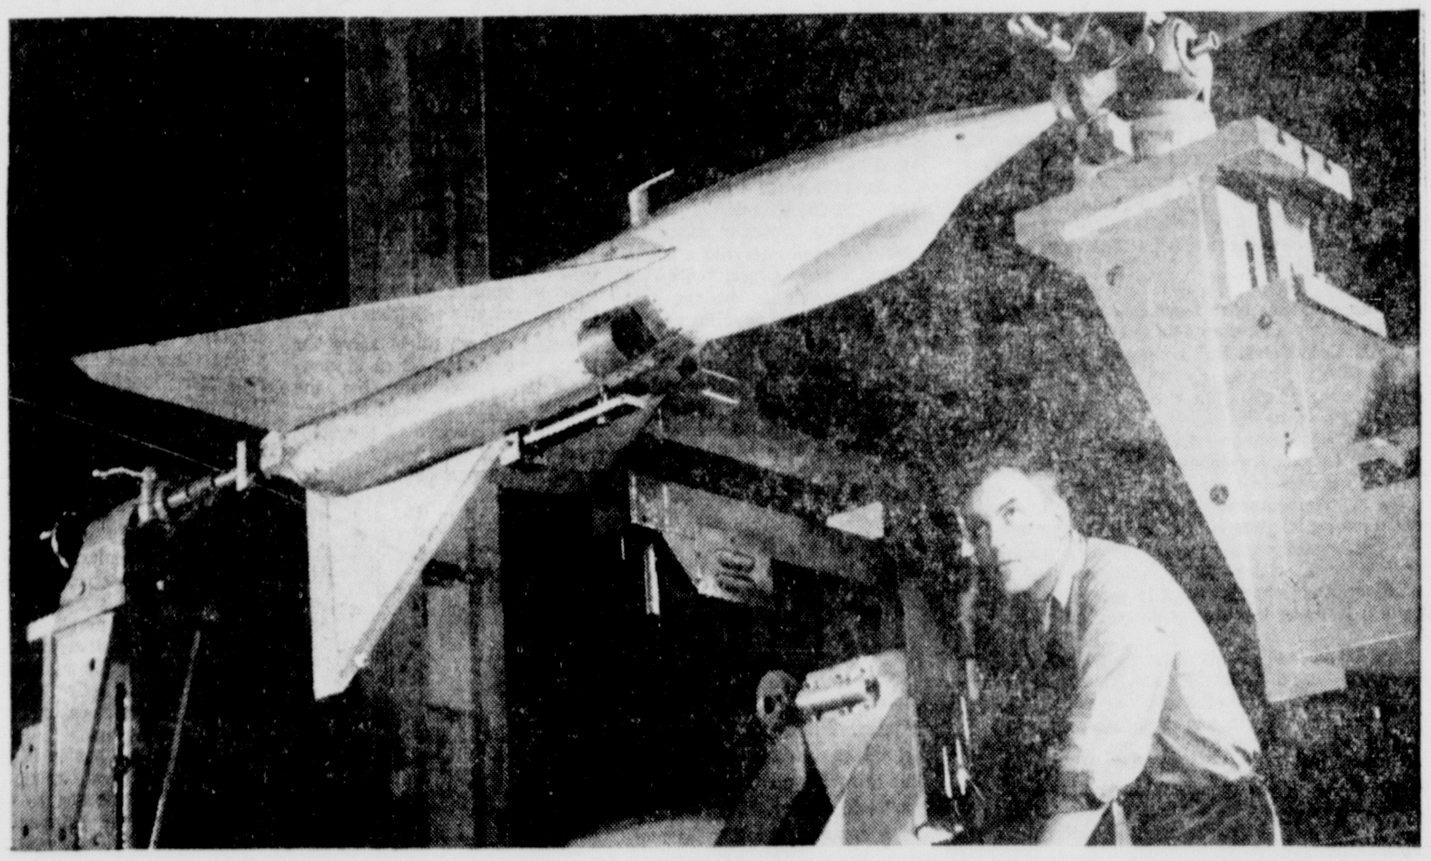
Electric furnace, used to study strength of built-up structures under heating, is lifted to show multi-web beam of aluminum alloy, like beam in plane wing.



Drag and stability data will be obtained from use of this model of the Convair XF2Y-1 Sea Dart. Later, model will be attached to rocket and fired from NACA's pilotless aircraft research station at Wallop's Island, Va.

Republican 66 Club Formed At Frostburg

Rep. Hyde Answers His Opponents

FROSTBURG — The "Sixty-Six Club" was organized at a meeting of the Women's Republican Club in the American Legion Home Wednesday evening and 66 members were enrolled.

The purpose of the club, which was named to mark the 66th birthday of President Eisenhower, is to appeal to a number of citizens who will promise to give at least six hours and six minutes of their time to further the cause of the Republican party in the coming election.

Miss Katherine Close, president of the club, opened the meeting, and introduced J. Glenn Beall Jr., who acted as master of ceremonies. He spoke about the important part being played by the women of the country in the coming election. He then presented William A. Gunter chairman of the Republican Finance Committee, and James Getty, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, who spoke briefly on the coming election.

Beall then presented Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde, who talked of the controversial issues involved in the coming election. He said the candidates of the opposition party were apparently becoming desperate, as the campaign goes into its final weeks.

Hyde said the claim made by his opponents that he and U. S. Senator Beall have been negligent in not reading the interstate bill carefully, to ascertain that the section of Route 40 between Hancock and Washington, Pa., had been left out was ridiculous, as the bill was an appropriation of money by the federal government, and no particular roads or highways were mentioned in the measure whatever. "The omission of this important section of Route 40," Hyde continues, "was by administrative decision, made by the Federal Bureau of Highways under the Truman Democratic Administration in 1950, and the omission could not have been discovered until the actual allocation of funds was begun recently."

"According to statements made by my opponent," said Hyde, "if he is elected to Congress he will endeavor to have the federal appropriation to the Potomac River Commission tripled. This certainly proves how poorly informed he is on such matters. The Potomac River Commission is financed and controlled jointly by the several states and the District of Columbia through which the river passes, and the federal government has no part whatever in the control or management of this commission."

A large birthday cake, with 66 candles in honor of President Eisenhower was cut and served after the meeting, which was attended by several hundred persons.

VHS Junior Dance Queen Crowned

Rotary Views Aerial Photos

FROSTBURG—Gerald Groves enterained the members of the Frostburg Rotary Club at their weekly dinner meeting Monday evening in the Sunday School room of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, with a number of colored slides of aerial photographs which he has taken during his frequent plane trips over eastern cities.

Colored aerial views of New York City, Miami Beach, the Florida Keys, Havana Cuba, and many other eastern cities were shown, and also views taken over Cumberland and Frostburg.

Peter Lukas also entertained with several piano selections.

Ralph Nevy, Joseph Downey, George A. Caswell, and William Walsh of Cumberland and John Dunn of Grantsville were visitors.

Next Monday evening a joint meeting of the Lions and Rotary Club will be held at Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, Broadway, beginning at 6:15 p. m.

Mt. Savage Girls In State Chorus

MT. SAVAGE — Laura Jean House and Rosemarie Houck, are attending the Maryland State chorus at Baltimore. The state chorus will be under the direction of Dr. Clyde Dengler, choral director, Upper Darby High School, Upper Darby, Pennsylvania. The accompanist is Karl Halvoson, Organist and choir master, All Saints Church, Washington, D. C.

Beall High School Lists Members Of Chime Staff

FROSTBURG — The "Chime" staff of Beall High School began its thirteenth year of publication with the beginning of the current school term. The paper is published six times yearly by members of the Journalism class under the guidance of Miss Anna McLuckie, advisor.

The members of the staff this year number 12, all girls. They are: Frances Ann Brode, editor; Sandra Loar, news editor; Carole Lewis, feature editor; Marie Goebel, sports editor; Jean Jeffries, circulation manager; Edwina Sluss, headline editor; Ellen Richardson, exchange editor; Jayne Jenkins, business manager and art editor; Katherine Stanton and Patricia Harvey, makeup editors; Ann Shirley, advertising manager; Jeanne Robertson, copyreader.

The paper is a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. The staff plans to make its annual trip to New York in the spring to attend the CSPA convention where the paper is judged. Last year the staff received a first place rating.

To raise funds for the trip to New York, the "Chime" staff recently sponsored a sale of "dinkie" caps bearing the school name. Prize winners were Doris Buckingham, Raymond Baer, Barbara Chaney, Leannah Martens and Eugene Kidwell.

In addition to being editor of the "Chime," Miss Brode also holds the office of secretary of the Tri-Hi-Y, vice president of the Student Forum, and homeroom secretary. She works as cafeteria monitor and office assistant, and holds membership in the National Honor Society and the Dramatic Club.

Demos Far Ahead Of GOP In Hampshire Sign-Up

ROMNEY—R. E. Stewart, clerk of the Hampshire County Court, reports that the total registration for the November 6 general election in the county now amounts to 6,945, including 5,201 Democrats, 1,709 Republicans and 35 who are otherwise affiliated or expressed no preference.

This is an increase of 57 over the total registration when the books closed April 7 for the May 8 primary election.

The increase of 57 registrants represents the number of people who have registered to vot in this county between April 7 and the closing of the books for the next general election.

The total registration figures for the county are down over 1,000 voters from the official figure two years ago when the books closed October 2. At that time there were a total of 7,949 voters registered in the county.

Stewart attributes the decrease in the number of eligible voters mainly to the fact that last fall the registration books were gone over carefully and purged of the names of those voters who had passed away, moved or were no longer considered registered because they had not voted in a recent enough election.

Citizens Committee Will Help Obtain New Band Uniforms For Keyser High

KEYSER — A meeting to discuss the need of new uniforms for the Keyser High School band and possible ways in which to secure them was held recently in the offices of Principal Parker C. Black.

A citizens' committee was told that the present uniforms have been in use by the band for seven years and repeated cleaning, repairs and re-tailoring have made the condition such that new ones are imperative before the band can set up a regular schedule to appear in parades.

Both Black and Nunzio Barbara, band director, agreed that uniforms are a "must" in the coming months if the band is to continue making appearances.

A committee was named to make contacts with Keyser citizens, civic and service clubs and other local groups. The group consists of Robert Lee Fisher, chairman; Romaine Kephart, co-chairman; Parker C. Black, secretary; Ross W. Prysock, treasurer; Barbara and members of his band, and a workers' staff headed by Donald Gingerich and Frank Calemine.

The band is composed of 60 members in addition to the director. The cost for uniforms will be $60 each, thus making the total price to furnish new outfits $3,600.

Future Homemakers To Hold Regional Meet At Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE—The Future Homemakers of America will hold their annual Regional A meeting Saturday, October 27 at Mt. Savage High School from 10:30 a. m. until 2 p. m.

FHA groups from Allegany, Garrett, and Washington counties will be present.

The meeting will start with the "Welcoming" by Peggy Carter.

Entertainment for the program will consist of a style show given by the Frostburg Homemakers. It will depict styles from the 1800's to the present time.

It is estimated there are more than 78 million motor vehicles in use throughout the world.

Plan Bake Sale

LONACONING — A bake sale will be held Saturday, October 20, at Eichhorn's Furniture store, by the Junior Class of Valley High School. The committee includes Ruth Deniker, Betty Lou Preston, Gail Broadwater, Sandra McKinley, Kenny Metz and Gordon Stevenson.

Frostburg Sale Days Drawing Many Shoppers

Hundreds Seek Record Bargains

FROSTBURG — Frostburg sale days got off to a flying start yesterday with hundreds of people visiting the stores for the many bargains featured. One store reported a special item completely sold out by 10 a. m.; another merchant was entirely out of his advertised specials by noon. In each case, the store in question has placed similar items on sale at greatly-reduced prices to replace the article originally featured.

Buses from the Georges-Creek towns were well patronized all day in both directions, and the merchants participating in the sale anticipate even better business today and Saturday.

Hundreds of shoppers registered yesterday in the stores for the fifty silver dollars which will be given to some lucky person Monday morning.

The names of all registrants are placed in a large carton, from which a small boy or girl will be asked to pull the winner's name. This drawing will be held at the Times-News office, 19 Broadway.

Church Plans Layman's Day

FROSTBURG — Layman's Day will be marked at both morning services at the Congregational Church, Bowery and College Avenue, Sunday, according to Rev. J. F. Zimmerman Sr., pastor.

James S. Beach will speak at 8:30 a. m. service. His subject will be "The Layman's Relation to the Church."

Dr. William C. Van NewKirk, of Frostburg State Teachers College faculty, will speak at the 11 a. m. service.

Special music has been arranged for both services; the senior choir will sing at the early service and the junior choir will sing at the 11 a. m. service.

Keyser Firemen Sponsor Benefit

KEYSER — The Keyser Fire Department will present Jimmy Dean, nationally known entertainer from Washington, in the Keyser High School auditorium on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. He will be accompanied by the Texas Wildcats.

Party Tonight

FROSTBURG — A buck party has been planned for tonight at the club rooms of the Young Republicans on East Main street. Music and refreshments will be featured.

Keyser Man Is Paroled

KEYSER — A 28-year-old laborer was sentenced yesterday in Mineral County Circuit Court to serve from one to 10 years in the West Virginia Penitentiary at Moundsville for the theft of $50.

The defendant, Richard Wolf of Keyser, pleaded guilty to taking the money from a cigar box at the Little Restaurant on Armstrong Street several weeks ago.

Judge Ernest A. See ordered that the sentence be suspended on condition Wolf make restitution, pay court costs, refrain from intoxicants and be of good behavior. Wolf was also placed on probation.

During the trial, Wolf admitted he was drinking when the larceny occurred.

Douglas Lambert, 17, of New Creek district, who also faces a theft charge, appeared in court this morning with his mother and had bond increased from $1,000 to $2,000.

Wednesday, Lambert failed to show up to ascertain when his hearing is scheduled. He and three companions, Leon Dodds, Wiliam Dawson and Robert Wagus, will stand trial Monday.

The court was told that Lambert "just forgot" to appear.

John F. Rollman Ordination Scheduled Tonight At Oakland

First Garrett Countian To Enter Ministry Of Episcopal Church

OAKLAND — Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, DD, Episcopal bishop of Maryland, will ordain John Frederick Rollman to the Sacred Order of Deacons tonight at 7:30 o'clock in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church here.

Rollman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Rollman, Deer Park.

He was born in Kitzmiller, but moved to Deer Park when he was six years old. He was graduated from the Charlotte Hall Military Academy in 1948, and from West Virginia Wesleyan College in 1953 with the Bachelor of Arts degree majoring in sociology.

Rollman then attended the Philadelphia Divinity School of the Episcopal Church and was graduated from there in June, 1956 with the Bachelor of Theology degree. While in Philadelphia he worked in the Holy Comforter parish in Drexel Hill. His clinical training he received in Philadelphia General Hospital. He became a postulant in the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland in 1952 and a candidate for Holy Orders in 1955. He has been assigned to Grace Church in New Market.

Rollman is the first Garrett countian ever to be ordained into the Episcopal ministry, according to Rev. John J. Atwell, rector at St. Matthew's.

For the celebration of the Holy Communion Bishop Powell will be the celebrant with Rt. Rev. Harry Lee Doll, DD, the Suffragan bishop of the Diocese of Maryland, assistant. Rev. G. Stanley Schwind will be the preacher; Rev. Victor Ross, the epistler; Rollman, the gospeler and Rev. Atwell, the presenter.

Ellerslie Briefs

Ellerslie Homemakers Club will meet in the EUB church basement, Monday, October 22 at 7:30 p. m. Blue Cross dues will be collected. There will also be a Halloween party for members and their families.

Dorcas Bible Class of the Methodist church will hold a spaghetti supper, Saturday at 5 p. m. in the church hall.

Fall Colors Show Off Veal

Keep abreast of the changes! It's the aroma of burning leaves and the spirited cheers of fans at a football game that tell us fall is here.

A fall dinner menu centered on a veal shoulder roll parallel earthy fall colors by using spicy orange slices as the meat garnish in the menu.

Veal, of course, is very lean and may need added fat, according to Reba Staggs, meat expert.

Veal Shoulder Roll

3 to 4-pound veal shoulder roll; salt; pepper; 4 to 6 slices bacon.

Season the roast with salt and pepper. Place the roast on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert a roast meat thermometer so the bulb reaches the center of the roast. Place bacon slices on roast. Do not add water and do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (300° F.) for about 2½ hours or until meat thermometer registers 170° F. Allow about 40 minutes per pound for roasting.

Sliced Orange Slices

3 large oranges; 2 tablespoons sugar; 2 teaspoons butter or margarine; 36 whole cloves.

Cut each orange into 4 slices about ½ inch thick. Combine sugar and butter or margarine. Spread ½ teaspoon of mixture on each orange slice and stick with 3 whole cloves. Place on a rack with roast for 25 to 30 minutes in a baking dish and bake in oven with roast or until sugar is melted.

One-Dish Pork Chop Meal

Need a bright thought for a busy-day meal? Try pork. Simply brown 6 loin or rib chops in lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Now place 4 cups of cooked noodles in a casserole dish. Dilute 1 (10½ ounce) can tomato soup and pour over the noodles. Place pork chops on top of noodles. Cover and cook in a moderate oven (350° F.) 1 to 1½ hours.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Flank Steak

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the flank section of the animal which is directly below the short loin and sirloin. This meat cut is an oval-shaped boneless steak weighing ¾ to 1½ pounds with muscles running lengthwise.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By braising, a moist heat method of meat cookery. The meat is cooked slowly and requires between 1 and 2 hours cooking time. For variety, the steak may be rolled and cut into individual steak fillets.

Biscuits Add Sparkle To Meals

The simplest meal has an air of distinction when biscuits are on the menu. As a bread or as a topping on meat pies, fluffy biscuits always add to mealtime pleasure.

Reba Staggs, well known home economist, says that good hot biscuits require a good shortening and lard is the ideal one to use.

Basic Biscuit Recipe

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
4 to 6 tablespoons lard
⅓ to ½ cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard until mixture has fine even crumb. Add enough milk to make a soft dough. Turn onto a lightly floured surface and knead gently for ½ minute. Pat or roll ½ inch thick and cut with a medium-sized biscuit cutter, dipped in flour. Place on a baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (450°F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 10 to 12 biscuits.

Variations

Drop Biscuits: Use recipe for biscuits increasing the milk to a total of ⅔ to ¾ cup. Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls on hot beef and vegetable mixture and bake as meat pies.

Catchup Biscuits: Use recipe for biscuits. Roll dough and spread with ½ cup catchup. Roll as jelly roll, slice ¾ inch thick and bake on hot beef and vegetable mixture, as meat pies.

Cooky Treat For Kids On Halloween

When the young tricksters approach your house on October 31st decked out in fancy costume, here's a surprise treat that's sure to be a hit.

Let your treat be Banana Oatmeal Cookies. Cookies seem to have been invented for children and how they love them. Word spreads fast so be sure to make plenty and don't forget to keep a few on hand for Dad's midnight snack.

Reba Staggs, home economist, recommends using lard when preparing this recipe. You'll want to make a number of batches and lard is not only economical but is pliable . . . ready to blend easily.

Banana Oatmeal Cookies

1½ cups sifted enriched flour
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon baking sida
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ cup lard
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup mashed ripe bananas (2 to 3 bananas)
1¾ cups quick cooking oats
½ cup chopped nuts

Sift together flour, sugar, soda, salt, nutmeg and cinnamon into mixing bowl. Cut in lard. Add egg, banana, oats and nuts. Beat until tthoroughly blended. Drop by teaspoonfuls, about 1½ inches apart, onto ungreased cooky sheet. Bake in a hot oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes or until the cookies are done. Remove from pan immediately and allow to cool. Yield: 3 to 4 dozen cookies.

Treat Family To October Soup Feast

There's no end to the delicious ways you can vary soup. When October breezes turn into cool crisp winds, turn your thoughts to meal-in-one soups. Hearty vegetable soup or split pea soup makes meal warmer-uppers that are hard to beat.

Smoked ham hocks add that certain wholesomeness to pea soup that's hard to beat, according to Reba Staggs, well known home economist.

Split Pea Soup—Smoked Ham Hocks

4 smoked ham hocks
2 cups dried split peas
Water
2 cups finely diced celery
2 small onions, finely chopped
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1 quart milk
Salt
Pepper

Wash and soak peas overnight, if necessary. Add ham hocks and celery to peas and enough water to cover. Cover closely and simmer about 2 hours or until peas are tender and meat is done. Brown onion in butter or margarine in sauce pan. Stir in flour. Add milk, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove ham hocks from peas. Remove bones and cut meat into small pieces. Combine peas, meat, and milk mixture. Season to taste. Water, soup stock or milk may be added to make a thinned soup, if desired. Serve hot. Yield: 8 servings.

Ground Beef Pointers

Vary your meals with ground beef. Meat loaves, for instance, take on a new appearance with a savory sage stuffing or hard-cooked eggs, laid end-to-end through the center of the meat loaf mixture.

To prepare fruit purees, cook dried fruit slightly longer than when it is to be served whole. Force through a colander or sieve. One cup uncooked dried fruit makes about one cup puree.

Alternating baby's servings of fruit juices such as orange juice, orange-apricot, prune-orange and apple juice with acerola juice provides an excellent balance of important vitamins and minerals.

How to Get More Meals from Meat

Instead of Beef Round Steak for Ground Meat—

Many homemakers buy round steak, then ask the retailer to grind it for them. This makes excellent ground beef, but boneless beef stew will make just as good ground beef, provided it contains about the same proportion of lean and fat as the round steak. The ground heroes here found that beef containing about 25 per cent fat makes the best meat loaves and hamburgers. Since round steak is one of the most popular cuts of beef, there's a considerable price spread between it and boneless stew which is made from such less-demanded cuts as the chuck, neck, brisket, plate, flank and shank. Furthermore, boneless beef stew is cut in pieces ready for grinding and, best of all, it's just as good eating and costs less than round steak.

Fruited Pot-Roast

With the onset of cooler weather, here is a novel suggestion for dressing up a potroast in its new fall finery. How? Its cranberries that make the difference. Dredge, the potroast, blade or round bone, in seasoned flour and brown in lard. Pour off drippings. Add a small amount of water, about ½ cup and simmer 2½ to 3 hours or until tender. For a 3 to 4-pound pot-roast, add 1 can (16 ounces) whole cranberry sauce about ½ hour before the potroast is done.

Pork Calls For Fruit Touch

Here's an attractive pork entree. Dredge 4 pork shoulder steaks in flour, then brown in 3 tablespoons of lard or drippings and season with salt and pepper. Add ¼ cup water and cover the utensil tightly. Cook slowly until tender, about 45 minutes. Core and slice 3 large apples. Dissolve ½ cup grape jelly in ½ cup water. Add apples. Cook until tender. Serve with the pork steaks.

Meat Tips

Ground fresh meat and variety meats, such as liver, heart and brains, should be stored loosely wrapped and for best flavor, should be cooked within two days after purchase.

Make Old-Fashioned Soups Quickly With Frozen Vegetables

An old-fashioned vegetable soup may seem new-fashioned and perfectly delicious to the younger members of your family, while bringing shouts of joy from oldsters who recall the delight of such a flavorful one-dish meal.

You can make wonderful hearty old-fashioned soups with the greatest of ease when you use frozen vegetables.

The vegetable soup whose recipe is given below has its beef stock simmered slowly for 2½ hours before you add vegetables

Serve this soup for Saturday lunch when all of the family is together. If there is any left over, serve it for Sunday supper On Saturday, it's just right with crackers or muffins and a simple dessert. For Sunday serving pour the heated soup into warmed pottery bowls and surround each bowl with toasted peanut butter sandwiches, rounding off the meal with one of the delicious frozen cakes which presently occupy an important place in the frozen food department of your food store. When storing the part that you will serve on another day, be sure it is chilled in the refrigerator.

Vegetable-Beef Soup

3-to 4-lb. soup bone with meat; 2 tablespoons shortening; 2 quarts cold water; 1 small onion, quartered; 2 teaspoons salt; ½ teaspoon pepper; 1 No. 303 can (2 cups) tomatoes; 6 sprigs parsley; 2 bay leaves; ¼ cup rice or barley; ¼ head of cabbage, chopped; 1 cup diced potatoes; ½ cup chopped celery; 1 package frozen mixed vegetables; Fresh or dried herbs as desired.

Cut half the meat from the bone and brown in hot fat. Add this with remaining meat to cold water, using a 4-quart kettle or pan. Add onion salt, and pepper. Cover and bring to boiling. Then simmer for 2½ hours. Add canned tomatoes, parsley, and bay leaves. Add rice or barley, cabbage, potatoes, celery, and mixed frozen vegetables. Add fresh or dried herbs as desired. Bring to a boil. Then simmer 30 minutes. Taste and add salt and pepper as needed. Makes almost 4 quarts of thick, hearty soup. Serve 1 to 2 cups per person.

Another meal-in-a-bowl soup you will be proud to ladle out into your best soup plates is this Corn Chowder made with bread and a plate of relishes might be passed with it—and warm apple pie (frozen apple pie right from the oven) with cheese served for dessert. You need no more than half an hour to make this soup from the beginning.

Corn Chowder

1 package frozen cut corn; 2-oz. piece of salt pork, diced; 1 small onion, chopped; 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 teaspoon salt; ½ teaspoon pepper; 2 cups milk; 1 cup chicken broth; 1 cup diced potatoes; ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Cook frozen corn according to directions on package. Meanwhile, place salt pork in saucepan and brown over low heat Remove from pan if desired. Add onion and green pepper and cook in pork fat without browning for 5 minutes. Stir flour, salt, and pepper into fat. Add milk, chicken broth, and potatoes; stir while cooking over low heat until slightly thickened and potatoes are tender. Add hot cooked corn along with its liquid. Season with Worcestershire sauce. Serve in warm soup plates. If desired, top each serving with chopped parsley. Makes 4 generous servings.

Veal Tartlets

Make tender pie crust with lard. Line individual pie pans. Bake in a hot oven (425° F.) for 8 to 10 minutes. Fill shells with well-seasoned creamed veal. Top with buttered bread crumbs and serve piping hot.

Apricot Bran Crisp--Autumn Dessert

Snappy, colorful, autumn days require foods with crisp textures and sharp flavors. Such a pudding is Apricot Bran Crisp Dessert—a combination of crisp, crunchy, sugared whole bran cereal, tart apricots, and instant vanilla pudding. Busy homemakers will like this quick and easy way to make a scrumptious, last-minute dessert. It's truly elegant eating yet inexpensive and so easily prepared.

It's the sugared whole bran cereal that gives this dessert its unique flavor and texture. If preferable the sugared whole bran cereal and the pudding mixture can be prepared earlier in the day and then combined just before serving time. If combined too far ahead, the maximum crispness of the sugared bran will not be retained.

Sugared Whole Bran Cereal

½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 cups whole bran cereal

Melt sugar and butter in large skillet over low heat. Add whole bran. Mix carefully with fork until bran is evenly sugar coated. Spread cereal on waxed paper to cool. Separate the cereal particles. Yield: 2¼ cups.

Apricot Bran Crisp Dessert

1 package instant pudding mix
2 cups cold milk
1 cup drained apricots, canned or cooked, dried
2 cups sugared whole bran cereal

Prepare pudding mix with milk as directed on package. Add fruit. Mix. Chill 5 minutes. Fill sherbet glasses by alternating 3 layers of sugared whole bran cereal with 2 of pudding-apricot mixture. Start and end with layer of sugared whole bran cereal. Yield: 6 large servings.

Ham Slice — Simple But Sumptuous

Thumbing through your cookbook for new fall menu suggestions? The search is at an end . . . tonight it's a Ham Slice — Yankee Style that is scheduled for the main entree.

Reba Staggs, well known meat expert, says the inviting flavor of this modern harvest meat cut is enhanced by the corn meal coating.

Ham Slice—Yankee Style

2 smoked ham slices, cut ¾ inch thick; ½ cup brown sugar; 1 tablespoon prepared mustard; 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish; ½ cup corn meal; ¼ cup butter or margarine.

Place one ham slice in a greased casserole. Mix sugar, mustard, horseradish, and spread over ham slice. Cover with second ham slice. Lightly brown corn meal in melted butter or margarine. Spread over top of ham slice. Bake in a slow oven (300°F.) for 45 minutes to 1 hour. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Harvest Pork Chops Tempting Fall Creation

Menu

Harvest Pork Chops; Buttered Baked Potatoes; Wax Beans; Tossed Salad; Corn Bread Sticks; Butter or Margarine; Chocolate Sundae; Coffee Tea, Milk.

Beautiful colored foliage smartly designed fashions and temptingly created autumn meals are all part of the current fall season.

Something else which designates the onset of fall are the high supplies of pork on the market.

Pork is an excellent buy now, according to Reba Staggs well known home economist in the meat industry.

Piping hot, hearty pork meals will serve you many times over. With so many pork cuts now on the market it's easy to prepare a different pork dish every day of the week, some spooned, some carved.

Harvest Pork Chops is just one dish that's sure to set records for repeat performances. It's an entree that will warm you up as well as pep you up. Serving pork, a rich source of protein and minerals, is also an excellent way to procure plenty of thiamine, one of the B-vitamins.

The secret of success in this recipe lies in long, slow cooking. The chops are slowly browned and seasoned. Then sliced apples and prunes are arranged in a frying-pan with the chops. The braising liquid in this case is a natural for fall...apple cider. Slowly the chops and fruit lend and blend flavors until the dish is done, and plump, juicy pork chops accented by transparent apple slices and juicy prunes are ready for the table.

Harvest Pork Chops

6 rib, loin or shoulder pork chops, cut ¾ to 1 inch thick; 1 teaspoon salt; 3 medium apples, sliced; 1 cup prunes; 1 cup apple cider.

Brown the chops in a frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Season with salt. Core and slice apples. Arrange apples and prunes in the frying-pan, reserving a few to place on top of the chops. Place chops on top of fruit. Add the cider, cover and simmer slowly for about 45 minutes to 1 hour or until tender. Yield: 6 servings.

Brisk autumn and winter breezes call for hot nourishing main dishes such as this. Aside from its economical advantage and savory flavor, Norway sardines and macaroni casserole boasts the ease of preparation which homemakers can rely on with convenient canned products, in this case Norway sardines and tomato sauce.

INGREDIENTS

2 (3¾ oz.) cans Norway sardines
1 (8 oz.)package macaroni
⅓ green pepper
¾ lb. American cheese sliced
1 (4 oz.) can tomato sauce
seasoning to taste
seasoning to taste

Butter a medium casserole or baking dish. Cook macaroni according to package directions and drain when tender. Finely chop the green pepper. In the casserole arrange a layer of macaroni and top with half the amount of the above ingredients reserving the tomato sauce, in this order: sardines, chopped green pepper and cheese. Season to taste. Repeat procedure, reserving half can of sardines, and ending with top layer of cheese. Arrange remaining sardines in the shape of a star on top of cheese and pour over tomato sauce. Bake for 45 minutes in moderate oven (375-degree F.). Yields 4 generous servings.

Veal Nomenclature

Veal round steak (which is also known as veal cutlets) corresponds to beef round steak and is cooked by the same method—braising . . . . . a moist heat method of meat cookery. Veal steaks cut ½ to ¾ inch thick require 45 to 60 minutes to cook. An interesting way to prepare this veal round steak is by using diluted mushroom soup as the braising liquid.

Magic Meal For Fall --- Hasty Chili

Change of weather brings a change of appetites. Hasty Chili, affords an excellent lunch or dinner entree. Cooked with a generous amount of ground beef, this recipe is actually a meal-in-one-dish. Just add milk, hard rolls and a refreshing cool salad and the meal is complete. A piece of lemon layer cake would be an excellent choice for dessert.

Hasty Chili

1 pound ground beef; 2 tablespoons lard or drippings; 2 small onions, chopped; 1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) tomatoes; 1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) kidney beans; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon salt; 2 teaspoons chili powder; ⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper.

Brown the beef slowly in lard or drippings. Add onion, tomatoes, beans and seasonings. Cook slowly for 1 hour. Water may be added if desired and the seasoning can be adjusted to taste. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Liver Rolls Add Menu Diversity

The days when one could buy "a pound of liver to feed the cat" for a nickel are gone forever. Liver has graduated into a more demanded class. It's probably the favorite of the variety meats and one that should appear on the family dinner table at least once a week.

According to Reba Staggs, home economist, liver is an outstanding food source of iron.

For a new variation when preparing liver, simply serve it with another meat such as pork sausage links.

Liver Rolls

6 slices beef liver, ¼ in. thick
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon thyme
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
6 pork sausage links
1 teaspoon lard
1 cup tomato sauce

Season liver with salt, pepper, thyme and nutmeg. Roll each slice with a sausage link in the center and fasten with a wooden pick. Brown slowly in lard, pour off excess drippings. Add tomato sauce. Cover and simmer 30 to 45 minutes or until tender. Yield: 6 servings.

Cherry juice from the Acerola tree discovered in Puerto Rico contains 80 to 100 times the qauntity of Vitamin C in a comparable amount of orange juice.

Round Steak Special

At a college cafeteria, managed and operated entirely by students, one of the most popular meat dishes served is round steak cooked with green peppers. This succulent combination can be as popular with the family today as it is with the college students and faculty. Buy a juicy round steak, an economical meat choice these days, and cook it with sliced green pepper and onions. Serve with whipped potatoes or buttered rice.

Pepper Steak

1½ pounds round steak
Flour
3 tablespoons lard
3 medium green peppers, sliced
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
½ cup water
½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 medium onions, sliced

Cut steak into 2 by 3 inch pieces. Roll in flour and brown in hot fat. Add peppers, Worcestershire sauce, water, salt, pepper, and onions. Cover pan and cook over low heat until meat is tender, about 1½ hours, adding more water if necessary. 6 servings.

Meat Buying

When purchasing large cuts, have a few chops or steaks removed for another meal. A pork loin, leg of lamb or rib roast of beef may have a few chops or steaks removed for braising or broiling. This will save you from having too many leftovers and will also add variety in the use of large cuts.

BLUE RIBBON BREAD

Inside Washington

By Central Press

WASHINGTON—There are reports in the nation's capital that Army experts are planning quietly to beat out the Navy in launching an earth satellite or man-made moon. According to these reports, the Army is hoping to send up the satellite long before the Navy's rocket-fired missile is ready next year.

These reports claim that the Army at present is planning to cut loose with a satellite "accidentally" and that the Defense Department research and development officials have heard of the idea and frown upon it.

The Navy has been designated by the Defense Department to launch a man-made satellite during the geophysical year beginning next July 1.

You'll be hearing less from now on from the Democrats about the so-called "one-party press." They're beginning to suspect that their old familiar charge may have been exaggerated. And they're happy to admit it.

This recent change of view has nothing to do with the fact that more newspapers are supporting Adlai E. Stevenson for President this year than was the case in 1952. (Among the switches, incidentally, is the Bloomington, Ill., Daily Pantagraph, which refused to endorse the Democratic nominee four years ago even though it is owned by his family.)

What has surprised and pleased the Democrats is the fact that Stevenson has received tremendous page one play in the daily press during his campaign so far. In 1952, he seriously felt that the newspapers were burying stories about him and giving their most prominent space to the Republican candidates.

Now, however, Adlai realizes that the GOP nominees, four years ago, were making the news with their attacks on the Democrats while Stevenson was in a defensive role. This time, the Republicans are defending their own record. The Democrats are doing the attacking. So they are the ones who are making the big headlines.

There is virtually no chance that the 22nd Amendment to the Constitution—the one that limits the President to two terms—will be repealed. Here's why:

If President Eisenhower is defeated on November 6, the whole question will become academic—at least until another President is in a position to bid for a third term. That couldn't happen for eight years. By then the 22nd Amendment would have acquired more tradition.

If Mr. Eisenhower is re-elected, it is highly improbable that either he or anyone in his official family would try to have the measure repealed, despite the President's expressed disapproval of it. They would run the political risk of seeming to act out of a personal desire to remain in office.

Moreover, Republicans were primarily responsible for adoption of the amendment. They couldn't very well reverse their field now. As for Democrats who opposed the two-term limit from the beginning, it is unlikely that many of them would do anything to insure another term for Mr. Eisenhower.

What should amount to a new speed record was set recently by Democratic vice presidential nominee, Senator Estes Kefauver.

The senator left Stevenson's suite and stepped into an elevator with 12 people already in it. Perhaps from force of habit—and with super agility—he began shaking hands with everyone in the elevator.

Before it had descended two floors, Kefauver had "met" everyone.

Storer Is Serving As Court Bailiff

Sidney H. Storer Sr., 28 Grand Avenue, is serving as temporary bailiff in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Storer fills the position vacated by Andrew Y. Wilson, 732 Maryland Avenue, who resigned after having served as bailiff about five years.

Peter E. Berry, 311 Washington Street, continues as the regular court bailiff.

Officers Are Named By Local Elks

Harry E. Thomas was elected esteemed leading knight of Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks, Wednesday night.

Also named by the membership were John E. Mertens, esteemed loyal knight and F. L. Robertson, esteemed lecturing knight. There was no opposition.

The election was due to the resignation of William E. Hixenbaugh, former leading knight, who has moved to Washington with his family.

An initiation of candidates will be held November 28, according to Exalted Ruler Bruce M. Mackey.

Mackey also announced that a shrimp feed will be held next month.

About 22 per cent of U. S. spending units (families and single people) had incomes from $5,000 to $7,500 in 1955.

Dr. E. E. Miller Becomes Pastor Of Bethany Church

Rev. Dr. E. E. Miller who has taken over the duties of pastor of Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church comes here with a background of 38 years in the ministry, the last seven of which were as a member of the faculty of Shenandoah College and Conservatory of Music, Dayton, Va.

Besides teaching in the fields of social science and Bible, Rev. Dr. Miller also served as pastor of the college chapel. A graduate of Bonebreak Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, he holds AB, BD and DD degrees.

The Bethany assignment is Rev. Dr. Miller's second in Cumberland, he having been stationed here in 1925 under the auspices of the Home Missionary Board of the EUB Church. His work at that time lead to the formation of a new church here. That assignment was his first after graduating from Bonebreak Seminary and he later served pastorates at Keyser and for First churches at Martinsburg, Roanoke and Harrisonburg.

Born in North Carolina, he is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John E. Miller. His first wife preceded him in death.

His second wife is the former Miss Hope Vandever of Kansas, who served as dean of women at Madison (Va.) College for 10 years prior to marriage to Rev. Dr. Miller. He had two sons by his first wife, the older of whom is principal of Harrisonburg School. His other son resides in Hagerstown.

Sewing Course Is Planned Here

A clothing sewing course will be offered for women at Gephart School each Monday afternoon for six weeks beginning Monday at 3:30 p. m., according to Miss Ruth McColley, supervisor of home economics for the Allegany County Board of Education.

The class is a part of the adult education program of the Board of Education and will be held in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Winnie Farrell, Mt. Savage, will be the instructor in the course which will include methods of construction and fitting problems.

Miss McColley said there will be no charge. In the event there is sufficient interest, the sewing class will be held in other centers of the county.

National Affairs Today

by David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — A call for the withdrawal of Adlai Stevenson as the presidential nominee of the Democratic party and the naming of a replacement by the Democratic National Committee would surely develop if Democrats generally throughout the country fully understood how official facts about nuclear-bomb tests are being distorted in the belief that the public will not grasp the truth.

The alarmist speech delivered by Mr. Stevenson Monday night to a nationwide television audience was a deliberate maneuver to scare the country, in spite of the official evidence to the contrary about the lack of danger to the people as a whole in the tests.

The National Academy of Sciences, in a recent report made by 150 of the nation's highest level scientists—the most reputable body of men in the scientific world—declared that all the biological damage from the testing of atomic bombs "has been essentially negligible."

Frightening To Electorate

The same report said that radioactivity from medical and dental X-rays is far more extensive than all the tests from H-bombs could be for 30 years to come. Is Mr. Stevenson against all dental X-rays?

To try to win an election by attempting to frighten the electorate and at the same time to urge the taking of chances with American security at a critical time in history is an offense the equal of which no candidate for the presidency has ever committed.

If, as Mr. Stevenson concedes in one part of his speech, the Russians cannot be trusted to keep an agreement, why stop the American tests of the superbombs at all? Why give the Communists an advantage of several months — or even a few weeks?

There are several contradictory passages in the Stevenson speech which will make many voters wonder what kind of mind the Democratic party nominee has and what sort of judgment they can expect from the man who aspires to be commander-in-chief of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force. For, under existing law, Mr. Stevenson, if elected president, would have sole authority over what to do with superbombs and whether to use them at all. He would, of course, have no authority over the evil men in the Kremlin or any way of knowing their intent. Yet, in one part of his speech, he says he wouldn't trust them and in another part he is willing to take a chance and wait and see.

Why Take Chances?

In the first part of the speech, Mr. Stevenson rightly says that "we have learned that unilateral disarmament invites rather than deters aggression." But he goes ahead nevertheless to defend the idea of a unilateral or one-sided abandonment of tests not far different in effect from what he proposed last April in a public speech in Washington before the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Mr. Stevenson admits that "until there is worldwide agreement on an effective system of balanced arms reductions with adequate safeguards," the United States must maintain its defenses. He then adds:

"All our efforts to work out any safe, reliable, effective system of inspection to prevent evasion of arms agreements have been blocked by the Soviet rulers. They will not agree to let us inspect them; we cannot agree to disarm unless we can inspect them. And the matter has been deadlocked there for 11 years."

But further on in the same speech the Democratic nominee returns to the idea of a one-sided discontinuance of H-bomb tests by anticipating a broken pledge by the Russians. He says:

"In short, H-bomb testing requires no inspection. We will know it when it happens anywhere, and by studying the dust from that explosion we can determine what progress the other country has made. This means that if any country broke its pledge we would know it and could promptly resume our testing."

But why take any chances, especially since officials of the Atomic Energy Commission say it takes many months—and not a few weeks—to make preparations for H-bomb tests? There is some evidence, too, that tests can be concealed. Mr. Stevenson himself isn't sure that any good would come from abandoning our tests while the Russians, even though pledged not to do any testing, failed to keep their word. He says toward the end of his Monday night speech:

"In the meantime—and frankly because bitter experience has proved that we cannot rely even on the firm agreement of one bloc of world powers—we will proceed both with the production of hydrogen weapons and with further research in the field."

Then why trust the Communists now? Also, what is meant by "further research"? Scientists say research without tests is not adequate.

Mr. Stevenson has been misled by his "left wing" advisers into the worst bungle in modern politics. He is gambling that the public will not understand or give weight to the truth as revealed to them by the highest standing scientists of the country. He evidently believes the people will accept as truth the stump speeches of a candidate who is willing to make almost any claim in the hope of getting elected. It is a fantastic gamble—a curious idea of the credulity of the American people.

Maryland Racing Commission Rejects Quinella Betting

Further Study Of Plan Asked By Chairman

May Consider Idea In 1957; Nine Race Proposal Defeated

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (AP)—Quinella betting on horses and nine races instead of eight at Baltimore Raceway were rejected today by the Maryland Racing Commission.

The harness track had requested the extra race for the rest of its meeting ending Nov. 1 to compensate for a decline in betting attributed to last week's cool weather.

The track's betting is 16 per cent lower than for the same period last year.

Opposes Nine Races

Commission Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart said he didn't believe that sufficient to declare an emergency and grant more races. He said also he wasn't convinced by figures offered by the track that a "nine-race program over an extended period would increase wagering."

He and the two other commissioners also shied away from authorizing quinella betting at the state's major tracks this year.

The Maryland Racing Council, composed of representatives of all segments of the sport, had asked that the system, in which a bettor who can pick the first two horses regardless of their order of finish is paid off, be tried at Laurel and Pimlico.

"We want to finish horse racing this year under the same system as it started," said Commission Chairman Eldred Rinehart in turning down the request.

"We are not saying quinella betting does not have some merit. But we do not feel it advisable to put into effect at this time."

Make Further Study

He advised the racing interests to make a further study of the plan and have the commission consider it again next year.

Quinella betting was popularized on greyhound racing and only a handful of horse tracks offer it. Among the latest horse racing tracks to provide the betting are Woodbine in Toronto and Bay Meadows at San Mateo, Calif.

Quinella betting differs from the familiar daily double in that a bettor picks out two horses in one race and wins if both finish first or second. In the daily double, the bettor must pick the winners of the first two races.

Frank Brady, treasurer of Laurel, and John Manfuso, officer of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Assn., sought to convince the three man commission that quinella betting would attract more people to the tracks.

Cites Benefits

The result would be more betting from which the tracks, horsemen and state would benefit.

"The idea of betting $2 and maybe hitting the jackpot," would entice more customers, Manufso said.

10,000 See Nashua Run For Last Time

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 18 (AP)—Nashua streaked down the stretch for the last time today at Keeneland with jockey Eddie Arcaro clucking encouragement in his ear.

Some 10,000 fans cheered and shouted "come on, come on" as he turned on his famed speed although there was no competition and no money at stake.

For Nashua was undisputed king in this horse-loving blue grass country in his final public appearance—officially proclaimed "Nashua Day" by Lexington's mayor.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (INS) — If you want to know what's wrong with the fight racket in this country, just take a look at the ring ratings in each division.

Four of the champions have been good fighters — Archie Moore, Ray Robinson, Carmen Basilio and Sandy Saddler—but all four are on the downgrade.

As for most of the contenders.. they aren't worth turning on your TV set to see.

There always are stars coming along in other sports. Why not in boxing? The answer is simple. First, there are virtually no small clubs in which youngsters could fight often and get a chance to develop, and second, they can make more driving a truck.

There was a time—and not so many years ago—when virtually all the contenders in each division were Americans. Now eight of the first ten contending light heavyweights are from abroad. So are two of the middleweights, and three each among the welters and lightweights.

Seven of the first ten featherweights are from other countries, as are the bantam champ and nine of his leading contenders and the flyweight king and all ten of his contenders.

Moore, who would love to be 40 again, and Floyd Patterson are to battle for the vacated heavyweight title Nov. 30. And behind them are such scintillating birds as Tommy Jackson, Willie Pastrano, Bob Baker, Harold Carter, Eddie Machen, John Holman, Bob Satterfield and Johnny Summerlin.

Robinson, once one of the greats of the ring, is soon to defend his middleweight title against Gene Fullmer, and believe it or not, that punchless fellow stands a good chance of licking Robinson.

Fullmer's chief stock in trade is the ability to take a punch, and his endurance might land him a winner. A few years ago Robinson would have feinted a bird like Fullmer out of his shoes. But today Sugar Ray's legs are gone, and he may have to stop Fullmer in five or six rounds if he is to retain his title.

Fullmer is the No. 1 contender, so you may imagine what the others are like. The welters behind Basilio are passable perhaps but the lightweights, including Joe Brown, the champion are a sad bunch.

So we don't have much choice these nights. It's either a poor fight or an alleged comedian, and we don't know which is more boring.

'Shoe' Earns Two Million In One Year

Purses For Lifetime Total $11,190,240

CAMDEN, N.J., Oct. 18 (AP) — Willie Shoemaker today became the first jockey in American thoroughbred racing history to earn two million dollars in purse money in one year.

Shoemaker, who is in a close battle with Willie Hartack for national riding honors, picked up the winner's share of $3,425 at Garden State Park today by riding Ada L. Rice's Beautillion to victory in the sixth race, boosting his 1956 purse winnings to $2,001,165.

The little Texan erased his own record of $1,876,760 set in 1954, the third year he was the money winning champion. Shoemaker first won the honor in 1951, with $1,329,890 and again in 1953, when his mounts earned $1,784,187.

The "Shoe's" lifetime's purse earnings now amount to $11,190,240.

Only twice since 1949 has Shoemaker failed to show purse earnings of less than a million dollars. At the end of his first racing year his mounts earned only $458,010, and in 1950, his total purse earnings amounted to $844,040. But after that, it was well over a million every year.

Archers Slay Deer In Hardy

Four Are Successful During First Week

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Oct. 19 — Hardy County hunters are meeting with varying success during the first week of the 1956 season.

Four long bow hunters during the first three days reported bagging deer and checked them at the station here. Edward F. Knipling, E. F. Knipling and Gordon D. Osborn, all of Arlington, Va., had does checked while Byron Rhodes, New Market, Va., reported a buck.

The squirrel season has been spotty according to the report of Conservation Officer Bart Townsend. Hunters have had difficulty in getting their limit in the eastern section of the county but reported fair success in the Flats area and on the western side of Potato row.

Turkeys are scattered with the kill reported less than last season. Judge H. M. Calhoun bagged a 21-pound gobbler on the first day and several other kills have been reported.

Long bow hunters after deer are out in strength with one Baltimore archery club having nearly 100 of their members hunting in the George Washington National Forest.

Post's Playground Beats Comets, 20-14, In Touch Football

Post Playground defeated the Comets by the score of 20-14 in a Touch Football League game yesterday at Penn Avenue Field.

"Pooch" Lewis passed to Stan Teets for 25 yards and Post's initial td in the first period. The Comets made a safety in the same stanza when Mickey Clark blocked a kick.

The Comets took an 8-6 lead at halftime when Bill Bulh passed to Jack DeVault for nine yards and a six-pointer.

Post's downed Bulh for a safety early in the third period and grabbed a 14-8 lead lead on Lou Metz's touchdown pass to Lewis. Bulh's three-yard run enabled the Comets to knot the score at 14-14 as the third quarter ended.

Metz passed to Lewis for a gain of 23 yards as Post's scored its winning touchdown in the final period.

POST'S	6	0	8	6—20
COMETS	2	6	6	0—14

Touchdowns: Post's—Lewis 2, Teets. Comets—DeVault, Bulh. Safety—Comets 1, Post 1.

Fears To Return

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 18 (AP) — Coach Sid Gillman of the Los Angeles Rams today announced the reinstatement of veteran end Tom Fears to the National Football League team's roster.

In another player move, the Rams placed halfback Brad Myers on the injured reserved list.

The Rams play the Green Bay Packers here Sunday. They have been working out in Milwaukee for the last two days.

Country Club Preparing For Kroll's Visit

Reservations Limited For Dinner Oct. 26

Reservations for the dinner that will follow the clinic and exhibition match in which Ted Kroll, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., will participate at the Cumberland Country Club on Friday, October 26 at 7:30 p. m., are limited and reservations must be made immediately with Carroll Boggs, CCC pro, it was announced last night.

Kroll, winner of the 1956 "World" championship and $50,000 at Tam O'Shanter, will have Max Elbin, pro at the Burning Tree Country Club, Bethesda, Md., as his partner in the exhibition match with Boggs and Charles S. Catherman, Jr., of the local club. Kroll formerly was connected with the Burning Tree Country Club. The 18-hole match is set for 2 p. m.

The match will mark the formal dedication of the new No. 13 335-yard, par 4 hole at the local course. The clinic and exhibition are free to all those interested in golf.

Kroll, who stands to benefit by at least $50,000 from exhibitions, is sponsored by the George S. May Company of Chicago. Ted's appearance here is sponsored by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The menu for the Friday night dinner will be seafood or roast beef. Kroll will be the guest of honor and will discuss his golf game and answer questions. Ted and his manager will be the only speakers on the program. C. S. Catherman, Jr., will act as toastmaster.

Kroll, whose money winnings as of September 1 were $72,835.83 for the year, will appear as guest of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at a noon luncheon Thursday, October 25.

Title Bout Will Be Televised, Broadcast

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP) — The heavyweight title bout between Archie Moore and Floyd Patterson at Chicago Stadium Nov. 30 will be broadcast and telecast by NBC, the network said today.

The International Boxing Club, promoters of the 15-rounder, confirmed this but said price for the show still is being negotiated with the sponsor (Gillette). It probably will bring close to $200,000.

Sacrifices Put Four Batsmen In .300 Class

Long, Piersall Led With 11 Flies Each

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Jim Piersall of the Boston Red Sox and Pittsburgh's Dale Long hit the most sacrifice flies in the major leagues the past season.

But four players who batted .300 should be especially indebted for the baseball regulation which did not charge them with a time at bat for a run-producing fly ball.

The "lucky quartet" includes Ted Kluszewski and Ed Bailey of Cincinnati, Jim Gilliam of Brooklyn and Clint Courtney of Washington. Each would have finished under .300 had the rule which was revived in 1954 not been in effect.

Kluszewski batted .302 with five sacrifice flies. Gilliam, with a pair of sacrifice flies; Bailey, with four; and Courtney, with three, each had a .300 mark. Counting their sacrifice flies as official trips to the plate, Kluszewski and Gilliam would have finished with .299 each and Bailey and Courtney at .297 apiece.

Piersall and Long each had 11 sacrifice flies in 1956, figures compiled by the Associated Press disclosed. Piersall, Red Sox outfielder, wound up with a .293 average and he would have had .288 under the old rule. Long also benefitted by five points, .264 instead of .259.

The major league's rules committee instructs official scorers to credit a batter with a sacrifice fly when, with less than two outs, he hits a fair fly ball which is caught and the runner scores after the catch. This regulation was dropped in 1939 and put back on the books after the 1953 campaign.

Minneapolis Seeks Nats' Franchise

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 18 (AP) — A Minneapolis major league baseball committee said today it will file an offer with Washington Senator directors tomorrow to move the Washington American League franchise to Minneapolis.

Charles O. Johnson, executive sports editor of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune and a leader in the movement to get a major league club into the Twin Cities, said the offer will be made at tomorrow's meeting of Washington directors.

Minneapolis previously had been mentioned as a possible new home for the New York Giants, its parent club.

Conference Selects All-America Board

The board includes Harold Wimmer, sports editor of the Roanoke, Va., Times; A. L. (Shorty) Hardman, sports editor of the Charleston, W. Va., Gazette; Ed Campbell of the Charleston, S.C., News and Courier; Ed Thomas, sports director of station WSLS-TV, Roanoke, Va.; and Joe Mason, sportscaster for radio station WLEE, Richmond.

The board will begin immediately to screen Southern Conference football players and make nomipations for the 1956 All-America team to be selected by the Associated Press in New York in early December.

Mountaineers Lose Services Of Lathey

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 18 (AP)—Light work and skull practice wound up West Virginia University's football drills today for the game with William and Mary Saturday.

Guard Gene Lathey won't make the trip to Williamsburg, Va., tomorrow because of a knee injury. Fullback Larry Krutko will be on hand, but he may not play because of an ailing ankle.

Dan Currie is the biggest man on Michigan State's first string line. The 230-pound guard from Detroit is 6 feet 3.

OAKLAND, Md., Oct. 18 — Kingwood High School of Preston County, W. Va., staged a garrison finish to win a 16-14 Southern High School here today.

The Staggs spotted the Highlanders two touchdowns and a safety in the first half, came back with a safety in the third period and registered two touchdowns and two conversions in the final quarter to eke out the decision.

The victory was the fourth against two losses for the West Virginians while the loss was the fifth against a single win for the locals.

Southern Takes 14-0 Lead

In the second quarter, Bill Deckman scored Southern's first touchdown by toting the ball over from the two-yard mark. Later in the same period Don Dewitt recovered a Kingwood fumble on the visitors' 45 to set up the second score. Six plays later Dewitt passed to Don Mason, who sprinted the final 30 yards to give the home team a 14-0 advantage at halftime.

Kingwood began shaving Southern's lead in the third stanza when the Stags tackled Dewitt in the end zone for a safety. A 22-yard pass put the ball on Southern's 5-yard line early in the final period and two plays later Doyne Lewis went over from the one for the Preston team's initial td. Jim Paige ran the extra point.

Pass Decides Game

With 1½ minutes remaining Kingwood scored the touchdown that decided the issue when Paige passed 20 yards to Buck Evenson, right end, who covered the remaining 25 yards for the six-pointer. Lewis scored the extra point on a ground play.

Martinsburg Faces Allegany In CVAL Game Here Tonight

Undefeated Fort Hill To Visit Hubs

Moorefield, Keyser Play For PVC Lead; Hawks Host Romney

Martinsburg and Allegany, gridiron rivals since 1919, are scheduled to provide the action tonight at the stadium in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League contest at 8 o'clock.

Coach Chester Payne's Campers, idle since October 8 when they suffered a 6-0 setback at the hands of Keyser, will be angling for their second win of the C. V. A. L. campaign while the Bulldogs of Coach John Coburn will be striving for their initial win after suffering reverses at the hands of Fort Hill and Hagerstown. The West Virginians were shut out in both contests. Allegany has lost to Handley and won over Hagerstown.

Sentinels In Hub City

With Head Coach William P. Hahn on the hospital list, Joe Pellerzi and Wayne Boor take the unbeaten Fort Hill Sentinels to Hagerstown for a C. V. A. L. battle with Coach Mel Henry's Hagerstown Hubs tonight.

Henry, a former Fort Hill mentor, will be sending his eighth Hagerstown team against the Sentinels since he took over the reins in the Hub City. In seven engagements his score against Fort Hill is one win, five losses and one tie game.

Fort Hill has an overall record of 5-0 for the current campaign and a two-year winning streak of 14 games. The Sentinels are the only unbeaten eleven in the six-team C. V. A. L. and own a 3-0 record. Hagerstown lost to Allegany and defeated Martinsburg in league action.

Keyser At Moorefield

The main attraction in the Potomac Valley Conference this week is the 27th meeting of Keyser and Moorefield at the latter place this afternoon. Moorefield is 5-0 in the 10-school circuit and Keyser's defending champions are 1-0 with four more games to play. A victory for Moorefield would give Johnny Paugh's Yellowjackets sole possession of first place. If "Tack" Clark's team can bag this one it has a good opportunity to roll on to its third straight conference crown.

Keyser puts an 11-game two-year winning streak on the line in today's contest. The Golden Tornado and Fort Hill are the only unbeaten and untied teams in the area to date. Moorefield has a scoreless tie with Greenbank on his record.

Ridgeley Hosts Romney

Coach Tom O'Connor's Ridgeley High Blackhawks will play host to the Romney High School Pioneers today at 2 p. m. at Ridgeley Field. Romney is 1-1 in the P.V.C. while Ridgeley has won two games and lost three.

In another conference game "Honey" Crites' Petersburg High Vikings will tackle Guy Propst's Indians at Circleville. Petersburg has won four and lost one in the league while the Grant Countians have dropped three in a row and have scored only seven points against 113 for the opposition.

Other Friday Battles

Gus Smith's Franklin High Panthers step out of the conference today for an engagement in Virginia with Hot Springs High School.

Mountaineer High School hosts Terra Alta today at Thomas, W. Va., while Parsons High's Panthers journey to Lewis county to engage Weston High School.

Frederick, a member of the C. V. A. L. entertains Wheaton High School tonight.

Senators Vote On Proposal To Leave Capital

Gabriel Murphy Opposes Transfer

By DILLON GRAHAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — Move or stay put? The Washington Senators decide tomorrow.

Directors of the Washington American League baseball club vote tomorrow afternoon in what is expected to be a tempestuous session, on whether to move to Los Angeles, San Francisco, Louisville or continue here.

President Calvin Griffith is trying to engineer the shift. Reports say that Griffith—who wants to switch to Los Angeles—can swing a majority of the five-man board his way. H. Gabriel Murphy, a director who owns 40 per cent of the stock, opposes a transfer. He has threatened court action to keep the Senators here.

Griffith, adopted son of the late Clark Griffith who ran the Senators for a half century, conceded today that moving the franchise will be a touch-and-go struggle. He'll have just 12 days to wrap up the deal before the Oct. 31 deadline for transfers effective for the 1957 season.

Getting the approval of the Washington club directors is just the first—and perhaps easiest — step.

Afterwards, Griffith must negotiate a contract with Los Angeles, if the decision is to go to that city, (2) come to an agreement with the Pacific Coast League and with Phil K. Wrigley to buy his Los Angeles Coast League franchise and then (3) obtain American League approval. Also, there's the likelihood of delaying court action by Murphy.

President Will Harridge has said he doesn't want to call an American League meeting to consider a move unless all is harmonious on the Washington club. And there is no harmony between Griffith and Murphy, largest single stockholder.

State Racing Body Opposes Canine Sport

Rinehart Says 278 Days Enough Racing

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (AP)—Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart announced in advance today opposition of the Maryland Racing Commission to legalize dog racing.

A new corporation, the Maryland Dog Racing Assn., has announced intentions of asking the Legislature convening in January to approve betting on the greyhounds.

Rinehart took cognizance of the proposal and declared "it is going to meet with the fullest opposition of this commission."

Rinehart noted the dog association has estimated the State's share of a tax on the sport would net six million dollars a year.

The commission chairman expressed doubt there would be any increased revenue to the State.

He noted the 1956 Legislature had gratuitiously increased racing days for the three major tracks, Laurel, Bowie and Pimlico, on the premise it would provide additional revenue.

"I would hazard a guess that State revenue is not going to be substantially increased," Rinehart said.

The state now has 278 daily programs of horse racing at mile, half-mile and harness tracks, "and that is all Maryland can stand," Rinehart said.

The new dog racing association is headed by Mathhew M. Mezzanottee and Lafayette Franklin, Washington investment brokers. They had announced plans to build two tracks in Prince Georges and one in Baltimore County if dog racing was legalized.

Gallagher Declines Angels' Presidency

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP)—James T. Gallagher, who resigned as business manager of the Chicago Cubs last week, today declined the presidency of the Cubs' Los Angeles farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

The offer was made by Phil K. Wrigley, who owns the Cubs and Angeles.

John Holland, who was president of the Los Angeles club, was named Cub general manager in the Chicago National League club's shakeup last Thursday and Friday.

Hahn To Miss First Game In Twelve Years

Directed Fort Hill 107 Straight Games

When Fort Hill High School plays Hagerstown High School's gridders tonight in the Hub City, Coach William P. "Bill" Hahn will be missing from the Sentinels' bench for the first time after a run of 107 consecutive games that started when he took over the reins at the local school in 1942.

With the exception of the three years he was in the Navy—1943, 1944 and 1945—Hahn always has been on hand to direct his team over 11½ playing seasons which ended last Friday night when the popular mentor collapsed at halftime during the Fort Hill-Handley game and was taken to Memorial Hospital.

Hahn still is hospitalized with what is described as a case of "fatigue."

Dr. G. Overton Himmelwright, the attending physician, last night reported that tests still are being run on Hahn and diagnostic work is still unfinished. He intimated that "Bill" will remain at the hospital at least another week.

The physician stated that Hahn's condition is improved and added:

"Bill seems to be depressed because he is unable to be with his team Friday night."

The "no visitors" sign still appears on the door of Hahn's room at the hospital.

Joe Pellerzi and Wayne Boor, Hahn's aides, will direct the Sentinels tonight when they go after their 6th win of the season and seek to extend their two-year victory string to 15 games.

Lane-Ryff Fight Approved By Miami Despite NBA Ban

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 18 (AP)—Despite Kenny Lane's indefinite suspension by the National Boxing Assn., the Miami Boxing Commission will allow the fourth-ranking lightweight from Muskegon, Mich. to meet Frankie Ryff of New York in a nationally-televised fight Nov. 7.

At a meeting last night, the Miami group approved the bout "without reservations," although the NBA has suspended Lane pending investigation of a contract dispute in New Orleans.

In risking possible ouster from the NBA, the Miami commission said promoter W. H. Peeples had made the Lane-Ryff match before hearing about Lane's suspension, and that he ought to be assured of some safety in making fights in advance.

The NBA suspended Lane after promoter Heard Ragas of New Orleans charged the Michigan boxer failed to keep a contract to meet Ralph Dupas in New Orleans Oct. 8.

Pen-Mar League To Meet Monday

The final business meeting of the Pen-Mar Baseball League will be held Monday at 8 p. m. at Melody Manor, Barrelville.

All prize winners are urged to attend this meeting to receive their trophies.

Giambra Fights Turner Tonight

Former Is Favored In New York Scrap

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Middleweight contender Joe Giambra, aiming for his fifth straight victory, was a 3-1 favorite to beat skidding Gil Turner at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The 10-rounder, feature of the first boxing card in the Garden since Sept. 7, will be broadcast and telecast (NBC 9 p.m. EST).

Giambra has shaken the rust of two years of military service in his four wins of 1956. By defeating Al Andrews, Johnny Sullivan twice, and Rocky Castellani, the 25-year-old boxer-puncher from Buffalo, N.Y. regained a spot in the top 10 of the middleweight division. He is now 10th. His record is 45-4-1 with 24 knockouts.

Turner, once a ranking welterweight and middleweight, has dropped three straight and may be on the way out of the big time. The 26-year-old Philadelphian, long a crowd-pleaser with his perpetual motion style, has slowed up considerably.

Electronic Devices Are Outlawed By Pro League

12 NFL Teams Vote In Favor Of Action

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18 (AP) — The National Football League is going back to the old fashioned style of having quarterbacks either think for themselves or receive instructions by messengers on foot.

Commissioner Bert Bell announced today that electronic devices used by some league teams for communication between coaches on the sidelines and the quarterback have been outlawed for the balance of the 1956 season.

Bell said the action was taken in a telephone poll of NFL teams. There wasn't one dissenting voice or even a semblance of an argument. Even Paul Brown, coach of the Cleveland Browns, who first made space cadets of his quarterbacks, was happy to go along with the ban.

The commissioner said "by unanimous consent of the 12 member clubs . . . all electronic devices, including walkie talkies . . . must be eliminated for the remainder of the season."

And Bell thinks the action will become a permanent one. "All the clubs were cooperative and it is my opinion that at the next annual meeting something will be put in the league book to outlaw the things permanently," he said.

Bell said the action was initiated because reaction to the use of these coach-to-quarterback radios or transistors was bad. He said the fans, through the mail, press, radio and television reporters had expressed disapproval. "I did not read or hear any favorable comments on it," Bell said.

Intercepted Orders

The operation became almost a joke last Sunday when the New York Giants claimed they intercepted Brown's orders to his quarterbacks in the Browns-Giants game. According to the Giants they had a coach stationed on the sidelines with an interceptor set and relayed the Cleveland plays to their defense. Brown said he used the electronic system only for a few plays since the roar of the crowd drowned out his voice in the quarterback's helmet receiving set.

Julius Boros Wins In South Carolina

SPARTANSBURG, S. C., Oct. 18 (AP)—Julius Boros of Mid Pines N.C., fired his third straight sub par round here today to win the Carolinas PGA Golf Tournmane with a 54-hole 209 total.

It was the first tourney victory of the year for the Tar Heel pro who has twice won the "World" championship and is a former National Open titleholder.

Boros carded a two-under-par 6 today over the soggy Spartanburg Country Club course after posting 70's in the first two rounds.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

I've Been Through This Before

Every once in awhile, I get the unmistakable feeling that I'm living through the 20's all over again. (And once was enough.) For instance, the story the other day about the brother and sister whose house was bulging with money, maybe $50,000 in cash, much of it lying around the floor. The sister's explanation—"You know how it is, you need money around the house for emergencies"—had the ring of the Prohibition era all over it.

Every time one of the Gabor sisters latches on to another husband I think fondly of Peaches Browning. We don't, alas, have any really good gangster funerals any more but once in awhile the Marquis de Cuevas throws a party which is just as senselessly extravagant. The '20s had Queen Marie of Romania and we've got the Duchess of Windsor. And they had the wildly lamented Rudolph Valentino and we have the wildly lamented James Dean.

In this last case, we may even be outdoing the '20s in lunacy. There was the lady in black (or maybe several of them) who visited Valentino's tomb regularly but Dean has literally thousands of these worshippers who write him letters, ignoring the fact that he's dead. In Valentino's day, there were no television networks (or radio networks either for that matter) so he was spared a two-network post mortem which is what happened to Dean the other night.

To recapitulate, the low bow to Mr. Dean's memory was originally the property of Steve Allen, who thought of it first; then Ed Sullivan horned in and got the rights to the opening of "Giant" in which Mr. Dean starred and a little bit of film with Dean in it. Consequently, the Dean fans had to do quite a lot of channel switching back and forth to get a taste of both memorials which, to make things even more complicated and ridiculous, were on at almost the same time.

Since I have only one pair of eyes, I saw most of the Allen tribute, practically none of the Sullivan one. It was real silly, too. On film, Mr. Allen took us down the main street of the Indiana town Dean haled from which looked like every Midwest main street you ever saw, past growing corn fields which looked just like corn fields, past the church . . . I thought for a minute I was seeing a parody on one of Edward R. Murrow's documentaries. "And this is the Suez—crossroads of the world." And this is the main street—where Dean used to cross."

Actually, Allen's narration was very sensible and counselled sensibility among Dean's fans. It was all right to derive inspiration from Dean's life, he said, but don't go mooning over his pictures. Some of the teenagers from Dean's home town seem to be on the right track to the extent of studying dramatics. There'll be nobody left to harvest the corn in a couple of years.

Allen countered the bit of film on the Sullivan show with quite a lengthy bit of kinescope from a TV drama Dean did back in 1953. I remember seeing the original and not thinking very much of it as drama without being particularly exercised about Dean's performance one way or another. And for good reason. Dean went through several metamorphoses of acting styles after this phase in which he seemed to be under the influence of Rod Steiger.

He was a talented kid all right, Dean, and still growing when he died. Now that it's all over, I can't help feeling that the rush to get in on the slightly sensational and morbid interest in a dead actor will not go down as one of television's most illustrious evenings. Back in the '20s gun molls who had just eliminated a lover were good for a season's booking through the vaudeville houses. As I say, I get this nagging feeling that I've been through all this before.

Of course, we haven't got anything resembling Aimee Semple MacPherson yet — unless you count Liberace as playing to the same audience. But when they add up the idiocies of the '20s and those of the '50s—we're not going to be far behind.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 18 — (INS) —"Too Young" is the intriguing and song-like title of Ross Hunter's adaptation of the Broadway play "Teach Me How To Cry." While he was in New York, Ross made arrangements to bring fourteen-year-old Sandra Dee to University - International to test for the title role.

The famous German director Helmut Kautner, who has been here conferring with Hunter and script writer Edward Anhalt, returns in January to direct "Too Young." Kautner has directed most of O. W. Fisher's successes and his "Captain of Kopenick," is currently Germany's top film. And incidentally, Ross is negotiating for a new U. I. contract which he says is not yet negotiated.

A year ago, Kirk Douglas bought the Samuel Grafton novel, "The Most Contagious Game," for his company. Up to now he's been so busy making other pictures that he's done nothing about it.

Now he tells me that he's putting it in the hands of a writer and will make it immediately after he finishes " King Kelly." The story is about a reporter who is sent into the underworld posing as a gangster to get some inside dope, and remains a member of the gang.

Kirk and Anne moved into their new home over the weekend.

I scarcely had my eyes open when Audrey Hepburn called from Paris. She was telephoning from the set of "Love In The Afternoon," where they were having a party.

She put Mel Ferrer on the telephone and he said he would be in Hollywood in ten days to finish scenes for "Harvest Thunder" which he made for M-G-M in France. "I fly back to Paris from Hollywood and Audrey and I go to London for the premiere of 'War And Peace,'" he said.

"After the 'War and Peace' Premiere, we'll return to California where Audrey will discuss L'Aiglon, her next picture."

Gary Cooper was not among those present at the party because he was sick with flu and in bed at his hotel.

If you talk to Burt Lancaster or Harold Hecht, they will tell you it pays to advertise. They spent $1,400,000 advertising "Trapeze," in addition to the $3,000,000 it cost to produce the picture. Now they have already taken in $6,500,000 just in this country.

It is expected the picture will gross $8,000,000, which only goes to prove the old axiom, "the more you spend, the more you get." Mr. Hecht has bought a yacht and Mr. Lancaster has altered his home to the tune of $300,000.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Vic Mature, whose big moment is Karon Steele, will be reunited with her at the premiere of Sharkfighters" at Norfolk, Va.

Marlene Dietrich is hoping her third grandchild will arrive on her birthday—December 28.

Cole Porter is writing a Broadway musical for Dolores Gray. She was so wonderful on the wonderful Cole Porter salute a week ago.

Rosalind Russell and Freddie Brisson celebrate their fifteenth wedding anniversary October 25 and you can bet Freddie will go east to be with Roz and celebrate both the wedding anniversary and the sellout of Roz's show "Auntie Mame."

Old memories were discussed when Hoot Gibson and Johnny Mack Brown met at Rand's Roundup for dinner and gabbed for hours.

Edward Arnold's widow Cleo had a real premiere at the opening of her new hat shop in Studio City.

Rex Harrison and Doris Duke a twosome at Chandler's in New York, but Rex's heart still belongs to Kay Kendall.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Joe Jones Cops Opening Feature Race At Jamaica

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 18—(AP)—Streaking along the rail, Ethel D. Jacobs' Joe Jones won the fourth running of the $24,250 Sport Page Handicap as the Greater New York Association opened a 25-day meeting at Jamaica Race Track today.

Joe Jones, 6-year-old son of Stymie-Moon Maiden, ran down the pace-setting Decathlon in the final 50 yards to win by three quarters of a length going away. Twin Oaks Stable's History Book, a field horse, finished a half length back of Decathlon and a neck in front of Meadowhill's Hartsville, the other horse in the field.

Given but lukewarm support in the wagering by the crowd of 16,124, Joe Jones returned mutuels of $11.30, $4.20 and $3.30. Decathlon paid $3.50 and $2.80 and History Book was $5.00 to show.

The victory was worth $17,000 net to Mrs. Jacobs, wife of Trainer Hirsch Jacobs of Forest Hills, L. I.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

IO TAEMM LDU BYDZRVO OKREM• PUF JF URYLPLX OWOYFUAPLX RBTPZO-ZDIL—AOYJOYU.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THE SCENE CHANGES BUT THE ASPIRATIONS OF MEN OF GOOD WILL PERSIST—BUSH.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 no trump	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Two of hearts.

South in today's deal was critical of his partner's raise to four spades, maintaining that with his evenly balanced hand he should have returned to three no trump. South would have been better advised to survey his own actions. Had he chosen to allow for the possibility that the breaks were against him he would have brought home his four spade contract.

As for North's election to raise to four spades, it meets with the approval of this contributor whose observation it has been that where the opening no trumper is faced with a choice between three no trump and four of a major, he should favor the major where most of his tricks are of the first and second round variety. But he should lean toward no trump when his hand contains an abundance of intermediate cards.

The deuce of hearts was opened and taken in dummy with the ace and king of spades, at which point as the cards lay, he could no longer win the hand. He was, to be sure, victim of an unfortunate distribution when clubs failed to break and the ace of diamonds was "offside," but even against these hardships he could have come home with his contract had he resorted to the elementary practice of counting to 10.

Declarer, after winning the opening lead, ruffs a heart in his hand and leads a diamond. East wins with the ace. His best return is a trump, which declarer wins with the jack. The diamond trick should be cashed and another heart ruffed in the closed hand. At this point declarer takes in his ace and king of clubs and gets out with a club. Regardless of the defense, declarer will be able to ruff his remaining club with dummy's ace of spades.

Our listings in this column weekly, do not mean that they are all the outstanding programs for the week. We know that you and your family have the many favorite programs "lined up to view" and we wish we had time and room to cover these for you also. We hear so many people say that had I known it, I would have watched a certain program last night rather than my old favorite, because this program had guest stars I would have loved to have seen or the plot of the program was just what I wanted to see. One way to overcome the above situation is to review the details of programming of all 4 TV stations, such as TV GUIDE carries. Another way is to have an extra Cable TV connection, which will give your family twice as many programs to view at the same time. The cost of this extra connection is only $15.00 and $1.50 per month, plus tax.

In Memoriam

In memory of my dearest Daddy, David M. Short, who was killed 10 years ago today, October 19, 1946, in Germany.
I miss my Daddy very much
And wish that he was here,
My love will grow and grow,
With each passing year,
Because I will remember him,
As the dearest Daddy he was.
Sadly missed by his daughter,
BARBARA ANN SHORT,
Annapolis, Maryland.

For The Ladies

Mr., here are a few cars that the little woman will like. When you drive one of these sharp little models up to the door, she will beam with excitement. She will enjoy the smooth, comfortable ride and you'll be proud of the peppy little engine that goes up or down hills with the same zip and vigor. Try one of these today, it will be the best car you ever owned.

55 CHEVROLET V-8 Bel Air. R& H. and the economy-packed, new Powerglide. Any one can sell you a car cheap—We sell you a Nice car cheap.
Only $1795

53 CHEVROLET 4 door, R & H. Power steering, Yes, Power Steering! Your wife can park this car without unnecessary straining. It has a two tone green finish set off by white wall tires. Just try it. It's worth every penny.
Only $995

Former AEC Medical Chief Says Adlai's Impressions On Bomb Testing Are Wrong

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission's one-time medical research chief said that statements made by Adlai Stevenson "regarding dangers of strontium-90 from bomb - testing should be corrected."

In a telegram to AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, Dr. Shields Warren of Boston also commented as to the question of nuclear weapons-testing:

"To permit us to fall behind Russians is disastrous; to wait for them to catch up to us is stupid."

Strauss released the telegram here soon after presidential press secretary James Hagerty had told newsmen in Seattle that President Eisenhower believed Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, made "incorrect statements" in his speech on the hydrogen bomb Monday night.

The AEC information office telephoned the text of the telegram to news services—a speed-up procedure unusual for it. Ordinarily, its statements are distributed by messengers under instructions not to enter a given office until a certain time. This is to insure that all will get the material simultaneously.

Warren's telegram began:

"Believe statement of Mr. Stevenson Monday night, Oct. 15, regarding dangers of strontium-90 from bomb-testing should be corrected.

"From genetic standpoint, radioactive fall-out including strontium-90 has given only small dose to date, as compared with dose from naturally - occurring and hence unavoidable background radiation.

"If weapons-testing continues at present rate for 30 years, genetic dose would be still insignificant and only fraction of background."

Dr. Warren also said that deposits of strontium in human bone—where medical scientists say it could cause bone cancer if present in sufficient amounts—is at present a "minute fraction of permissible level and well below natural background level of radiation."

"To cause harmful effects dose would have to be increased many times," he said.

Warren said "distant or world-wide radioactive fall-out is not the controlling factor in bomb - testing," and then added his comment that falling behind the Russians would be disastrous and letting them catch up would be stupid.

Warren also said that data recently reported by Dr. Willard F. Libby, a scientist member of the AEC, "indicate weapons tests of past two years have merely restored the stratospheric burden of radioactivity to the level of two years ago."

The AEC said Warren is now scientific director of the Cancer Research Institute of New England Deaconess Hospital. It noted he was one of the U.S. delegates to the Geneva international conference last year on peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The AEC also said Warren was chairman of the Committee on Pathologic Effects of Atomic Radiation of the National Academy of Sciences which it said issued a report last June "containing the most authoritative information available on the subject of the biological effects of atomic radiation."

Warren headed the AEC's Division of Biology and Medicine from early days of the agency until June 30, 1952 when he resigned.

Hercules Reports Nine Month Income

Hercules Powder Company reported for the nine months ended September 30, 1956, net income equal after payment of preferred dividends to $1.66 a share of common stock.

Net income for the first nine months of 1955 was equal to $1.73 a share of common stock.

For the third quarter of 1956, net income was equal after payment of preferred dividends to 48 cents a share of common stock. This compares with net income in the third quarter of 1955 equal to 60 cents a share.

Net sales and operating revenues for the nine months' period were $177,544,464 compared with $169,791,798 for the corresponding 1955 period.

Hagerty Ready To Testify In Nickel Probe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall said that he is prepared to testify "immediately after the election or any time thereafter" in a House investigation of a government nickel plant project.

Hall made this response to an invitation from Rep. Jack Brooks (D-Tex) to appear at public hearings scheduled to resume tomorrow.

Brooks is chairman of a special House Government Activities subcommittee investigating what Brooks terms "possible favoritism and political influence" in the award of contracts for expansion of the government's nickel plant at Nicaro, Cuba.

Hall's office made public a letter in which the GOP chairman told Brooks his time "is completely devoted to urgent matters in the closing days of this national campaign." He requested that the subcommittee schedule his appearance after the election, saying:

"I know that you in all fairness would not want to do anything to impair the conduct of this campaign in the homestretch hours."

Hall was asked to "testify under oath concerning any part he may have played in the award of the —Nicaro—contracts."

The subcommittee said last month it has documents indicating that Randall Cremer, former project manager of the Nicaro expansion, met with Hall to solicit his support for a contract for the Frederick Snare Corp.

Hall has denied he passed in any manner upon the contract award.

Presley Fan Club Head Mad At Waco Treatment

By IRWIN FRANK

DALLAS, Oct. 18 (AP)—The national president of an Elvis Presley fan club doesn't have time to work—she's too busy taking care of her 10,000 club members "who really go for that boy."

Right now Kay Wheeler, is fighting mad about the way Waco treated "the idol of teen-agers everywhere."

"You know that place Elvis sang in holds 11,000 people and only 5,000 showed up to hear him sing," the 17-year-old black-haired girl said. Presley appeared in Waco last weekend.

"Why they ought to be flattered he came to that town. Waco is the squarest town in America. Why those people just sat on their hands while he sang."

More than 26,000 persons turned out to hear the rock 'n' roll sensation when he appeared at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas last week.

"He told me Dallas was one of the biggest triumphs in his career and he gave me lots of credit for it," she said.

The Dallas girl graduated from high school in June but has not gone to work or to college because her fan club keeps her busy.

"Why, no. Who would want money for doing that?" she declared.

She said, "He never writes me. He's just too busy."

Miss Wheeler's club got its big boost when she wrote an article for a movie magazine titled, "I Flipped Over Elvis."

"I got 1,000 letters a week after the article came out and since then I've got 500 a week. I've got 10,000 club members in the country—4,000 in Houston alone. But that Waco, I don't have a club in that city."

She's met Presley four times in Texas but "everytime I get near him I can't say the things I'd planned on saying. I just kind of flip when I see him. At the press conference in Dallas he said 'hello Kay' to me and I almost flipped. Oh, he's the most."

Antibiotic Drug Found

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Development of a potent new antibiotic wonder drug, designed primarily as a kind of "souper-upper" for certain other drugs, was reported here.

It is "oleandomycin"—so called because one of its component chemical structures is similar to an extract of the oleander evergreen bush. The drug itself is derived from the same general family of molds that produced streptomycin.

"Instances have already been recorded in which oleandomycin has proved life-saving for victims of infections caused by germs resistant to all other antibiotics," said spokesmen for the Chas. Pfizer Co., Brooklyn pharmaceutical firm which discovered the drug.

The first human trials of the new drug either alone or in combination with other antibiotics were described at the opening of the fourth annual International Symposium on Antibiotics sponsored by the Federal Food and Drug Administration. The substance is not yet available commercially.

One report described use of oleandomycin alone as an effective treatment for gonorrhea. A number of reports discussed its use against a variety of other infections when used in combination with certain antibiotic drugs already in general use.

In such a combined use, the drug reportedly promoted a "synergistic" effect—that is a "souping up" or enhancing of the effect that either drug singly, or even theoretically in combination, would be expected to have on strains of germs resistant to one or the other.

Woman Found Not Guilty In Baby's Death

Jury Deliberates More Than Hour

A 26-year-old unmarried Washington County woman yesterday was acquitted of murder of her infant child. The all-male Allegany County Circuit Court jury deliberated about one hour and 15 minutes before reaching its verdict.

Miss Margaret Norma Everitt of Pondsville was indicted by the May grand jury in Washington County Circuit Court and her attorney had the case removed here later in the same month.

She has been in jail in Hagerstown since the badly-decomposed body of her baby was dug from a shallow grave in Paden's Woods near where she lived with her common law husband and her six-year-old son.

Judge Instructs

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris instructed the jury that it could return one of five verdicts in the case. They were murder in the first degree without recommendation, murder in the first degree without capital punishment, murder in the second degree, manslaughter, and not guilty.

Clifton Van Roby, foreman of the jury, came from the jury room after about an hour's deliberation and informed Associate Jurge Morgan C. Harris that the jurors would like additional instruction.

Judge Harris then re-read the instructions with added emphasis. After retiring another 15 minutes the 12 men returned wtih their verdict of acquittal.

Trooper Testifies

State Trooper First Class Clyde B. Tucker was the first witness. He testified about two statements given police at the Washington County Jail by the woman after she was taken into custody April 9.

Tucker testified that she told him that she took two capsules from a bottle to bring on a miscarriage and she allowed the baby to lie without attention for about an hour after its birth. In her statement she was quoted as saying she knew the baby was alive at birth March 6 because she felt it breathing against her.

Miss Everitt told Trooper Tucker that she wrapped the baby in some papers and buried it in the woods near her home March 8. Trooper Tucker and State Police Cpl. H. L. Basore, the second witness, both testified that they went to the woods with the woman April 9 and dug up the badly decomposed body of the baby.

A third witness, Charles M. Rouzer, Hagerstown funeral director, testified that he was called to the woods to get the body after it was disinterred.

Could Have Been Stillborn

By stipulation, a statement from Dr. Russell S. Fisher, chief medical officer of the State of Maryland, was read into the record. Dr. Fisher wrote that the male fetus could have been an eight-month or full-term baby and could have been born dead or alive. He could not ascertain definitely because of the badly decomposed condition of the body.

The defendant herself was the last witness. She said that on Sunday, March 4, she fell off a ladder which she had ascended to gather chicken eggs from a loft above the garage on her farm. She fell against the car, felt dizzy afterwards, and took several capsules to relieve the pain. Two days later the baby was born.

On cross-examination, Miss Everitt acknowledged that she has given birth to six children, only two of whom are living. The first was born in New York City when she was 17 years old.

Only four witnesses were heard after the court spent most of the morning obtaining a jury. Nine of the 25 members of the regular panel were chosen and three of 14 talismen were summoned off the streets.

The Washington County State's Attorney, O. T. Kaylor Jr., was assisted in prosecution of the case by his assistant, W. Warren Stultz, and Allegany County State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher. Defense attorneys were Martin V. B. Bostetter, Hagerstown, and Julius B. Schindler, this city.

Kaylor presented the final argument for the state and Bostetter for the defendant.

14,000 School Teachers Meet In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (AP)—More than 14,000 Maryland public school teachers descended on Baltimore today for their 89th convention.

They jammed the big exhibit hall in the Fifth Regiment Armory, inspecting and ordering the latest in teaching aids, school equipment, books, charts, films, projectors and thousands of articles on display.

More than 10,000 heard Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine ambassador to the United States, appeal for greater understanding of the importance of Asia to the security of the United States.

They also heard Gov. McKeldin call for "skilled study—constant study—and community discussion in the effort to get more schools built more rapidly and less expensively without losing any of their educational values.

Earlier, the Maryland State Teachers Assn.'s governing body, the Representative Assembly, received resolutions reaffirming the teachers' support of integration in schools, supporting the State Board of Education's proposals for an $800 increase in salary scales, and recommending revisions in teacher certification regulations.

The resolutions and other business of the association will be acted upon at a second meeting of the assembly Saturday. The other business will include adoption of a proposed budget calling for expenditures totaling $186,727.

The Friday program of the three-day convention calls for a general session at which Chester Bowles, former governor of Connecticut and ambassador to India, will deliver the principal address, and for departmental meetings.

The departmental meetings are the events where the teachers get down to educational brass tacks—where they hear from the experts in the various fields and branches of educational activity.

The annual state meeting also means a long weekend for pupils in the public schools. Most schools throughout the state were closed today and won't reopen until Monday.

On Saturday, the assembly is expected to approve the action of the nominationg committee, and follow association custom in elevating Miss Violet Davis of Harford County to the presidency succeeding Paul B. Stevens of Baltimore.

The committee nominated E. Guy Jewell, principal of Rockville Elementary School, for second vice president and he will thus be in line for election to the presidency next year.

Joseph T. Barlow of Baltimore County was nominated as treasurer to succeed Dr. Charles W. Sylvester, retiring after 18 years.

Speaker Says ICC Rail Rules Need Modernizing

Interstate Commerce Commission regulations over America's railroads, virtually unchanged since 1887 when the railroads enjoyed a transportation monopoly, should be modernized to meet present-day needs.

That is the view of Charles B. Brenton, assistant to the director of personnel of the Western Maryland Railway, who was in Cumberland yesterday to speak as chairman of the Railroad Community Committee of Baltimore.

This committee is composed of representatives of the six railroads serving Baltimore and is similar to 19 other community committees located in the area served by the railroads comprising the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference, sponsor of all the committees.

City Has Stake

Brenton said this city and the State of Maryland have a big interest in the welfare of railroads. In Cumberland alone, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway together have about 2,900 employes whose annual wages exceed $13,000,000.

Transportation regulations have existed some seven centuries. Regulation of common carriers first appeared in England in the 13th Century when the use of post roads and waterways as a means of transportation for hire became popular.

Regulation of the American railroads began in 1887 when Congress enacted the Interstate Commerce Act. These regulations remain virtually unchanged today. However, the inland waterway system, over-the-road-trucks, airlines and pipelines, railroad competitors, are governed by fairly modern regulations.

Brenton told his audience that immediately after World War II the railroads transported over 75 per cent of all intercity freight. Last year the railroads' share fell to less than 50 per cent.

Committee Named

This drop in freight handlings so alarmed the federal government that President Eisenhower in July 1954 named Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks chairman of a Cabinet committee to take an overall look at the nation's transportation policy and organization.

This committee submitted a report nine months later which contains a number of recommendations, all of which have been endorsed by the railroad industry. The one recommendation especially stressed by Brenton is that of competitive pricing.

"We feel that we should be permitted to establish our own rates so long as they are compensatory by the ICC's own standards, but without the ICC having authority to upset the rate by reason of the effect it will have on the rates of other modes of transportation," Brenton explained.

To implement this report three bills were introduced in the last session of Congress. They were designed to modify the Interstate Commerce Act in accordance with recommendations of the report. No action was taken on these bills.

Brenton said that similar bills will be introduced when Congress reconvenes and this time more favorable action is the goal. He spoke before the Kiwanis Club here.

Monday Is City Tax Deadline

Interest dating back to August 20—the day the levy was set—will be charged on city taxes unpaid at 5 p. m. Monday, or postmarked after midnight.

Collections passed the $740,000 mark yesterday after more than $120,000 was collected on Wednesday and yesterday.

Mahoney Visits Frederick Co.

FREDERICK, Oct. 18 (AP)—George P. Mahoney was encouraged twice today in Frederick County in his campaign for election to the U.S. Senate.

George F. Abrecht, a member of the county Democratic committee, said a good sign was that Mahoney was allowed to campaign in a clothing factory in Frederick.

Alton Y. Bennett, a Democratic leader in Frederick, predicted Mahoney would do better in the county than in 1952 when he was beaten 8,000 votes by Republican Glenn Beall for the Senate.

Bennett said the difference will be considerably less next month at the least, and that Mahoney might even outscore Republican Senator Butler.

Mahoney returned to Baltimore tonight for a visit at the headquarters of Jack Pollack, strong city Democratic leader.

Inspect Flood Job

Col. Clarence Renshaw, North Atlantic Division engineer for the Corps of Engineers, and Col. George B. Sumner, Washington District engineer, toured the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection Project during a visit here yesterday.

U. S. Forests Magazine Emphasizes This State

A number of articles and pictures of particular interest to Western Maryland are included in the October issue of American Forests magazine, the monthly publication of the American Forestry Association.

One of the articles concerns a July 11, 1947, decision of Judge George Henderson in Garrett County Circuit Court in which he upheld the constitutionality of the Maryland Forest Conservancy Districts Act, which became effective four years earlier.

"It is certainly an appropriate use of the police power to prevent erosion, preserve forests and conserve the natural resources of the state, provided this be done in such a way as not unreasonable or illegal to interfere with rights of individuals," Judge Henderson wrote.

The article was written by Albert D. Darby Jr., Court House reporter for The Cumberland News, and included a picture of black-robed Judge Henderson taken by Charles Hornbrook, Times-News photographer.

Other photograph in the magazine show Swallow Falls and New Germany in Garrett County, and two shots along the old C&O Canal at Little Orleans and Spring Gap. Another artiele pays tribute to the late Abraham Lincoln Sines, who was a pioneer forest warden in Garrett County from 1913 until his death in 1954.

James B. Craig, former Cumberland newspaperman, is editor of American Forests.

Man Receives Five-Year Term In Morals Case

Raymond L. Sease, 48, of Hagerstown, yesterday was sentenced by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court to five years in the Maryland House of Correction after he pleaded guilty to carnal knowledge of a 12-year-old girl.

Sease, who was indicted by the May grand jury in Washington County, originally pleaded not guilty in Hagerstown. The case was removed to this county in late May and Sease has been in confinement since his indictment.

Washington County Assistant State's Attorney W. Warren Stultz began to explain the background of the case to Judge Harris before he passed sentence, and when the written statements showed discrepancies he called the girl to testify.

She said that she had known Sease, whom she described as a "friend of the family," all her life. They first began to have relations in September 1954, when she was only 12 years old. She gave birth to a baby last March, two months before her 14th birthday.

Judge Harris stipulated that Sease's time should start from the date in the spring when he first was confined in Washington County Jail.

Unity Conference Will Meet Monday

The Labor Unity Conference will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Rubber Workers Union Hall, according to William G. Rice, chairman.

He said the meeting will be largely political and that John R. Foley, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Sixth District, may be present.

Sewage Plant Work Is In Final Stages

$1,531,000 Contract At 92 Per Cent Mark

Cumberland's big sewage treatment plant was 92 per cent complete and on schedule at the end of September, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

The figure was based on the value of work done and materials and equipment installed, but included materials on the 10-acre plant site valued at eight per cent of the $1,531,000 contract.

Moyer Brothers, contractor for the project, laid about 300 feet of the Evitts Creek force main during September after moving 190 yards of earth and shooting 60 yards of rock.

Slab Is Poured

At the Evitts Creek pumping station, last major unit to be started, crews poured the bottom slab for the building September 10, using 120 yards of concrete.

Work continued on paving the levee with stone, and 80 square yards of the earth banks were paved last month.

Exterior Pipe In

Excavation was completed and the 36-inch cast iron pipe laid between the chlorine contact tank and the south levee, marking the completion of all exterior piping.

Rough grading of the plant site was also started.

The plant is scheduled to be ready for operation next March.

It is one of the contributions of the City of Cumberland toward the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant, which will use water from the Potomac River for manufacturing purposes.

Firemen Get Hose Tester

The Cumberland Fire Department has received a new piece of equipment which will be used in testing and repairing hose.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said the Electric Hydraulic Expander and Hose Testing Pump is expected to be tested today.

The new equipment replaces a manual-type machine which has been in use for about 40 years, and will save the department a considerable amount of money.

Parker said the machinery will test and repair hose from one inch to four and one-half inches in diameter.

It has a number of different size tools, and will eliminate all hand and chisel work on couplings of hose for re-use.

The equipment is capable of repairing couplings of hose damaged at a fire or hose that is becoming worn out. The machine has been assembled and is located at Central Fire Station.

Spring Gap Man Enlists In Navy

Lloyd Allen Ritchie, Spring Gap, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry A. Ritchie, has enlisted in the Navy for three years, according to local Navy recruiters. Ritchie served three years in the Navy and after his discharge, returned home and completed his high school education at Fort Hill, where he graduated. His brother, Paul J. Ritchie, enlisted here August 28 and is now completing his boot training. He also is a Fort Hill graduate.

Two Flood Levees Are Completed

The completion of two of the levees which will protect Cumberland and Ridgeley from Potomac river floods was announced yesterday by Rex. E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Army Engineers.

Completed are the West Cumberland levee, extending upstream from the West Side flood wall, and the West Ridgeley levee, from Carpenter Avenue to the Ridgeley flood wall.

The earth levees have been seeded and mulched and grass is expected to push as soon as some rain comes.

The recent dry and mild fall weather has proved a boon to contractors on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project.

On Wills Creek, the E. J. Albrecht Company recently completed paving the west side of Wills Creek to just beyond the Valley Street Bridge.

In the recent weeks, the firm has poured about 400 feet of toe wall and has completed several sections of slope wall near the 700-block of North Mechanic Street.

Downstream, Hazelwood Construction Company crews are placing concrete for walls of the channel near the intake locks of the C & O Canal, and are preparing to begin pouring for the channel above the Baltimore Street Bridge.

Six Area Herds Win Awards

Six Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Associations herds have been singled out for National Honor Roll awards of the Purebred Dairy Cattle Association for averaging 400 pounds of butterfat in the year which ended June 30.

The highest butterfat average was recorded by the herd of C. O. and Elizabeth Miller with 469.1 pounds of butterfat and 12,663 pounds of milk on the average from 13 cows. The butterfat percentage was 3.7.

Lloyd Nave, Bedford Valley, 25 cows, 10,898 pounds of milk average, 436 pounds of butterfat average, 4 per cent butterfat test; A. E. Light, Pinto, 23 cows, 9,184 pounds of milk average, 432 pounds of butterfat average, 4.71 per cent butterfat test; Carl Howsare, Bedford Valley, 43 cows, 9,310 pounds milk average, 413 pounds of butterfat average, 4.43 per cent butterfat test; D. W. Light, Pinto, 21 cows, 9,309 pounds of milk average, 410 pounds of butterfat, 4.40 per cent butterfat test; John T. Mason, Cresaptown, 70 cows, 10,984 pounds milk average, 406.1 pounds of butterfat average, 3.7 per cent butterfat test.

Firemen To Open Training Classes

The first of three monthly officer training classes will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Frostburg fire hall and will be sponsored by the Fire Extension Service of the University of Maryland.

In charge of the classes, open to all officers of paid and volunteer companies of Allegany and Garrett counties, will be Robert Byrus, extension director.

The other two classes will be held on the third Fridays of November and December.

Police Unit To Meet

A meeting of the Special Police Unit of Ridgeley will be held Sunday at 12:30 p. m. at the Council Room, according to Ellsworth Thompson, president, who urges all members to attend.

Chest Workers Plan Report Meeting Today

Industries Speed Red Feather Drives

The third report meeting on the Cumberland Community Chest Campaign will be presented today at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA.

Lewis J. Tait, general chairman, will preside at the session which is expected to bring the drive at least $8,000 nearer to the $137,286 goal.

$17,262 Needed

On Tuesday, the second report meeting, leaders reported pledges had reached the $120,024.23 mark and that another $17,262.45 was needed for victory.

Since then, hundreds of Chest workers have redoubled soliciting efforts.

Today at 9 a. m. the campaign among the four operations of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company will begin.

The second report meeting on the drive among contractors and crafts building the $34,000,000 Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is also slated at 9 a. m. in the office of Consolidated Engineering Company.

The drive has already passed the $2,500 mark and leaders anticipate reaching the $5,000 goal.

Reports Are Slated

The Baughman Contracting Company will open its Red Feather drive today as foremen begin soliciting funds on eight jobs the company has in progress.

The Queen City Dairy will report soon on the progress of the drive. Leaders report solicitation is about 75 per cent complete.

Arthur Ramey, who is heading the drive among school teachers, has indicated a favorable report will be presented at a report meeting next Tuesday.

Reports are slated soon on drives being conducted by the Allegany Instrument Company, Cumberland Undergarment Company and the E. J. Albrecht Company.

Driscoll Will Attend Meeting

Del. Fred B. Driscoll will be one of Maryland's representatives at the National Safety Congress which opens in Chicago next week.

He will accompany Del. Edgar P. Silver (D-Ba. 5), chairman of the committee named by Legislative Council to recommend changes in Maryland's motor vehicle laws, of which Del. Driscoll is a member.

In the Maryland delegation will be Paul E. Burke, chairman of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, and Finance Commissioner John J. Long, safety director of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Works 7 here.

Del. Driscoll said the study group has drafted its recommendations for legislation aimed at making Maryland's highways safer, and will present them to the Legislative Council November 9 at 10 a. m.

Ewald Will Give Talk At Layman's Service

Edward L. Ewald, business manager of the Potomac Edison Company here, will be the speaker Sunday at the 11 a. m. Layman's Day service at Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley.

His subject, according to Rev. Harold L. May, pastor, will be "Opportunities of a Christian Layman." He will be introduced by Melvin M. Heiskell, principal of Ridgeley High School and lay leader of the church.

Ewald's son, Jack, a candidate for the ministry in the chaplaincy of the Armed Forces, will give the morning prayer.

152 County Civilians Apply For Ballots

Some 152 properly registered civilians applied to the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors before the Wednesday deadline for absentee ballots for the November 6 general election.

A number of these absentee voters already have cast their ballots at the Board of Election Supervisors' office in the Court House basement. Anyone who will be out of the state on election day and was properly registered could vote by absentee ballot.

Criminal Appeals Will Begin Today

Some 20 criminal appeals are scheduled for trial today and Monday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty will handle the prosecution of 10 cases today and another 10 cases Monday.

Returns To Base

George T. Gross, machinist's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gross, 503 Springdale Street, returned to San Diego, Calif., on Monday aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Wasp from a six-month cruise in the Western Pacific.

Secretaries Hold 'Boss Night'

Miss Cassandra Waterman (left), administrative assistant of the National Secretaries Association, chats with other participants in "Boss Night" festivities held last night at Cumberland Country Club under sponsorship of Algonquin Chapter, NSA. Miss Waterman was principal speaker. With her are Thomas B. Finan, toastmaster; Mrs. Reba Whitehair, Algonquin Chapter president; Rev. Russell Fink, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, and Mrs. Genevieve Mease of Hagerstown, chairman of the education committee of Hagerstown Chapter.
